SHANGHAI, Dec. 23 [Thursday].—Two developments in the swiftly moving war scene lent color to even wider and more sanguinary fighting today. The Chinese moved to concentrate their whole national resources, and secondary to this came a renewed Chinese defensive, over a huge area, in the hope of stopping the Japanese advance.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek is responsible for the violent fighting which has broken out between main bodies of the Chinese and Japanese troops. This is believed to be the first general action since the swift advance of the Japanese and the retreat of the Chinese toward Nanking.

Chinese Use 100,000 Troops.

The first battle to open was precipitated by Gen. Chang Fa-kwei, who is said to be in command of more than 100,000 Chinese troops. Reports from the front indicate that the Chinese offered more resistance than was expected and that the Japanese sustained a temporary setback.

Severe fighting also is in progress along the Grand canal. It is along this line that the troops posted at the instance of Chiang Kai-shek were given orders to stop the Japanese and keep them from further advance into five western provinces. These troops are reported to be under the direct command of Gen. Yang.

Japanese captured the Yangtze river town of Shaopaichen sixteen miles north of Yangchow. The material won in the battle included twenty-one freight cars, four motor trucks, four trench mortars, 1,000 bags of rice, and 1,000 bags of wheat. The Chinese are reported to have left 1,000 bodies on the battlefield.

Air Raiders Attack Nanchang.

Japanese artillery was brought into play on a great scale at Chinshanshih yesterday with the result that the Chinese made a stand and replied with artillery. Japanese airplanes are reported to have dropped more than 80 bombs in the area.

Among the other specific activities was an attack yesterday on Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province in the interior. The Japanese raided the city with an aerial attack. On the approach of the Japanese the Chinese pilots tried to reply with an immediate air attack, but were defeated after a short but furious fight.

Of twenty Chinese planes which engaged the Japanese in combat, seventeen were shot down. Twelve other planes on the ground were destroyed. Most of the planes were of soviet manufacture and four of them were of the American Curtiss-Hawk type. The nationality of the pilots was not known, but a Japanese military spokesman said that there were soviet flyers in a Hankow hospital.

Desire to Preserve Hangchow.

A spokesman for the Japanese said in Shanghai today that the Japanese are eager to preserve the city of Hangchow because of the vast collections of almost priceless art objects kept there. Hangchow, capital of Chekiang province, has long been famous as a center of art and culture.

The Japanese, the spokesman said, being greatly concerned for the preservation of all cultural objects, have made an offer to spare the city from damage if the Chinese will withdraw without resistance. There is a celebrated Buddhist shrine in Hangchow,

RACKET EXPOSE IN MINNEAPOLIS EMBROILS JURY

Foreman Charges City Is Terrified.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The foreman of a Hennepin county grand jury issued a public statement today charging that Minneapolis is a gangster ridden community, ruled by the gun and the blackjack, and that public officials are afraid to prosecute labor racketeers.

Hardly had citizens read this denunciation when seventeen of the eighteen jurymen who attended today's session formally disavowed the statement. Peter F. Herrly, jury foreman, said the about-face came after the statement had been read twice to the jury and approved unanimously.

"When it appeared in print and the heat was turned on, they turned tail and ran," Herrly declared. "I wrote the report and I'm still standing by it."

Probe Follows Labor Killing.

For several weeks the grand jury has been studying vice, gambling, and labor troubles in the city. Its investigation grew out of the unsolved assassination of Patrick J. Corcoran, powerful union leader, on Nov. 17.

The killing of two newspaper editors and numerous other wanton acts of violence have aroused a rising tide of opinion that gangland is in the saddle in Minneapolis through connivance, if not direction, of politics. United States Attorney General Homer S. Cummings termed St. Paul and Minneapolis "breeding grounds of crime."

Jury Foreman Herrly's statement set forth that vice and gambling are rampant in the community and that demands in Minneapolis are made and enforced at the point of a gun and with the butt of a blackjack.

Police Department Assailed.

The report severely criticized the police department, accusing some of its members of being unable to obtain facts. It said policemen called before the jury as witnesses had forgotten things that should be elementary to any one engaged in police work.

"Union labor," the statement said, "has been made a cat's paw of groups of undesirable and questionable characters from other metropolitan centers to carry out unlawful pursuits for large monetary gains."

The statement complained that the jury's efforts had been hampered by unintelligent or reserved presentations on the part of authorities, and balked by a lack of coöperation between the offices of the mayor, city attorney, and county attorney.

Open Brothels Charged.

The charge also was made that low groggeries, gambling halls, and brothels are running openly in Minneapolis. It suggested more care in issuing liquor licenses and urged organization of a grand jury association.

The foreman declared that, except for revisions suggested by two jury members during the lunch hour today, the report as released to the press was identical with that approved by the entire jury at the morning session.

The disavowal statement, however, said the members signing "do hereby protest and dissent from the report purporting to be the unanimous report of this grand jury."

"The report issued by Foreman Herrly was a one man report," the Rev. O. S. Winther, a member of the jury, said after today's session adjourned. "It was forced upon us. Foreman Herrly agreed to make corrections in it which were not made."

Two Crusading Editors Slain.

It repeatedly has been pointed out that the murder of Howard Gilford, a crusading editor, in September, 1934, brought no arrests and no trial. Guilford was publisher of the Saturday Press, a vigorous opponent of what it termed the corrupt régime of the late Gov. Floyd Olson.

In December, 1935, another crusading editor, Walter Liggett, was shot down by assassins. He was the publisher of a weekly journal which also opposed Gov. Olson and his henchmen. A few weeks before he was slain Liggett said:

"The murderer of Editor Guilford now is driving a liquor truck for the same gang of bootleggers who tried to beat me to death [in October, 1935]. He could be picked up by police tomorrow if they wanted him, but apparently he is immune—for service rendered."

A Little Item About a Piece of Red Ribbon

Janice June Peterson's teddy bear was sick. He had soft spots where soft spots shouldn't be, and he left a faint trail of sawdust. So Janice June spent most of yesterday morning stuffing the wabbly places with paper and sewing up the splits.

Janice Peterson.

But she decided that what Teddy really needed was a bit of red ribbon to get him sound and well for Christmas. What better use could there be for that dime she had been saving than a fine red tie for Teddy?

Dimes Scarce at Home

Maybe a nickel would be enough. Janice June, even at 9, knew dimes didn't grow on bushes and she knew that since her father had moved the family to Chicago from North Dakota the dimes had been hard won. He hadn't been working long.

So she traded her dime to her father for two nickels. Leaving one at home, she started for the ten cent store. Her mother watched the little figure in the blue and white coveralls race down the street.

Darkness Brings Worries.

Three hours passed. It would soon be dark. Janice June's mother was frantic. Her father was worried. He left their home at 2433 Homer street and went to the Shakespeare police station. He reported there that his little girl had disappeared. He was afraid she had got lost in the city. After all, she had been in Chicago only nine months.

The sergeant listened in silence. The father thought he acted strangely. Then the sergeant looked on a spindle. He summoned a policeman. The policeman took Janice June's father to 2166 North California avenue. It was quiet inside and there was a smell of gardenias in the air.

Teddy Bear Beside Her.

There was Janice June's plaid tam and the little blue coat with the fur collar she had been so proud of. There, too, was Janice June, with the teddy bear, half his sawdust gone now, on the slab beside her. They hadn't found the nickel because it had got lost as it rolled over the pavement when it left a childish hand.

They told the father that Janice June had run from behind a street car directly into the path of a truck at Armitage and Milwaukee avenues. The driver, Edward Hogan, of 617 East Seventieth place, had gone home. He couldn't finish his day's work.

HOLD AMERICAN AND 3 BRITONS IN $75,000 BRITISH GEM THEFT

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Scotland Yard detectives, trailing robbers who took $75,000 worth of gems from Etienne Bellenger of Cartier's Jewelry house, made four arrests tonight which shocked fashionable London. The robbers tricked Bellenger by telephone into bringing the gems—since recovered—on approval to a room in a Hyde Park hotel Monday. They left him unconscious with a battered head and his arm paralyzed.

Those arrested are Robert P. Hartley, wealthy American with a Mayfair address; John C. M. Lonsdale, David Wilmer, and Peter Martin Jenkins, all Britons and sons of noted families. They will be arraigned in Westminster police court tomorrow on charges of robbery with violence.

Wilmer was staying with a titled family in Gloucestershire. Questions were asked in parliament recently about alleged arms dealing activities of Lonsdale.

VISITING FIREMEN TARRY AWHILE AT HAMILTON CLUB

They sent thirty firemen to put out a blaze at the Hamilton club yesterday evening, but when they got there they found the fire was between the ceiling over the swimming pool and the sidewalk on the street above. Only five men at a time could get into the hole over the locker room.

That left twenty-five men with time on their hands. They wandered about. They found the gymnasium. There were a frolicsome mechanical horse, some high bars, and flying rings. The twenty-five were having a gay time with these contrivances when Chief Anthony Durkin of the First battalion came in.

"What goes on here?" he yelped. "If you guys can't work, you can't play. Go on back to the engine house." The fire was out anyway, so the boys went home. There was only $200 damage, but the firemen got a thousand dollars worth of exercise.

Cops Go Hunting Business and There's The O'Donnell!

Detectives Samuel Block and Joseph Keating went to the city hall at the instance of Police Commissioner Allman yesterday to see if they could find any loiterers. With almost no trouble at all they found Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, former beer runner, and locked him up at the detective bureau. "No charges," they said. "We just locked him up."

Victim Learns What Makes His Head Tick

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Charles Hester, the war veteran with a click in his head, has found what makes the click. He has learned that this noise is of his own making; he knows how to stop it, and with practice may cure himself, examining doctors at Hines hospital say.

Hester, who is 43 years old, and comes from Shawnee, has suffered from the snapping sounds in his ear since a shell burst beside him during the world war. He has been under observation for three weeks at the diagnostic center of Hines hospital where puzzling cases from forty states are brought. Specialists in oral and cranial disorders have decided that Hester's trouble is a spontaneous movement of the palate muscles.

Heard by Examiner.

"He has a clicking that can be heard when an examiner puts his head near Hester's ear," said one specialist. "It is caused by the palatal muscles. The sound travels through the eustachian tube to the middle ear.

"The movement is caused by an action that should not be termed voluntary, because we do not know that he wants to do it. But he can control it. He is capable of starting and stopping the ticking at will. Any one can learn to make this sound in the same way, but in Hester's case it is probable that a shock started it. It occurs when his conscious mind is off guard a moment.

"It is an hysterical sort of thing, and through psychological treatment at the hands of his own physician it may be possible for him to overcome the trouble."

Tube Stops Ticking.

It was emphasized that Hester, unlike a person with a muscular tic knows he can control his trouble. The ticking was stopped on occasion by passing a tube through the nose to the throat, which held the palate so he couldn't make it click.

Hester is the father of four children. The clicking does not interfere with his vocation of commercial photographer. He will be urged today to go home and try not to worry about his eccentric ailment and to hope that such psychological treatments will bring it to an end.

Allows Each a $300 Bonus, but Pays It to Their Wives

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—J. Harvey Gravell, an Ambler, Pa., paint manufacturer, gave each of his seventy married workers a $300 check today, with this notation: "This is for your wife; not for you."

This distribution of $21,000 was in addition to $54,000 in Christmas bonuses. Last Christmas he paid all his workers' debts, ranging from $10 up to a $6,500 mortgage. That cost him about $90,000.

Predict Wally Will Get 'Royal Highness' Title

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—The duchess of Windsor, wife of former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, will have the prefix "royal highness" in her title—heretofore refused her—before New Year's, THE TRIBUNE learned today.

King George VI. of Great Britain is expected to make the final decision on the matter, which now is under study by court officials and the College of Heralds.

The outcome is expected to be that the anti-Windsor diehards at the court will have to back down and agree to let the duchess, who is the American born Wallis Warfield Simpson, have the title in order to untangle the confusion created by the stubborn determination to withhold every possible honor from her.

Precedent Is Lacking.

At present no one from the king on down knows her exact status and there is no precedent to judge by.

Rank is a matter of vital social importance to the British upper circles.

Every person who moves in such circles knows where he ranks above or below every persons he meets there—except the duchess of Windsor.

It is such a knotty problem that the king himself expects to be called upon for the final word and Edward's wishes have been so clearly and strongly expressed that the duchess of Windsor is expected to get the title of royal highness.

Duke Gives Her Title.

The duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, the first member of the royal family to entertain her, referred to the duchess as "royal highness."

That caused considerable annoyance among persons in certain circles.

It would create such a crisis if a British duchess were placed lower at table or elsewhere than she believed she should be that these persons have been advised to hush all functions where they might meet the duchess of Windsor.

All the confusion was created by letters patent creating Edward's title and specifically denying the "royal highness" designation for his duchess.

Unique Situation Created.

A wife normally holds a rank corresponding to her husband's. The Windsors have created a situation never before encountered. The result is that even Debrett's and Burke's Peerages, which are the two leading authorities on such matters, cannot agree.

Both agree that a wife takes her rank from her husband. But Burke's considers this is a special case and that the duchess of Windsor should be the last duchess of the realm, ranking twenty-ninth, since hers was the last created. She would come after the duchess of Westminster by this interpretation.

Debrett's sticks to the rule and, since Edward now ranks last of the royal brothers, it places her last among the "wives of the king's brothers," after the duchess of Kent. This makes her the eighth woman of the empire.

COUNCIL O. K.'S REVENUE PLAN; SEEKS REFORM

Only Four Aldermen Ballot 'No.'

Taxi—Trailer—Budget

Taxicab fare increase of 5 cents per ride voted by city council. Companion ordinance, also passed, extends monopoly from 1940 to 1945, the two companies agreeing to withdraw 1,166 cabs from streets by March 1. Page 3.

Without a dissenting vote, city council adopts ordinance regulating and licensing trailer camps and setting up zoning and sanitary requirements. Page 2.

Tentative 1938 city budget is drafted, calling for an increase of nearly $4,500,000 in operating expenses. After public hearing on Jan. 3, council is expected to act on it. Page 2.

An ordinance licensing and regulating race track betting brokers won the approval of the city council last night by a vote of 43 to 4.

Speaking in support of the ordinance, half a dozen aldermen hailed it as a measure to wipe hypocrisy out of the gambling situation in Chicago. By legalizing betting, they maintained, it will end gangster domination in the gambling racket, from which State's Attorney Courtney recently charged the revived Capone gang is drawing its war chest.

Hope for $2,000,000 Fees.

From the fees paid by the betting brokers the city expects to get $2,000,000 badly needed to avoid a deficit in its 1938 budget. Mayor Kelly said he expects to sign the measure, but not before studying its provisions carefully and giving consideration to any protests which may come from the public.

Furthermore, he warned, if the ordinance is approved there will be no gold rush of handbooks similar to the overnight growth of taverns which sprang up in Chicago upon the repeal of prohibition.

"The ordinance contains strict provisions governing the character of persons who may engage in the new brokerage business," said Mayor Kelly. "Every applicant is going to be investigated rigorously and he will not get a license unless he satisfies every provision of the ordinance and can establish his financial responsibility."

5 Per Cent Commission on Bets.

The ordinance provides for the licensing and regulation of brokers to take bets from horse players and, as their agents, place those bets at any track where gambling is legal. Brokers are empowered to charge not more than 5 per cent commission for their services.

Licenses, payable semi-annually, are divided into three classes ranging from $1,000 to $5,000 a year. Licenses will not be granted in residential or apartment house zones. No licenses will be granted to persons of bad reputation. Brokers are prohibited from operating within 500 feet of a church or school, from operating any other business on their premises, from giving away liquor, from employing solicitors or cappers, from operating on Sunday, and from admitting minors.

How Law May Operate.

Bookmakers predicted that wagering under the provisions of the ordinance will be operated under one of two systems, depending on whether the betting brokers operate within the law or outside it, as the bookies now run.

If they operate within the law it will be necessary for them to establish in Chicago a central clearing house which will transmit money, through agents at each track to the track mutuels, or, in New York, to the track handbooks.

It would be too expensive for the bookmaker to wire each bet to the track as he receives it, although the telegraph companies have facilities for handling such money at every track except Santa Anita, in California. It costs 70 cents to wire a $2 bet to Hawthorne track in Chicago; $2.05 to send such a bet to California. Even on $100 bets the cost is from 1.3 to 2 per cent of the bet.

Under a clearing house system a horse player would bet with a broker, paying him a commission of 5 per cent. The broker shortly before post time would report to the clearing house, with which he had established credit, all his bets on a particular race. The clearing house would total the bets received from all brokers and through its agent bet the sums wagered in the mutuels at the track.

Most race tracks now receive large sums of money in this way from betting commissioners, the bets going by the name of comeback money. Frequently tracks pay a 2 per cent commission on comeback money.

The representative of the clearing house would collect winning bets at the track, and eventually, through the clearing house, settlement would be made with the broker, who would pay off the player after the race.

Such a system would be more expensive tha present handbook betting both for the brokers and the horse player. The broker's profits would be limited to 7 per cent, 2 per cent from the track and a 5 per cent commission from the player, less the expense of his clearing house membership. Local bookies expect a gross profit of 11 to 15 per cent on their turnover at present.

Pay for Mutuel "Take."

The horse player would pay the 5 per cent commission, and in addition the mutuel "take" at the track, ranging from about 8 per cent in Illinois to 15 per cent in Florida and some other winter tracks. Thus he would be fighting a total percentage on his bets of 13 to 20 per cent.

The alternative system, bookmakers said, is sure to develop unless the authorities prevent it. Brokers, they predicted, will be tempted to use the track transmission as a blind and hold the major portion of their bets, as the bookies do now, and as bucket-shop operators do with stock speculators. Under that system the brokers would make approximately the same profit that illegal handbooks now do, but if commissions were charged the cost to the players would be higher.

One loop bookie was interviewed on the ordinance while the aldermen were debating it in the city hall four blocks away. His establishment was crowded, with players tripping each other in their rush to get down bets at post time. A clerk had just finished lettering a blackboard announcement that the book would be open Christmas day, with service reports from four tracks.

Makes a Doleful Prophecy.

"It won't work," he announced. "I couldn't make enough sending money to the track to pay the overhead on this place. It costs me $250 a day here just for clerks, rent and service, and I couldn't handle enough to make that on comeback money and commissions."

"Are you going to apply for a license?" he was asked.

"I'm not going to be the first one to apply," he said.

"Nobody came to talk to me about this," he added in an aggrieved tone. "If they had, I could have given them a system that would work. As it is, the race tracks are going to lose so much business that they'll hire some lawyers to prove that the brokers are breaking the law. Then the brokers will hire them some lawyers to prove that the tracks are breaking the law. Both outfits of lawyers will probably be right, and we won't have any more horse racing in Illinois."

Wait for Legal Test.

Several factors probably will operate to stop any opening rush for licenses the moment the ordinance takes effect, which will be after it has been signed and advertised for ten days. Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th], who helped draft the measure, said that he did not think there would be an immediate rush of applicants.

Would-be brokers, he said, will not be anxious to invest money in establishments until the legality of the measure is tested. Mayor Kelly has said that if the ordinance takes effect, a court test will be sought by the quickest means possible. Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes gave the council an opinion yesterday that the measure is legal.

"It is perfectly legal for a person to place a pari-mutuel wager at a race track in Illinois," said Mr. Hodes. "It follows then that it is also legal for him to engage a broker to place such a bet in his behalf. This follows from the well known legal principle that 'he who acts by or through another, acts himself.'"

Compares California Decision.

In response to a query from Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], Mr. Hodes said that the situation under which a California court on Tuesday ruled that bookmakers could not accept bets for transmission to tracks was not analogous. There is no statute on the subject in California, but the bookmakers formed a pool to make a small bet on each horse entered in every race, in an attempt to give their business a legal standing.

Ald. John F. Healy [6th], who, with Ald. James J. Cusack [5th], John E. Egan [13th], and John A. Massen [48th], voted against the ordinance, spoke against it for 15 minutes.

"Is the ship of state of the city of Chicago going to be taken off the legal compass by this action?" asked Ald. Healy. "Our youth will have encouragement to go and bet, and while winning will find the game very easy. I take it some of my colleagues have played poker. In the end, the pity of it all."

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], who introduced the ordinance, replied:

"Why suppress the poor man who wants to bet but who cannot afford to attend a race meeting? We are all forced to the conclusion that people want to bet. As proof, every newspaper devotes at least one page to race entries, results, and tips.

"If we license the brokers we will stamp out the criminal element in gambling. In a score of cities where race track gambling is prohibited the authorities do not license, but instead fine each handbook operator $200 or $500 on the first of every month. That is the cowardly way Ours is the courageous way."

Another Control Problem.

Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], a physician, replied later that authorities soon will be faced with the problem of regulating houses of prostitution as a means of controling venereal disease.

"I am voting to take this matter out into the open light," said Ald. William A. Rowan [10th].

"There is not a member in our council, nor five judges in our courts —Municipal, Circuit, and Superior— who have not bet on horses," said Ald. James J. McDermott [14th].

At Springfield Gov. Horner, on hearing of the council's action, declared it a nullity, saying: "The city council has no authority to take such action. The ordinance means nothing."

BOOKS

Walter Schmauch is a lawyer, and a good one. His hobby of collecting and annotating unusual books leads to interesting discoveries. One time, for amusement, he gathered material and wrote his fascinating Tryal of Old Father Christmas. It's a little volume, packed with spicy, ancient gayety and threaded through with an instructive historical background. Old Father Christmas is acquitted of course . . . but a packed jury, and some very serious accusations make the going tough for a while. A timely gift token. $3.00. Among your friends are probably several people who have so many books that it is difficult to find them something new. Here at Kroch's are hundreds of fascinating, yet unexpected books, and all as exceptional as "The Tryal of Old Father Christmas."

Council Adopts Regulations for Trailer Camps in City

Without a dissenting vote the city council last night adopted an ordinance regulating and licensing automobile trailer camps and imposing a time limit on the visit of any trailer dweller.

The ordinance, drafted by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes, was the result of suggestions made by Mayor Kelly and the aldermen after a survey revealed the trailer problem had become acute. With few restrictions trailer parks have mushroomed about the city.

Minimum License Is $200.

Introduced by Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th], chairman of a subcommittee which completed drafting of the ordinance, the measure sets a minimum license of $200 a year for a camp with twenty units or less. For each additional space the camp owner must pay $10.

Trailers may stop in the city for thirty days during any twelve month period. In addition, this provision restricts their shifting from camp to camp within the city limits.

Camps may be opened only in districts zoned for commercial or manufacturing use. Where more than half the buildings in a commercial zone have residence apartments the operator must also obtain the consent of all property owners within 200 feet of his proposed camp.

15 Foot Border Required.

Each camp must have a fifteen foot border between the trailers and the property limits. Adequate toilet, lighting, and water facilities must also be provided, in addition to strict compliance with city health and sanitary requirements.

For violation of any provision of the ordinance the mayor may revoke a camp owner's license. Upon application for renewal the camps is to be inspected by every city department so that all requirements of the law are met.

The ordinance becomes effective upon being signed by the mayor.

Where Bet Brokers Must Pay $3,000

The betting broker ordinance, passed last night by the city council, fixes license fees according to three zones. Brokers in zone A, the loop district, will pay $5,000 a year. Those in zone B, which includes the area within a radius of two blocks from the principal street intersection of each of seventy-four retail centers, will pay $3,000 a year. The intersections are:

KIDNAP WOMAN; TAKE GEMS, FURS VALUED AT $17,000

Kidnaped in her own automobile by two gunmen, Mrs. Florence Oliver, 6801 Jeffery avenue, reported to Woodlawn police last night that she was robbed of jewelry and furs valued at $17,000. Mrs. Oliver said she had just stopped in front of her home early in the evening, when two men with pistols got into her car from another machine and ordered her to drive to nearby Jackson park.

There, said Mrs. Oliver, they took a 10½ carat emerald cut sapphire ring, set with diamonds, a platinum wedding ring with 30 diamonds, a diamond dinner ring, diamond bracelet, diamond wrist watch, and her mink coat. They then drove her back home, where they abandoned the car and were driven away by a third man in their own car. Mrs. Oliver is the wife of Dr. Marcus S. Oliver, who has offices at 1525 East 53d street.

OPERATING COSTS UP 4½ MILLION IN '38 CITY BUDGET

Draft Goes to Council for Action on Jan. 5.

A tentative 1938 city budget carrying corporate [operating] appropriations of $58,090,106, or $4,408,612 greater than the $53,681,494 for 1937, was submitted to the city council yesterday by its finance committee.

Proposed appropriations for the twenty-three city funds, including corporate, aggregate $147,750,159, compared with $134,101,810 for 1937. The appropriations ordinance will be open for inspection until Jan. 3, on which date a public hearing will be held. Present plans provide for final council action on Jan. 5.

Three Items Increase Need.

The increased corporate appropriations are accounted for largely by three items—salary restorations, which will add $3,300,000 to city pay rolls; election expenses, which are placed at approximately $700,000 more than in 1937, and an allocation of $800,000 for airport improvements.

The budget estimates that revenues of $58,109,983 will be available to meet the corporate appropriations. The funds available for appropriations are listed as follows:

Tax levy of 1938	$37,000,000
Less allow. for lost and cost	3,700,000
Balance	$33,300,000
Miscellaneous revenues:
Licenses—miscellaneous	5,275,000
Licenses—beverage	5,600,000
Compensation from pub. util.	4,806,000
All other	7,628,000
Total miscellaneous revenues	$23,309,000
Surplus Jan. 1, 1938	1,500,983
Total avail. for appropriation	$58,109,983

The $5,275,000 revenues from miscellaneous licenses is $2,900,000 greater than carried in the 1937 budget.

License Ordinances Voted.

The council yesterday adopted ordinances which, it is contemplated, will add $2,455,000 to license income. These include estimated fees of $2,000,000 from licenses on betting brokers, $150,000 for new driveway permits, $85,000 from additional theater licenses, $75,000 on refrigeration system inspection fees, $120,000 from inspection fees on apartment and commercial fuel oil burners, and $25,000 from fees on filing of frontage consents.

Warnings that the questions raised as to the legality of the betting brokers' licenses may result in a disarrangement of city finances in 1938 were under discussion yesterday. The civic federation and bureau of public efficiency on Tuesday asserted that the plan for appropriating against revenues from such measures might cause the entire corporate fund to be held invalid.

Mayor Kelly said that he had been advised by the corporation counsel that the betting ordinance was legal. Even if it is proved illegal, he said, the worst that can happen is that the 1938 corporate appropriations will be ruled out and in such case, under the law, the 1937 appropriations would have to be used for 1938.

If this happened, he added, the city would have to get along on the 1937 appropriations total, which would require salvage on contemplated expenditures to keep spending within revenue limits.

Tax warant experts said that if the betting ordinance is proved unconstitutional it should have little effect on corporate tax warants and the ability of the city to sell such paper. They pointed out that the security for these warants is the 37 million dollar pegged levy which is the same in both the 1937 and 1938 budgets.

66 Millions from Taxes.

Estimates of funds appropriable for 1938 to meet the proposed $147,750,159 expenditures for all city funds are placed at $210,006,662, consisting of $66,577,923 in 1938 taxes [after deduction of lost and cost allowance], $54,066,000 miscellaneous revenues, and $89,362,739 surpluses.

Following is a comparison of proposed 1938 appropriations, by funds, compared with 1937:

Fund—	—Appropriations— 1938.	1937.
Corporate	$ 58,090,106	$ 53,681,494
Water fund	18,246,949	16,881,316

Laborers annuity and benefit	250,201	250,201
Court employés annuity	225,181	225,181
Election employés annuity	37,530	37,530
Total appropriations	$147,750,159	$134,101,810

The $7,230,000 traction fund appropriation is made in anticipation of the start of public construction in connection with a transit rehabilitation program. Most of the expenditure is contingent on a traction settlement and adoption of a new franchise.

Tentative City Budget Highest Since 1931

Votes Franchise Lasting Until 1945.

Taxicab rides will cost 5 cents more as a result of an ordinance passed last night by the city council. The ordinance increases from 15 to 20 cents the initial or flag-pull charge for a ride of one-third of a mile. There will be no change in the additional rate of 10 cents for each successive two-thirds of a mile.

This increase was voted at the request of the Yellow and Checker taxi companies and their drivers. Officials of the two concerns declared that only through a higher rate could they increase the drivers' pay, a promise made at the end of the taxi strike last spring.

Monopoly Franchise Extended.

A companion ordinance extends until 1945 the franchise which is due to expire in 1940. With the contract extension the two monopoly companies also agree to withdraw 1,166 cabs from the streets by March 1. This will leave 2,500 monopoly cabs and 500 independents operating.

Last night's measure, which becomes law as soon as Mayor Kelly signs the ordinance, was offered by the members of the local transportation committee as a compromise after nine months of discussion. Originally requesting a flat increase of 10 cents on the flag-pull the companies later reduced their demand to the 5 cent increase voted by the council.

New York Rate Rejected.

At one time the committee favored installing the so-called New York rate, which would have raised the rate about 33⅓ per cent. Some aldermen favored this system because of a liberal waiting time exemption, in the hope of standardizing rides in the loop and other congested areas.

However, the new ordinance makes no change in the present waiting time charge of 10 cents for each three minutes that the cab is stopped for trafic or the cab speed falls to seven and one-half miles an hour. The first minute and a half of the ride are exempt from this provision, but mile long cab rides in the loop will continue to vary in price, depending on trafic conditions.

Two Vote Against Increase.

Ald. Harry L. Sain [27th], who joined Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe [42d] in opposing the increase, said he did not believe a 5 cent raise would give the drivers more than $1 extra a week. Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], who introduced the ordinance, declared it would raise the average $18 weekly wage $4.

Ald. John A. Massen [48th] also voted with Ald. Sain in opposing an extension of the companies' monopoly franchise. While a unified traction plan was under consideration, he declared it was presumptuous of the council to grant a monopoly use of the city streets to the companies for eight years.

DOUBLE PARKING ILLEGAL, HODES TELLS SONSTEBY

Double parking of motor vehicles on city's streets is a violation of the trafic ordinance, and policemen should give arrest tickets for every violation. Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes yesterday gave this opinion in a letter to Chief Justice John [illegible] Sonsteby of the Municipal court.

Judge Sonsteby asked for an opinion on behalf of two trucking companies that complained their drivers were being arrested for double parking while making deliveries.

Hodes cited two provisions of the [illegible] code which specifically prohibit

Mrs. Osa Johnson Seeks $204,000 for Air Injuries

Los Angeles, Cal. Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Depicting the airplane crash in which her husband, Martin Johnson, the explorer, lost his life last Jan. 12, Mrs. Osa Johnson today brought suit for $204,000 damages for her own injuries. For her husband's death, she filed suit two weeks ago for $502,000 against Western Air Express, United Airport company, Ltd., W. W. Lewis, pilot, and Ernest N. Whitney and Kenneth M. Hoorn, ground men, who were charged with negligence. Mrs. Johnson's complaint is based not only on her own injuries, but on her experience in watching her husband and other passengers suffer.

CANADIAN HIGH COURT UPHOLDS BABY DERBY WILL

Seven Toronto Mothers in Race for $750,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 22.—The Supreme court of Canada today unanimously ruled as valid the "stork Derby" clause in the will of Charles Vance Millar, eccentric Toronto millionaire. Millar had left a prize of half a million dollars to the Toronto mother giving birth to the largest number of children within ten years after his death on Oct. 31, 1926. The period ended Oct. 31, 1936.

The half million dollars has grown through interest accumulation to about $750,000. As a result of today's judgment seven Toronto women, each claiming nine children, are in the running for the fortune, or a share of it. The court must decide who will get the money.

Gives Birth to Sixteenth.

The seven in the running are Mrs. Hilda Graziano, Mrs. Lucy Timleck, Mrs. Annie Smith, Mrs. Vera Meldrum, Mrs. Grace Bagnato, Mrs. Martin Kenny, and Mrs. Kathlen Nagle. Several others have been named from time to time as contestants. Mrs. Kenny claimed to have twelve eligible children, but only nine are reported to be registered—a requirement of the will.

Mrs. Kenny became the mother of a still-born child, her sixteenth, on Monday, but was reported out of danger today.

Eight eligible children were claimed by Mrs. A. Harrison and Mrs. Mary Feegan, seven by Mrs. Margaret Lescoumb, and six by Mrs. Manuela Darrigo.

Dismisses Appeals.

Mrs. Pauline Mae Clark was expected to be removed from the contest by the ruling of the court today that only legitimate children are to be counted. She claimed to have had nine children in the specified time. However, it was contended that five were born after her separation from her husband.

Today's judgment declared that the word "children" in the will does not include those born out of wedlock.

The decision upholds judgments of Justice Middleton of the Supreme court of Ontario and the Ontario Court of Appeals and dismisses the appeals of Arabella West and Alexander Butcher, Millar's next of kin. They claimed the will was contrary to public policy.

See No Injurious Tendency.

The five judges in their unanimous opinion said:

"We find it impossible to affirm that a policy of encouraging large families by pecuniary rewards to the parents would have a tendency injurious to the state or to the people as a whole.

"It is not sufficient to say that some people may be, or probably would be, tempted by the hope of obtaining this legacy to conduct themselves in a manner injurious to wife and children."

Federal Court Winds Up 400 Cases; 150 Are Pending

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals disposed of 400 cases during 1937, had 425 appeals docketed during the year, leaving approximately 150 cases pending for disposition, according to a report of Frederick G. Campbell, clerk.

Hitler and Duce Give Britain Grief in So. Africa and Egypt

Charges Nazis Gain Influence Over Union Regime.

BY E. MAIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JOHANNESBURG, Province of Transvaal, South Africa, Dec. 22.—English speaking people in the Union of South Africa are disquieted because of statements made by Col. C. F. Stallard, leader of the Dominion party, which advocates an even closer union with the British empire.

Col. Stallard charges:

1.—That the South African government deliberately is trying to introduce Germany into the continent of Africa so that it may have some other armed force to which it can look in time of war.

2.—That he does not exclude Germany from among the possible enemies of the South African union.

3.—That the German population in the union is being organized [presumably under orders from Berlin] on a potential war basis.

Nation Without a Warship.

Col. Stallard is of the opinion that South Africa could not stand alone against aggression. She has a white population of 2,000,000 and a great overseas trade—but not a single warship. Close defensive partnership with the empire, he said, is the union's only safeguard.

The Dominion party, of which Col. Stallard is the head, takes issue with O. Pirow, minister of defense, who is of German origin, speaks German and often visits influential circles in Berlin, on his recent statement that it is in the interest of the union of South Africa that Germany should come back as a strong power into the black man's continent.

The leaders also note the recent trend of policy whereby huge orders have been placed in Germany for airplanes and locomotives, on the basis of barter.

Charge Drift to Nazlism.

Col. Stallard and his party argue that there is no country in the world to which barter is more dangerous than the country which is the greatest gold producer.

They also accuse the present Union government of moving toward Nazism, and cite Mr. Pirow's plan to organize the Youth of South Africa on the lines of the "Hitler Youth."

They fear, in other words, that in the event of a fresh world crisis in which Britain and Germany might confront each other, a South African government of similar tendencies to the present, might side with Germany against Britain.

Backs Nazis' Colony Demands.

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 22—(AP)—A member of Italy's royal family bound the house of Savoy more tightly to Fascist politics today by indorsing Premier Mussolini's demands that Germany be given back its colonies.

The member of royalty was Filiberto, the duke of Pistoia, a second cousin of King Victor Emmanuel.

His unprecedented step in writing an article on a controversial international question for Il Duce's newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia of Milan, was seen as new evidence that Mussolini was aligning the throne more solidly than ever with his totalitarian state.

The editorial appeared as the duke of Aosta, a first cousin of the king, arrived in Ethiopia to become viceroy of Italy's East African domain. His assumption of the viceroyship put a member of the house of Savoy actively in the Fascist program of empire building.

London Traces Cairo Troubles to Door of Mussolini.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Behind the political troubles now raging in Egypt between young King Farouk I. and his government lies a campaign directed from Rome and the struggle really is a phase of the Anglo-Italian Mediterranean clash, it was reported in London today.

Since King Farouk, who will be 18 years old on Feb. 11, took the reins of government, the Italians have been able to intensify their propaganda in Egypt, British sources said.

First, the radio has played a large part in disseminating Italian news and views on current problems.

Second, Italian agents in Cairo, Alexandria, and other communities of Egypt have been active in seeking to impress the Egyptians with the greatness of Italian Fascism to the detriment of British prestige.

Take Training in Rome.

The Blue Shirts in Cairo, under the guise of a nationalistic creed, were described as being essentially Fascists at heart. It is known, the British said, that these blue shirted youths are financed by Mussolini's agents in Egypt.

Many Egyptian students have been returning also from periods of initiation in Rome and now are described as working among students of Cairo university and outside of it.

Ali Maher Pasha, head of King Farouk's own advisers, is known as pro-Italian, and his sympathies are with Fascist Italy as against the British. Ali Maher, it is said, is mainly responsible for the 'trouble between Prime Minister Nahas Pasha and the king. Ali Maher Pasha's aim is said to be to bring about a sort of dictatorship in Egypt with nominated cabinet ministers subservient to the king.

Blue Shirts Yield a Point.

CAIRO, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The executive committee of the powerful Wafd [Nationalist] party, headed by Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha, today bowed to King Farouk's demand to take the Blue Shirt youth army out of Egypt's political picture.

The cabinet had agreed earlier in the day to dissolution of the Blue Shirt organization, provided the move was approved by the Wafd executive committee and Nationalist members of parliament. The latter group will meet tomorrow and is expected to concur.

PEDESTRIAN IS KILLED BY AUTO; RIDERS INJURED

Car Caroms Into Tree in Norwood Park.

An automobile killed a pedestrian yesterday in Harlem avenue at Wilson avenue, Norwood Park, and then crashed into a tree, injuring the car's two occupants.

The man killed was John Ross, 42 years old, 7211 Leland avenue, Norwood Park. The driver, Gronway Jones, 23 years old, 4908 Byron street, was critically injured and was taken to the Belmont hospital. Earl Price, 22 years old, 5946 Dakin street, his passenger, was treated at the Chicago State hospital.

Fatally Hurt Crossing Street.

Erick J. Bergstrom, 83 years old, of 3122 South Oak Park avenue, Berwyn, was injured fatally last evening when he was struck by an automobile driven by John Schmidt, a janitor, who lives at 1847 South Euclid avenue, Berwyn.

Adolph Meicke, 76 years old, 2625 61st avenue, Cicero, was killed by an automobile last night in front of 6036 26th street in the suburb. The driver, William Donahue, 410 Webster avenue, was held for the inquest today.

Martin Bergman Jr., 7 years old, was killed last night when struck at 87th street and Indiana avenue by an automobile driven by Anthony J. Capinski, 23 years old, 2216 East 91st street. The boy, his father and two sisters, Beverly, 9 years old, and Lorelei, 11 years old, were walking to the family home at 10532 Perry avenue. Capinski was held by the Burnside police.

Woman Killed by Car.

Miss Claire Bidinger, 21 years old, 5056 Washington boulevard, was killed last night when struck by an automobile in front of her home. James H. Lee, 22 years old, 1610 South 3d avenue, Maywood, the driver, was held for the inquest.

Morris Klotzman, 56 years old, 3017 Wilson avenue, died in St. Luke's hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile last Friday in the Outer drive at 17th street. Charles Hallett, 915 Becker street, Hammond, a Northwestern university student, was the driver.

John Burke, 67 years old, 1035 Garfield boulevard, believed to have been struck by a hit and run driver, died in the Evangelical hospital. He was found injured at 47th street and Racine avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 1,050 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 800 were killed in Chicago, where 22,154 were injured in the same period.

[See editorial page for massacre clock.]

THREE MOTORISTS ARE FINED; TWO ARE PUT ON PROBATION

Judge J. M. Braude in Safety court yesterday fined three motorists $10 each for reckless driving and placed two on probation for drunken driving. All were deprived of their driving rights for varying periods.

The reckless drivers were Leo Osowski, 2419 South Christiana avenue; Frank Foss, 4242 Wentworth avenue, and William Collins, 3751 Kenmore avenue.

The two men placed on probation were Charles Gianniny, 12 West Maple street, and John Lotts, 4252 South Richmond street. The former's period is one year and the latter's six months.

Erik Dahlberg, 169 East Walton place, maitre d'hotel at the Drake hotel, was found not guilty of leaving the scene of an accident.

BOOST NEW TRIER PERSONALTY TAX VALUES 121 PCT.

An increase of 121.98 per cent in the personal property assessments for New Trier township, which includes some of the wealthier north shore suburbs, was announced yesterday by Cook County Assessor John S. Clark. The total 1937 assessment is $20,438,668. For 1936 it was $9,207,420.

New Trier township extends north from the northern limits of Evanston to the Cook county line and includes Glencoe, Kenilworth, Winnetka, and Wilmette.

Increase Is $11,231,248.

Access to federal income tax returns enabled the assessor to put most of the net increase of $11,231,248 on the books. Millions of dollars worth of stocks, bonds, and other assets were assessed for the first time.

In the following list of assessments for 1937 and 1936 an asterisk [*] denotes that the individual filed a sworn return and the symbol † that no assessment was listed in the same tax district of the township last year. In many cases this merely denotes that the taxpayer changed residences during the year and was assessed in a different district in 1936.

ANN RUTLEDGE.

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Miss Ann Rutledge of Ottumwa, Ia., a great-grandniece of a friend of Abraham Lincoln, will play the part of Ann Rutledge of New Salem, Ill., when the WPA production, "Prologue to Glory," opens late in January. Upon arrival in New York Miss Rutledge described her home town as "90 miles from everywhere," meaning Des Moines.

CHICAGO RABBIS SEND CHRISTIANS A YULE GREETING

Appeal to Common Ideals Against New Paganism.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Formal Christmas greeting from a leading organization of Chicago rabbis to Christian pastors and their congregations was made public yesterday by David Graubart, secretary of the Chicago Rabbinical association. The greeting adopted by the association was prepared by Rabbi George Fox of South Shore temple, its president.

Fear Return to Paganism.

"In these unhappy days," it states, "when the life preserving ideals that both Judaism and Christianity have striven for, for these many centuries, are flouted and derided, and a return to paganism and idol worship is boldly and militantly advocated, the teachings of Israel's prophets and doctrines of Him whom the Christians revere as the Prince of Peace assume new values and greater importance.

"It is becoming steadily more evident that a distorted world can be made a paradise for God's children only when the great teachings of justice and love, mercy and peace of our sacred scriptures become the foundations for conduct of nations as well as of individual men.

Hope for Will to Peace.

"As we think of the message of the Teacher of Nazareth, and see as we do the continuation of the hopes, the vision and the desire of his predecessors, the Hebrew prophets, we join with Christendom in the fervent hope that Almighty God will soon lead mankind back to the will to live in concord and peace.

"May this season bring happiness to every disquieted heart and comfort to every bruised soul; to all men the love of justice, and to us of the west a renewed loyalty to and appreciation of our rights and liberties in this our beloved democracy."

CHOIR TO TAKE PART IN CAROL PROGRAM AT TRIBUNE TOWER

W-G-N is to broadcast Christmas carols through loud speakers on the façade of the Tribune Tower from 5:15 to 6:15 p. m. today—the fourth of the season's daily street programs. POWER COMPANY PERSONALTY TAX VALUE $1,435,315

Personal property of the Waukegan Generating company, a subsidiary of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, was assessed at $1,435,315 for 1937, nearly one-third of the personalty assessment for Waukegan township in Lake county. This was announced yesterday by the county board of review, which put total personalty assessment for the township at $4,779,445.

Mrs. Anna L. Sears of Greyslake, in Warren township, has the largest personal property assessment of any individual in Lake county. It is $86,650.

NATIVITY SCENE BUILT OUTSIDE CHURCH BY MONKS

Reviving a medieval Christmas rite, the Franciscan monks of old St. Peter's church have constructed a traditional stable of Bethlehem against the outer wall of the church at Clark and Polk streets.

Here, as street cars clank by and workmen shuffle past to nearby factories, the story of the birth of Christ stands out in word, tableau and brightly shining star.

The stable, 18 feet long and 10 feet wide, is the handiwork of the friars themselves, working in coarse brown habit and sandals just as their founder, St. Francis of Assisi, did in 1223 when he built the first known reproduction of the Nativity in Italy.

Particularly effective at night when it is illuminated by floodlight, the stable at St. Peter's, with its thatched roof and straw covered floor, shows Mary and Joseph beside the manger in which the Infant Jesus rests. An ox, an ass, and shepherds stand nearby. A star gleams brightly overhead. A 20 foot painting in the background represents the city of Bethlehem.

Beside the stable the story of the nativity as told by St. Luke is reproduced on the church wall each night by means of an electrical "moving finger."

WINDOW SMASHERS STEAL JEWELRY.

CHARITY GROUPS GIVE PARTIES FOR CITY'S CHILDREN

Business Men, Churches Play Santa Claus.

Thousands of men and women yesterday were teaching Chicago's children more about the character of Christmas. In a surge of holiday generosity, dozens of charitable organizations, business men's groups and churches were playing Santa Claus, making the season joyous for as many boys and girls as they could crowd around their Christmas trees.

The most extensive and colorful Christmas program for years has been promised for 56 field houses of the Chicago park district, George T. Donoghue, general superintendent, announced. More than 50,000 children are expected to participate in holiday events which will include plays, dances, carol concerts, and gifts in some communities. Instead of ornamented and lighted trees in the conservatories, the show houses will be filled with poinsettias, their color shading from bright red to pale oak leaf tints.

450 Children Entertained.

Joseph L. Gill, clerk of the municipal court, and members of the social service department of the court were hosts yesterday afternoon to more than 450 children in the Central police building. The children were entertained in the "showup" room of the police building, which had been converted into a theater.

Judge Leon Edelman of the Renters' court yesterday invited any needy person who has been brought before him in the last month on an eviction case, to come to his court and receive small gifts for their children. Judge Edelman has received 6,000 donations from merchants, confectioners, and attorneys.

Ninety-one youthful trafic violators accompanied Judge John Gutknecht to the fracture wards of the County hospital. There they distributed Christmas gifts, purchased by them, to 266 patients, most of whom are automobile victims.

Candy, Toys Given to 600.

The Volunteers of America held their annual poor children's party yesterday in Booth auditorium at 2845 Washington boulevard. Six hundred boys and girls received toys and candy. Baskets of food will be distributed to their families tomorrow morning.

The Chicago Kiwanis club will hold its annual party for underprivileged boys this noon at the Hotel Sherman.

More than 2,000 gifts are ready for distribution to the children for whom the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society plays the rôle of parent. In several homes, society officials say, final adoption papers will arrive just in time for the foster parents' Christmas.

New Clothing for 2,500.

Approximately 2,500 needy children of the fifth ward will be given new winter clothing by the Fifth ward Democratic organization. The gifts will be distributed tomorrow noon at Harper avenue and 55th street, under the direction of Horace G. Lindheimer, county treasurer.

William Loeffler, president of the village of Stickney, will continue his annual custom tomorrow when he is host to 700 needy children of the village. Each family will be given a basket of food, and the children gifts of candy and toys.

A Christmas Eve party for performers in the Shrine Winter circus sponsored by the Medinah Temple will be held tomorrow night at the Stock Yards inn, next to the International amphitheater, 43d and Halsted streets. The circus opens at 7:30 o'clock Christmas night in the amphitheater.

Santa Claus(Name's Right) Given $250 by Mae West

Marshall, Mo., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Mae West has sent Santa Claus $250. Santa Claus—that's his real name—has suffered ill fortune and recently he had to dig ditches to support his family. He is a carpenter and part time preacher. Mae West read about him and took up a collection at her studio. Today Santa Claus received $250 from the actress by telegraph. Santa, who has a wife and seven children, also received a plum pudding brought from New York to Kansas City by T. W. A. Skysleeper.

Mary Garden Visits City on Way to West Coast

Mary Garden, accompanied only by a maid, arrived in Chicago yesterday on her way to the west coast. She will leave the Blackstone hotel either today or tomorrow to continue her journey, with present plans calling for Christmas dinner on the train. The former opera star, now a motion picture scout, has just returned from a five months' trip abroad.

GOOD FELLOWS TO BE BUSY AT AIRPORT TODAY

Hundreds Will Take Part in Annual Party.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Hundreds of Good Fellows will gather at the Chicago Airport at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the fifth Aviation Good Fellows ceremony. Afterward the first Good Fellow baskets of the season will be delivered to homes in the south part of the city. Noted flyers will mingle with representatives of every phase of the aviation industry in this mission of kindness.

Gen. Frank Parker.

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago Methodist Episcopal diocese will speak on "Sky Pilots" at the ceremony. The Parker Women's Chorus, directed by Mrs. Grace Humphrey, will sing two Christmas carols. Capt. Ora W. Young is chairman of Aviation Good Fellows and will preside.

An added attraction will be Lossie Chamblin, 3 years old, who will sing a song about Santa Claus. Ralph Damen, vice president of the American Air Lines, will be master of ceremonies. The program has been arranged by Thomas B. Marshall, personnel director of the United Air Lines.

Honor First Good Fellow.

Yesterday noon, under the sponsorship of the Phi Kappa Psi alumni organization of Chicago, nearly 100 fraternity and college men paid tribute to the first Mr. Good Fellow, the late Edward C. Fitch, a Phi Psi at Indiana university, at a luncheon in the University club. Maj. Gen. Frank Parker made the principal address. He said:

"A good commander, whether it be in military or in civilian life, pays attention to the needs of those who are weakest and those less privileged. It is our responsibility. Some of the greatest battles of life are fought not on Capitol Hill but right in our own communities.

"You men of Greek letter fraternities should organize yourselves into a great army of Good Fellows. May God bless you in this work."

Deliver 50 Baskets Tomorrow.

The Interfraternity Glee club, conducted by Fred Morris, entertained with collegiate and Christmas songs. Fifty Good Fellow baskets will be delivered tomorrow afternoon from the Phi Psi campus homes at Northwestern university and the University of Chicago. Arthur Fellows, president of the alumni group, presided.

Let's make this the greatest Good Fellow campaign of all. To do that we need scores of more Good Fellows. Think of the splendid Christmas you are going to have! Won't you share yours with those who might have a mighty dreary Christmas day? Call Superior 0100 and ask for the name of a needy family.

OPEN CHRISTMAS BLOOM SHOWS IN CITY TOMORROW

Christmas blooms will take the place of Christmas trees in the Garfield park and Lincoln park conservatories, R. J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, announced yesterday.

More than 100 varieties of flowers will be represented in the shows, which will open formally tomorrow night and will continue through Jan. 8. The poinsettia will be featured.

Police Dog Chases Thief Through a Window Pane

A police dog routed a burglar who had broken into the home of Bobbiee Darrell at 1014 Hinman avenue, Evanston, early yesterday. The man was in such a hurry to escape that he plunged through a window pane or the first floor. Darrell reported that nothing was stolen.

CHINA MUSTERS FORCES FOR NEW DEFENSE STAND

Army of 100,000 Opposes Japs in Battle.

and this, too, the Japanese said they were anxious to respect.

The resistance against the advance toward Hangchow is being made chiefly in the neighborhood of Wukang. Japanese armored trains are said to have reached a point within a few miles of Wukang. Chinese troops are resisting along the Hangchow-Kashing line.

The reported determination of the Chinese to crystalize the entire nation against the Japanese advance is said to involve a supreme military command. The purpose of such a command would be to bring into action all factions.

Work on Highway to Russia.

A part of the plan was said to be the construction of a superhighway from China to Russia. This great highway would be 3,000 miles in length. It would be built by the efforts of more than 800,000 laborers set at work simultaneously along the whole route.

The highway would stretch from Turkestan, Russia, through Sinkiang and Kansu provinces, with a branch to Ulan Bator [Urga], capital of Outer Mongolia. It would replace the Ulan Bator-Kalgan route, which the Japanese have blocked.

Unquestionably building of the highway brings up the question of Red support in the west of China. This 3,000 mile highway would reduce the supporting distance of Russian armies from months to weeks. It also would demonstrate that the Chinese are in dangerous straits in their defensive warfare, since they would be inviting the Russians to enter by their rear and thus control the entire situation. The movement of Russian troops and supplies, according to the reports of this new concentration, would no longer consider the trans-Siberian railway, but would depend upon motor driven trains.

Natives Flee from Canton.

Reports that the Japanese were massing troops for an attack on Canton, South China metropolis, increased the evacuation of natives to enormous proportions. Thousands fled westward into the interior and toward Hongkong. The various foreign consuls at Canton were advising their constituents to evacuate.

At Tsingtao, 390 miles north of Shanghai, three United States warcraft were standing by to evacuate the 300 Americans in the city in the event of an expected Japanese attack. Many Americans, taking the advice of United States consular authorities, were preparing to board the vessels.

Chinese authorities said they were prepared to defend Tsingtao to the end, declaring they believed their newly built fortifications would withstand the assault.

Refugees Escape Hankow.

The British cruiser Capetown, steaming down the Yangtze river from Hankow, one of the three temporary Chinese capitals, successfully negotiated a barrier at Kiangyin and proceeded toward Woosung [a port of Shanghai] with 48 British refugees, nearly all women and children. They will be taken to Hongkong.

An international express was scheduled to leave Hankow today with 324 refugees, many of them Americans, en route to Hongkong where it was expected to arrive Christmas day.

Japanese army, navy and embassy spokesmen in Shanghai said all further reports on the sinking of the United States gunboat and three Standard Oil vessels would be issued in Tokio, but investigations of the incident would continue. The ban on entering restricted areas of Shanghai today was being modified.

American sources reported that Col. Kingoro Hashimoto, Japanese commander at Wuhu at the time of the Panay bombing, had been replaced, but it was not known where he was transferred. A Japanese spokesman said he was unable to confirm or deny the report.

CHINESE BUILD ROADS TO RUSSIA

Thousands of Chinese yesterday were reported rushing work on new military roads to connect with Russia. Arrows indicate location of roads. The old road from Ulan Bator to Kalgan, which has been cut by the Japanese, is indicated by cross marked line.

AUSTRALIA TESTS FLEET OF NINE NEW BOMBING PLANES

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—A fleet of new twin engine patrol bombers, the only existing air defense of the Australian commonwealth, today maneuvered over this city in their first demonstration flights. The ships, nine in number, are the first batch of Avro Ansons delivered from England, where they are manufactured.

Each of the planes is a low wing monoplane with a 1,000 mile cruising range. They carry a crew of three or four, a load of bombs, and are armed with several machine guns. Each ship has a revolving turret from which a gunner can protect the tail through a wide field of fire. The landing gear is retractile.

The Anson is a standard version of a Royal Air Force patrol bomber and was adopted by Australia for this reason. The commonwealth also has placed an order for a large number of North American low wing two-place fighters. Although this ship is an American machine it is to be built in a factory in Australia under license. The commonwealth suddenly has become air conscious after watching the Japanese invasion of China.

CHRISTMAS BONUS GIVEN EMPLOYES OF THE TRIBUNE

The Tribune company yesterday distributed a Christmas bonus to all its employés. The amount of each bonus was determined by the same percentage of salaries and wages that has prevailed since 1915, with the exception of the years 1930, 1931, and 1932. The distribution was made to members of the editorial, advertising, circulation, and auditing departments and to the employés in the organized trades.

BRITAIN ORDERS FRESH TROOPS TO GUARD HONGKONG

Report Cabinet Split on Far East Crisis.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Three developments today indicated Great Britain's concern for her interests in the far east, the theater of Japan's undeclared war against China. They were:

FIRST—Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador to Tokio, was instructed to present Japan a new note demanding assurances on the future safety of Hongkong.

SECOND—New British troop movements in the far east were disclosed with the departure of the troop ship Dunera from Southampton.

THIRD—The British cabinet was reported to be split over the question of reinforcing the British fleet in the far east.

Protest Attack on Vessel.

The new British note to Tokio protested against the attack of a Japanese destroyer on a Chinese customs ship in territorial waters near the British crown colony of Hongkong in South China on Dec. 11. After firing on the customs boat from outside the territorial limit the Japanese commander sent two motor boats into the territorial waters to tow the vessel off shore, where it had been beached, the note said.

It was pointed out also that the customs craft was functioning not only on behalf of China, but also for Great Britain, America, and other nations which have been guaranteed by Chinese customs. Ambassador Craigie was to demand a pledge that orders be issued to the Japanese naval forces which will insure proper respect for the integrity of Hongkong and its territorial waters.

Royal Scots to Hongkong.

The troopship Dunera will call at Malta and then at Bombay, India, to take aboard the 2d battalion of the Royal Scots and proceed to Hongkong. The new troops will relieve the 2d battalion of Royal Scots Fusileers, who form a part of the normal Hongkong garrison, but at present are on duty in Shanghai. The fresh troops number about 700, and the normal army strength at Hongkong is 8,000 men.

The fusileers, it was announced, will be transferred in February to Port Sudan, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

The report of a split in the cabinet was made after it met twice today and for five hours pondered the development arising from the Chinese-Japanese war.

It was understood the proposal to put the whole Mediterranean fleet under provisional orders to sail to the far east have been shelved temporarily. One section of the ministers, it was said, took the view that a big display of force might be regarded as an unnecessary provocation of the Japanese and that the situation was not sufficiently serious yet to justify such drastic action. It was urged strongly that no move be made which might dangerously weaken Britain's position in Europe.

Other ministers headed by Capt. Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, were said to have advocated rushing to the far east reinforcements which would be big enough to handle any new development which might threaten British interests.

'STRAY BULLETS' PERILED PANAY, TOKIO NOW SAYS

370 Reds Arrested and Jailed in Japan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 22.—The foreign office today issued an "interim report" saying that stray bullets might have been flying toward the United States gunboat Panay, but the vessel was not machine gunned intentionally after it was bombed by Japanese naval planes near Nanking Dec. 12.

At the same time police officials revealed that 370 communists and pacifists had been arrested and jailed throughout Japan during the last ten days.

Most prominent among those arrested were Kanju Kato, a member of the diet [parliament], and Baroness Shizue Ishimoto, an advocate of birth control and sometimes called the "Margaret Sanger of Japan." She is widely known in the United States as a lecturer. A number of college professors and writers were among those jailed.

Three Parties Dissolved.

The home ministry ordered the Farmer Labor party, the Proletarian party and the All Japan Council of Labor and Farmer Unions dissolved.

Referring to the persons arrested and the three groups, police said:

"The main point of their movement apparently was to lead a general revolution based on communism. Since the outbreak of the Chinese incident [the undeclared war in China] they have used every opportunity to spread anti-war propaganda throughout the nation."

It was asserted the movement was inspired by the communist internationale and that instructions were transmitted with the aid of American communists. The persons seized were said to have promoted an agitation campaign for relief of soldiers' families.

Aimed at Chinese Vessel.

The Panay report followed previous foreign office statements which first denied, then admitted, that Japanese had fired on the American warship after the bombing and before the sinking.

The foreign office today asserted that any shooting in the vicinity of the Panay was "aimed at the Chinese vessel, Linta," which was said to have been carrying Chinese soldiers fleeing Nanking and which was captured.

"The American ships [the Panay and three Standard Oil vessels which also were bombed] were never objectives" of Japanese surface craft fire, the report continued. "It is supposed the allegation of the machine-gunning of the Panay was made on the part of those who mistook this [the firing on the Linta] and it is supposed there might have been stray bullets flying toward the Panay."

Attacked Japanese Soldiers.

The report asserted that the Japanese naval flyers who bombed the four American vessels also mistakenly attacked Japanese soldiers and killed two, wounding others, though ten soldiers waved Japanese flags.

"The Japanese military forces had no hostile intentions whatever toward American ships or nationals," the report said. "It is impossible that a Japanese force should ever intentionally attack or trespass on any American ship knowing the vessel as such."

CHICAGO WOMAN, SHIP STOWAWAY, LANDS IN FRANCE

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

CHERBOURG, France, Dec. 22.—The commander of the German liner Hansa obtained permission today to land a woman stowaway for repatriation in New York. The woman, who gave her name as Catherine Schwartz, alias Molly Mollison, said she was born in Chicago, Ill., in 1913. She concealed herself aboard and reported to the purser the second day out of New York. She did not possess any passport or papers to establish her identity and was unable to give a valid reason for her being allowed to land at Hamburg or Southampton.

Eagle Which Carried Pigs Away Is Shot in Indiana

ARMED FORCES OF U. S. IN CHINA NOW 4,000 MEN

Once There, They Stay On, Record Discloses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The last brave flutter of the American flag on the sinking gunboat Panay ten days ago brought home to the American people that almost four million tax dollars are being spent each year to maintain sailors, marines, and soldiers within the borders of a friendly power.

About 4,000 American troops, marines, and soldiers are carrying loaded rifles and pistols within the borders of China. Until the bombing of the Panay by Japanese airmen the navy was maintaining 1,482 officers and men on ten gunboats and the U. S. S. Augusta, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, in Chinese waters. The sinking of the Panay reduced the American naval fleet by 56 men and five officers.

Dates Back Many Years.

The presence of American troops in China dates back to the turn of the century. Although the situation is an old one, the Chinese never have been completely reconciled to it because ordinarily the presence of foreign troops under arms is a matter of grave concern to any state.

In 1899 the ominous agitation of members of the society of harmonious fists, an athletic group of devotees of pugilism who were burning with nationalism, occasioned the sending of a small body of marines to protect the American legation at Peking, now Peiping. This small detachment later was increased until in June, 1901, it numbered 60 men.

In that month the Boxers, as members of the society were known to other nations, attacked foreigners in the Chinese capital. A relief expedition of 19,000 troops of foreign powers, including 2,500 United States soldiers and marines, set out for Tientsin. The punitive expedition captured Peking and levied indemnities.

United States Returns 11 Million.

The total levied by foreign powers was 330 million dollars. This was to replace damages to foreign commerce and property occasioned by the Boxer outbreak. Of this 24 million dollars was fixed as the American share. When it was found that this proportion more than covered damage to American property, 11 million dollars was returned to China. No other nation found any balance on hand after meeting alleged damages.

But American troops remained on after the payment of indemnities. At Peking were stationed 500 marines and twenty officers. They remained through the years.

In 1911 a revolution against the Manchu dynasty broke out in China. The 15th United States infantry, 704 men and forty-two officers, was sent to protect American interests. They remained.

Marines Go to Shanghai.

In 1927 resentment against foreign interference gave birth to the Koumintang revolution, in which many Americans were killed. As a result the 4th marines, 1,070 officers and men, were sent to Shanghai. They remained.

The maintenance of the marines and soldiers at present costs about 3 million dollars a year, according to military experts.

This sum does not include the cost of an estimated million dollars of maintaining the 6th Marines in China, ordered to the Shanghai area and since recalled.

The navy has an older history in Chinese waters, though, like the army, its presence may be traced to the same source—British diplomacy. The British are more responsible for both American troops and sailors in China than American commercial interests, naval and military authorities concede.

U. S. Frigate First to Call.

The first American vessel to visit China was the frigate Congress in 1819. In 1842 the British government succeeded in forcing the Chinese to open a few ports for trade purposes. As the number of open ports increased the need for a naval squadron grew. As a result an American squadron was ordered to the Asiatic station, shortly after the civil war. It has remained to this day.

As the greater portion of American trade and American missionaries were concentrated on the Yangtze Kiang river, a special squadron of gunboats was created for that area. There was also a South China gunboat and a squadron of coast gunboats. In addition the Asiatic squadron included cruisers, destroyers and other craft based at Manila. These occasionally forayed into Chinese waters.

By the 1930s, it is estimated, naval costs grew to a million dollars a year. This cost would not include that of the United States cruiser Augusta, flagship of the Asiatic fleet which has been in Chinese waters since the outbreak of the present hostilities.

Six Gunboats in China.

The recent sinking of the Panay cut the fleet of light gunboats in China to six which carry 145 men and nine officers. Five of these boats are on the Yangtze-kiang river. The legal basis for their presence was established by a treaty signed in Tientsin Oct. 5, 1858.

At the Washington conference of 1921-'22 the Chinese made a strong plea for reduction of foreign garrisons and foreign ships as an infringement on their territorial rights. A commission of inquiry was promised but nothing was done about it.

As for the American people, officials concede, few know that any taxpayers' dollars go to the maintenance of armed forces in the home of a friendly, though distant neighbor.

AMERICANS TO BEGIN AIR MAIL FLIGHTS TO NEW ZEALAND TODAY

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Commercial air service between New Zealand and the United States will be inaugurated Dec. 29 by the Samoan Clipper, Pan-American Airways announced today. A survey flight was made over the route last March.

The Clipper is scheduled to hop off from Honolulu tomorrow for Auckland, N. Z., and arrive there Christmas day. Mail and express will be carried on the return trip, which will mark the start of bi-weekly service between Honolulu and Auckland.

Capt. Edwin C. Musick will command the flight and aboard will be E. L. Yuravich, chief inspector of foreign air lines for the United States department of commerce. Stops will be made en route both ways at Kingman Reef and Pago Pago.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

TABLES AT DINNER

By CALEB

WOMEN dinner companions, it is my observation, are apt to ask peculiar questions. The woman on my right had come to Chicago recently, and learning I was with Field's said, "Oh, Mr. Caleb, is Field's a good place to buy a table?"

I looked at her and saw no humor in her eye. So I said: "Yes indeed, it's a particularly nice place to buy a table because you can pick from such a great selection in our store. An old-fashioned high tea table, for instance, or a beautiful Chinese lacquer coffee table, or a poker table, covered with green felt. On the other hand, if you run to bridge, you can have your choice of some fifty styles of bridge tables, priced from about $2.95 to $79."

Now she was beginning to smile. And since I had started on such a tack, she did not volunteer to help me by indicating what kind of table she wanted—so I continued.

"We have coffee tables of all styles at prices from very low up to around $100 or more.

"We have kitchen tables—chromium ones—and tables with wood tops, metal tops, and enameled porcelain tops—on square legs or round legs, and with one or many drawers. We have porch and lawn tables, dining tables, breakfast tables, tables for doll houses, children's tables, end tables, side tables, office tables, library tables, and occasional tables—pie crust, drum, and gateleg, to name only a few.

"We have ping-pong tables and game tables. I might add that many of these are round, some are square, and some are rectangular."

Still she looked at me unsatisfied, expectantly. I coughed a little and said, "Of course I have not mentioned antique tables, such as a Pembroke, which, at its price of $135, is very inexpensive. So you see Field's is a splendid place to buy a table."

I relaxed, satisfied that I had answered a rather vague question in a very definite and satisfactory way. But I was overlooking the capacity a woman so often has for deflating self-satisfied men.

Very quietly she answered, and now the glint, which had been missing, was present in her eye. "Well, I am not sure. You have not mentioned the only kind of table in which I was interested—a little night table to carry a book or two, a small lamp, and a clock." And before I could tell her how many kinds of night tables and stands we have, she was off, quite unkindly, I thought, on another subject.

VANDENBERG RIPS ROOSEVELT IDEAS ON PEACE POLICY

Points to Implications of Entangling Alliances.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today assailed what he termed an implication by President Roosevelt that this nation should engage in entangling alliances.

Vandenberg referred to the exchange of letters yesterday between the President and former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas. The President wrote Landon that the United States owed some measure of coöperation and even leadership in maintaining standards of conduct helpful to the ultimate goal of general peace.

"I do not agree," said Vandenberg, "to any implications that we are prepared to embark upon excursions in collective security or in collective sanctions or that the American verdict upon entangling alliances is any different today than it was in 1920."

Defends Frank Discussion.

The senator also was critical of Landon's letter, which carried the implication, he said, that members of congress should refrain from discussing foreign policies when dangerous situations arise as at present.

"I do not agree," he declared, "to any implication that it is wrong for the country to indulge in a frank discussion of foreign policies. In no other way can prospective mistakes be checked before it is too late.

"I agree that this nation does not want peace at any price, and any foreigners who think otherwise will be dreadfully disillusioned."

Vandenberg said he was opposed to the Ludlow war referendum proposal which comes up for consideration in the house Jan. 10.

"In my view, it would be as sensible to require a town meeting before permitting the fire department to put out a blaze," he said.

Pittman Opposes Proposal.

He was joined in opposition to the Ludlow amendment by Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

"I think it would be the first step in substituting mass determination of all questions—not only foreign but domestic—for the present constitutional determination by selected representatives of the people," Pittman said.

"It would be the first step—and a fatal step, in my opinion—in the destruction of our republican form of government."

The state department marked time today in connection with the Panay incident while awaiting a report from a board of inquiry which investigated the bombing of the gunboat by the Japanese.

2 SUITORS GET BACK $32,500 GIVEN WIDOW

Judge Stanley Klarkowski yesterday approved a settlement by which Mrs. Anna Riha, 45 years old, 1645 South 60th court, Cicero, a widow, will return property worth $32,500 to two elderly men who accused her of swindling them after they promised to marry her. The decree stated that she obtained the property by fraud.

Mrs. Riha, who was represented by Attorneys Joseph Becker and Jacob Stagman, will be permitted to retain an expensive automobile given her by one of the men, Frank Svatek, 64, of 2315 South 60th court, Cicero. Svatek recovered property worth $19,000 and a $3,500 judgment, and the other man, Peter Chapek, 70, of 3245 Pierce avenue, a lot which Mrs. Riha improved with a filling station.

Briton Aids Japs

Trebitch Lincoln, a Buddhist monk who formerly was a member of the British parliament, is on his way to Tibet to assume spiritual and temporal leadership there with the help of Japanese forces.

MONK, BRITISH ENEMY, WANTS TO RULE TIBET

Moves to Capital with Japanese Aid.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Trebitch Lincoln, former member of the British parliament who now is a Buddhist monk with the new name or Chao Kung, again is on a mysterious mission to Tibet, information reaching London from Indian sources indicated today.

From his Chinese headquarters at Tientsin Lincoln was reported to have disappeared suddenly. It was learned he was on the way to Tibet to assume spiritual and temporal leadership in Tibet with the help of Japanese forces.

Tibet Without Ruler.

The Dalai Lama, temporal leader of Lamaism, the Buddhism of Tibet, and consequently temporal leader of that strange mountain country, died Dec. 17, 1933. Likewise the Panchen [or Tashi] Lama, spiritual leader, is dead. His death occurred Nov. 30 in China where he had been in exile. It was reported here he was on his way to Lhasa, Tibetan capital, when he died.

So for the moment there is no actual ruler of Tibet. The country is governed by an ignorant Lama cabinet which is becoming more corrupt and demoralized daily, reports to London said.

Japan Wants Country.

Japan wants Tibet, so Lincoln, who is alleged to be a Japanese Buddhist monk agent, is said to have been put up as a successor to the Dalai Lama.

Lincoln was described in the far east as still being rabidly anti-British, and his special mission, it is feared in London, is to destroy what remains of the British influence in Tibet.

Lincoln—or Chao Kung—has had his permanent headquarters in Tientsin.

Late last month dispatches from Calcutta, India, stated that Japanese spies, dressed as monks, were moving into the "forbidden city" of Lhasa. An armed uprising was reported in progress.

Barbara Stanwyck Cited for Contempt of Court

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Barbara Stanwyck must appear in court as a result of the complaint of her former husband, Frank Fay, that the only access he has to their 5 year old adopted son is by telephone calls—once at the rate of $100 for a "Hello, daddy." Judge Knight ordered the actress before the court next Tuesday to show cause why she should not be adjudged in contempt of court.

FRENCH FASCIST PARTY OUTLAWED BY COURT RULING

Col. De La Roque and Five Aids Are Fined.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 22. — The Popular Front government today dealt a hard blow to the little remaining right wing opposition in France when the Fourteenth Correctional court found that the Fascist Col. François de la Rocque and other leaders of the French Social party were guilty of "reconstituting a dissolved league."

The penalty was light—a fine of 3,000 francs [about $102] for De la Rocque, and 1,000 francs [about $34] for each of five associates. These sums, with the costs, really are about ten times the amount mentioned in the court judgment.

Party Becomes Illegal.

De la Rocque's French Social party now becomes illegal. It represented the one single well organized form of opposition to the Socialist-Communist coalition, which now governs France. It has been called a militaristic recreation of the dissolved Fascist Croix de Feu.

The prosecution and conviction of De la Rocque and his associates, appear to be another step in the process of eliminating all opposition, according to opponents of the leftist government. The communists appear to have inspired this process, but they have had the hearty coöperation of their Socialist allies, it was said.

The next communist-Socialist move against the right wing can be expected to concentrate on Jacques Doriot, former communist and chief of the French Popular party, political leaders said. In preparation for the blow, they point out, the communist daily newspaper Humanité has been calling for Doriot's arrest, asserting it has evidence that he is connected with the German secret police.

Move to Gag Press.

Another move in the campaign designed, observers insist, to silence the opposition completely is being pushed through parliament by Leon Blum, Socialist, former premier, and Minister of Justice Vincent Auriol, also a Socialist in the form of a press law which would permit the government arbitrarily to forbid the exportation of any newspaper or publication which is doing damage to national prestige.

This measure, Blum announced, is but the beginning of a series of regulations which he envisages for the press, leading eventually to the nationalization of all subsidiary industries.

NAZI VICTORY IS RECORDED IN RUMANIA VOTE

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Election returns today indicated that Premier George Tatarescu, with a coalition of Rumania's democratic parties, would control the new chamber of deputies.

A marked increase in the strength of the pro-German All-for-Fatherland party [formerly the Fascist Iron Guard], however, was one of the surprises of Monday's election. Observers had predicted the A. F. F. would win only 18 seats. Instead it gained third place in the nation by electing 62 deputies.

Tatarescu's Liberal party elected 147 of the new chamber's 387 members. Though by no means enough for outright control the government was not expected to resign as the democratically disposed parties, including the Liberal, had a large majority.

The National Peasant party of Juliu Maniu won 77 seats. Nicholas Titulescu, former foreign minister who returned to Rumania a month ago after a year of voluntary exile, won a seat with a large majority.

Loyalist Troops Batter Insurgents Beyond Teruel

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Spanish government troops, surging on through conquered Teruel, tonight were reported to be driving through disorganized insurgent lines toward Albarracin, fifteen miles west.

A government communique said reenforcements of 25,000 fresh troops smashed the retreating foe as the captors of strategic Teruel consolidated their occupation of the city.

Jubilant troops, having mopped up the last insurgents in hand to hand bayonet combat, marched singing through the streets to celebrate the government's first major triumph since last June's offensive west of Madrid, government dispatches said.

Launch Counter Offensive.

Insurgent officers, who confirmed the fall of Teruel, said Generalissimo Francisco Franco had launched a counter offensive north and west of the city with shock troops, aviation, and artillery.

While the insurgents controled Teruel, on the tip of a daggerlike salient plunged deep into government territory 135 miles west of Madrid, they were in a position to drive a wedge between Madrid and the Spanish east coast and split the government forces.

Capture of Albarracin would solidify government control of this salient and safeguard communication lines between Madrid and Barcelona and Valencia.

Heavy Casualties Reported.

Both insurgent and government dispatches reported heavy casualties in the fierce, give-no-quarter fighting that was a prelude to the city's conquest.

Eye witness accounts said the battlefield was littered with dead and wounded.

These accounts said entire insurgent battalions were eliminated in counter attacks when they sought to regain lost positions. Many prisoners and quantities of munitions were reported taken.

Defense Minister Indalecio Prieto ordered government troops to make no reprisals against captured foes.

Government sources in Madrid said that outside Teruel their troops were meeting heavy enemy counter offensives and throwing them back.

Government Awarded Treasure.

PARIS, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Custody of millions of dollars in gold and silver bars, jewels, and art objects, rescued from Bilbao before its fall to Spanish insurgents, was awarded today to the Spanish Madrid-Valencia government embassy. French courts decided ownership of the treasure, brought to France, was unchanged by the insurgent victory.

FINAL APPROVAL FOR BLACK HORSE ARMORY IS GIVEN

Final approval for a new armory for troop B of the Illinois National guard, the Black Horse troop, has been given by Gov. Henry Horner, it was revealed yesterday, and the Illinois Armory board, under Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, will proceed at once with plans for financing its construction.

The armory, for which land valued at $500,000 was donated last month by the city council, will adjoin the 122d field artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue. It will be as large as any in the state, and will be used by the Black Horse troop and the 122d regiment, as well as for civic and athletic events. It is believed the building will be finished by next fall.

The construction of new armories is going ahead also at Sycamore, Elgin, Waukegan, Streator, Rock Falls, Carbondale, Lawrenceville, Champaign, Delavan, Salem, Mount Vernon and Urbana.

GOVERNOR ASKS SANTA: 'GET RID OF SEC. PERKINS'

Oregon Executive Assails U. S. Labor Policy.

Astoria, Ore., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Gov. Charles H. Martin, retired major general, 74 years old, who rode into the governorship in 1934 as a Roosevelt Democrat, today was in the midst of an onslaught upon the President, "that miserable secretary of labor of his," and the so-called national labor relations board.

Portland has become chief battleground on the coast between John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor unions. Four months' paralysis of Portland sawmills as a culmination of three years of recurrent strikes in shipping, lumber, brewing, and other industries broke the governor's patience.

Addressing Clatsop county Democrats here last night, Gov. Martin shouted: "Oregon people resent labor racketeers using Oregon as a battleground in an unholy, senseless war in the scramble for the laboring man's fees and dues."

Makes Christmas Wish.

The governor charged President Roosevelt with indifference to the plight of the northwest's lumber and maritime industries and made a Christmas wish that the President would get rid of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

Labor troubles, the governor said, have nullified the effects of the quarter of a billion dollars the federal government has poured into Oregon as a pump primer for prosperity.

"The federal government," he said, "has spent 250 millions in Oregon in the last five years on high bridges, Bonneville dam, irrigation projects, school houses, and other projects. We have a growing population of migratory people from the dust bowl, 97 per cent of whom are good and worthy citizens. There has been a halt. I resent we should be made a battleground for rival labor gangsters.

Recalls Plea to President.

"A year ago, during the maritime strike, I wired the President I was traveling over the state shouting, 'Happy Days Are Here Again,' but that unless he did something prosperity would end in Oregon and I'd have to close shop. But the President went on a sea trip and turned the problem over to that miserable secretary of labor of his—I wish he would get rid of her—and of course nothing was done."

For the last 128 days Oregon has been gripped by a strike in the lumber industry. Gov. Martin often has criticized the national labor board for failure to bring settlement. He charged the board with sidestepping when it encountered difficultes in the battle for jurisdiction between the rival C. I. O. and A. F. of L. unions.

In his speech last night the governor extolled Congressman Walter M. Pierce [D., Ore.] for opposing the bill for political regulation of hours and wages and remarked that the Wagner act is bad enough.

"It would give me great satisfaction to kick the pants off the national labor relations board," he said.

Two Rival Labor Leaders.

The labor conditions which impelled Gov. Martin to break with the Roosevelt administration, which he had supported as a member of congress and later in the statehouse at Salem, have been largely a struggle between Harry Bridges, the Australian leader of the longshoremen, now affiliated with the C. I. O., and Dave Beck, labor boss of Seattle, vice president of the International Teamsters, an A. F. of L. union.

The governor himself has a record as a fighting soldier. He is a West Point graduate and saw active service with combat troops in the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection, and the Boxer campaign in China, and was a division commander in the world war. He was awarded the Distinguished Service medal. He served as assistant chief of staf of the United States army from 1922 to 1924.

Split Caused by C. I. O.

Last spring, at Tacoma, there was a split between the unions over the C. I. O. A referendum was taken. Many unions in the lumber industry, especially in the Seattle area, remained with the A. F. of L. Portland mill workers, Columbia river loggers, and Grays Harbor mill men went to the C. I. O. The A. F. of L. leaders declared war on the secessionists. It used pickets, boycott, and the union label to make it unprofitable for mills to ship C. I. O. lumber.

In mid-August Portland's mills closed. This was chiefly because they were unable to get logs through the A. F. of L. river pickets. The C. I. O. prepared lockout charges. The labor board negotiated an agreement between C. I. O. and the employers. The mills, to avoid the lockout charges, reopened Oct. 31, but ran only a few days. They said the A. F. of L. boycott had taken effect and they did not have orders enough to continue.

Employés' Petition Rejected.

In the face of pleas for an election to determine the proper bargaining agency for the millworkers, the national labor board held a hearing and certified C. I. O. as collective bargaining agent.

After three months of idleness at the Inman-Poulsen Lumber company, one of the largest mills, H. B. Vanduzer, its president, got a number of employés to sign petitions to the labor board for an election. The petition was rejected.

Gov. Martin, aroused, stepped in, called an election at the Multnomah county court house, guarded it with police, and instructed all Inman-Poulsen employés to vote. They did, and C. I. O. won, in a plant where the A. F. of L. had claimed greatest strength.

The governor, attacking labor racketeers and the labor board with equal vehemence, has promised complete protection for any mill which wished to hold an election and resume operations. He called 100 state police into Portland when the Inman-Poulsen plant reopened Dec. 6, but they were not needed. The A. F. of L. announced its boycott will be enough to halt operations soon.

The one woodworking plant operating in Portland with an A. F. of L. crew is the Pylock corporation. Its men joined the C. I. O. and the company refused to employ them, citing its contract was not with the men but with the A. F. of L. Plywood and Veneer Workers' union. A federal master in chancery upheld this view, but the labor board, through Director Charles W. Hope filed lockout charges in behalf of the C. I. O. and will hold a hearing Jan. 4.

GAS WELL BLAZE 200 FEET HIGH; DAMAGE $100,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Crews worked desperately tonight to control a roaring, flaming gas well at El Segundo. The well, drilled to 7,539 feet by the Richfield Oil company, blew in yesterday as a gasser while the drilling crew was preparing to case it in.

Mud, rocks, and water shot high in the air. The derrick and other drilling equipment was ripped apart and sank into the widening crater, with damage estimated at more than $100,000.

The flames reached a height of more than 200 feet.

4 Burned to Death When Truck Skids from Highway

Epping, N. D., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The bodies of four persons who burned to death in the flaming wreckage of a truck were discovered beside a highway near here late today. The four included two men, identified as Floyd Z. Hyatt, 44 years old, and Asher Hyatt, 70 years old, of Dodson, Mont.; a woman believed to be Mrs. Asher Hyatt, and a girl thought to be Floyd Hyatt's daughter. The truck apparently skidded off the road on an icy hill.

ROOSEVELT APPOINTS SENATOR HOLT'S FOE REVENUE COLLECTOR

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt gave a recess appointment today to F. Roy Yoke to be collector of internal revenue for the district of West Virginia.

Yoke's nomination as collector recently was disapproved by the senate finance committee because of opposition by Senator Rush Holt of West Virginia, but the senate as a whole did not act. Yoke now is serving as collector of the district and the recess appointment will enable him to continue until the senate acts on his nomination.

Holt declared the nominee had advocated the execution of Holt's father, because of the latter's opposition to the United States declaration of war against Germany.

AIRLINES OBJECT TO HIGH CHARGES FOR AIRPORT USE

Willing to Pay Reasonable Rent, Say Officials.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America, yesterday led the protest of representatives of the eight commercial airlines flying off the Chicago airport against the city council proposal to charge a head tax for passengers originating or terminating journeys here, or charging the airlines a fee for every airliner used in regular service from the field.

A subcommittee of the council aviation committee on Tuesday recommended that the fees be charged the airline operators to provide funds for operation and maintenance of the airport. The city wants to raise $54,000 a year through one of the other of these methods to reduce an annual deficit of $80,000 now entailed in the operation.

Willing to Pay Rental.

"The airline operators are willing to pay a reasonable rental, a larger rental than they now pay for their use of the airport, but any such taxes as these are simply out of the question," said Gorrell. "The airlines haven't got the money. They're in the red for 1937 to the tune of $2,225,000. They've lost money ever since 1933.

"Somehow that important fact doesn't seem to register with the council. Our committee which has been meeting with the council committee produces its figures, but the aldermen say: 'We're not concerned with that; it's not our problem. What we want to do is to raise more airport revenue.'

Expect to Spend 3 Millions.

"Another thing. The aldermen are going to raise all their extra revenue from us. Yet landing and take-off figures show that the air line planes use the field only 48.2 per cent of the time. Is it fair to make us carry all the load?"

Col. Gorrell said that the air lines expect to spend $3,000,000 in permanent structures on the field and nearby it if the airport is improved and expanded as now planned. They cannot do these things, he insisted, if the head tax or landing fees become effective.

Buildings Revert to City.

One air line executive said that all the permanent structures now on the airport, and there are some $2,000,000 worth of hangars and shops, will revert to the city when the present lease between the city and the school board for the airport land expires in 1950. He said this fact should be taken into account in fixing the field rentals.

Another air line official said that the council aviation committee should spend its time finding out why it costs Chicago $100,000 a year to run its field. He said the air lines have noted that at Cleveland airport and at St. Louis airport, both of which are as large or larger than Chicago's, the costs of operation are considerably less. He said that Cleveland's airport is operated for about $50,000 a year and that St. Louis pays $38,000 for its airport operations.

DEATH OF HEALY FOUND DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—An autopsy indicated today that the death of Ted Healy, film comedian, yesterday was due to natural causes. Police said they would drop further investigation of reports that Healy was beaten Sunday night in a fight with an unidentified man.

Stories of an altercation in which the comedian engaged near the Trocadero, Hollywood night club, were supported by a deep cut over his left eye, a discolored right eye, and a bruise on his temple. Attendants at the Trocadero said Healy clashed with a man in a nearby parking lot.

Dr. A. F. Wagner, Los Angeles county autopsy surgeon, however, said that he found the cuts and bruises were superficial and did not cause or contribute to Healy's death. He said the actor's lungs were congested and that he had suffered from a serious kidney condition.

Police Hunt The Thin Man, Looter of 50 Apartments

A thin man, or maybe a thin boy, who has crawled through some fifty transoms on the far north side in the last three months is the object of search by the Rogers Park and Summerdale police. His latest victim is Albert B. Gamm, 5119 Kenmore avenue, who lost $45 and several articles of expensive apparel yesterday while Mrs. Gamm was shopping.

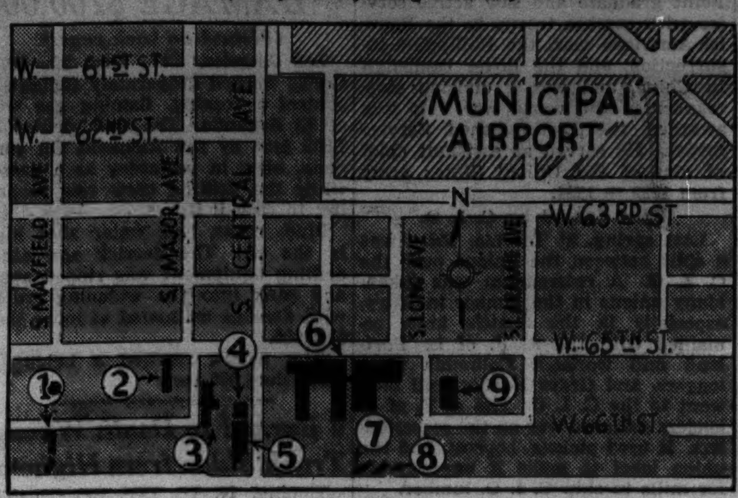
Act to End Smoke Nuisance Near Airport

(Story in adjoining column.)



The numbers mark industrial plants against whom complaints have been made because of excessive smoke near the Chicago airport. They are: (1) Silica Brick and Tile company, 5901 66th street; (2) Whitaker Manufacturing company, 5723 65th street; (3) Massey Concrete Products corporation, 6631 South Major avenue; (4) Ohmlac Paint company, 6540 South Central avenue; (5) Amalgamated Roofing company, 6600 South Central avenue; (6) Continental Can company (tinplate division), 5531 65th street; (7) Trumbull Asphalt company, 5440 67th street; (8) McGrew Paint company, 5544 67th street; (9) Fry Roofing company, 5302 66th street.

STEAMSHIP LINE PLANS TO ENTER OCEAN AIR FIELD

3d Firm May Operate to Bermuda.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper this afternoon revealed that a third airline may begin competing with the Imperial and Pan-American Airways on service between Bermuda and New York as the first step toward establishment of a trans-Atlantic route between Baltimore and Europe. Imperial and Pan-American Airways began the Bermuda service with a view to establishment of transoceanic service.

Roper disclosed that the American Export company, operators of a steamship line between Europe and America, are contemplating an air service to Bermuda. He said that licenses authorizing experimental flights have been given to the company under the name of the New York and Bermuda Airline, Inc.

Fear Ship Service Doomed.

The American Export line for some months has been seeking to crack the monopoly of transoceanic service held by the Pan-American and Imperial Airways in the firm conviction that steamship passenger service is doomed.

The line would place into operation air service for passengers and a fast freight service by sea. The company has plans to spend 25 million dollars on new freighters and airplanes for trans-Atlantic service.

Super Planes Announced.

Pan-American Airways announced within the month plans to build several super planes which will carry 100 passengers across the ocean on regular flight schedules. On the first leg of such a flight, which is the present line to Bermuda, Pan-American Airways makes two round trip flights a week.

Under present plans Pan-American and Imperial Airways would each make two round trip flights across the Atlantic when planes have been built for such service. Planes are being built for the service by both lines.

Council Makes Overdue Water Bill Property Lien

The city council yesterday passed an ordinance specifying that water bills overdue more than 30 days become liens on the properties served. Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], who sponsored the measure, said the liens would have the same standing as special assessments or real estate taxes. It was estimated that the ordinance would yield the city an additional $50,000 annually.

ROLLER SKATES AT 11 MONTHS AND TALKS ABOUT IT

Philip Holzworth couldn't go ice skating with his brother and it annoyed him, which it shouldn't have, because Philip was only 11 months old and couldn't even walk. So Philip found an old pair of roller skates in a closet and his father, Alva, strapped them on his feet in a moment of whimsy. A little later he found the child propelling himself about the living room.

This was six weeks ago. Yesterday at the Holzworth home, 6133 Kenmore avenue, Philip showed callers how he has improved. He can stand erect on the skates and walk as well as skate. He also let them hear his entire vocabulary. He said:

"Skate."

Staten Island Gets Million Dollar Ferry for Christmas

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Staten Island residents got a Christmas present they won't be able to make use of till spring. It is a new municipal ferryboat, Miss New York, built at a cost of $1,000,000 and launched in the yards of the United Shipbuilding corporation at Mariners Harbor, Staten Island. Miss Eileen May Palma, daughter of Richmond Borough President Joseph A. Palma, was the sponsor of the new harbor craft which is designed to maintain a normal operating speed of 18 knots, which will reduce the run from the Battery to St. George, Staten Island, two minutes under present schedules.

CRACK DOWN ON 4 COMPANIES FOR SMOKE SCREEN

City Acts on Complaints of Air Trafic Menace.

The department of smoke inspection and abatement yesterday notified officials of four companies with factories in the Clearing industrial district to appear before the department Monday for violations of the city smoke ordinance.

The action was taken after John A. Casey, superintendent of the Chicago airport, complained that factories in the district, which adjoins the airport on the south and southwest, are laying a smoke screen which menaces air trafic.

Companies notified are the Silica Brick and Tile company, 5901 66th street; Whitaker Manufacturing company, 5723 West 65th street; Trumbull Asphalt company, 5440 67th street, and the Amalgamated Roofing company, 6600 South Central avenue.

Court Action Threatened.

Frank A. Chambers, head of the smoke abatement department, said if representatives of the concerns failed to appear and failed to give assurance that the nuisance would be abated they would be brought into court.

A trip to the Clearing district, made by Samuel Radner, department inspector, showed smoke at the Massey Concrete Products corporation, 6631 South Major avenue; the Silica company, and the Whitaker company.

Listed among the chief smoke offenders are the Continental Can company's tin plate division, 5531 65th street; the McGrew Paint company, 5544 67th street; the Ohmlac company, 6540 South Central avenue, and the Fry Roofing company, 5302 66th street.

Can Company Fumes.

A drive after dark around the Continental Can company showed what Radner said were noncombustible fumes coming from vents on the roof of the plant and drifting across the road toward the airport lights. These were heavy enough to give the impression of a light mist.

Coöperation has been obtained from some of the 120 concerns in the district, according to Radner, including th Belt railroad, Central avenue and 69th street; the A. O. Leary & Son company, 5757 65th street, and the Swan-Finch Oil corporation, 5849 66th street.

HEART ATTACK KILLS MILL FOREMAN.

A heart attack, apparently brought on by a two story fall, resulted yesterday in the death of Bernard Kallmeyer, 39 years old, steel mill foreman, in his room at 7711 Coles avenue.

The gin must mix with the Vermouth

Does it mix?
It is a mixing gin, we think, when you neither smell nor taste it in the finished drink

GLIDING in smooth-blended harmony over the ice in your mixing glass, gin and Vermouth combine to make a perfect Martini cocktail—but only when the gin is a mixer, never upsetting the drink with a heavy gin smell or gin taste.

Mixed drinks are an American idea. To meet the American taste for smooth mixed drinks, Fleischmann's Gin is distilled especially for mixing—from American grain.

Fleischmann's is the original American gin, established 1870. Our secret formula makes it the real American Mixer. Buy a bottle. And when you order a Martini, say: "Make it with Fleischmann's." (Copr., 1937, by The Fleischmann Distilling Corporation, Peekskill, N.Y.)

CONGRESS COMES TO LIFE.

The accounts of the adjournment of the special session of congress necessarily included a showing of what had been accomplished. The session had been summoned five weeks ago for certain purposes specified in the call. None of the suggested laws had been enacted when the gavels fell.

The unthinking may draw the conclusion that congress neglected its duty. The fact of the matter is that this congress has distinguished itself by doing the job which the constitution and common sense require of it.

Congress is not supposed to be a rubber stamp. Congress is not supposed slavishly to take orders from the executive department of the government. Congress ought not approve bills merely because they were drafted by Mr. Corcoran and Mr. Cohen. The fact that the bills prepared for congress were not instantly rushed to passage provides welcome evidence that the legislative branch of the government is alive and on the job.

The senators and representatives have no reason to be ashamed of the fact that they spent five weeks in examining, amending, and in some instances rejecting the proposals handed to them. Here was a farm bill characterized by its sponsor, the secretary of agriculture, as a step in the direction of Fascism. The warmest recommendation he could make for it was that the step was not quite so long as some others he could think of. Five weeks does not seem too long a time to weigh the merits of so revolutionary a measure, affecting the nation's supply of food and clothing.

Here was a bill proposing to give the politicians arbitrary powers to regulate wages and hours. Industry is sunk in a new depression and there is every reason to fear that the enactment of the suggested law would only make matters worse. Labor was divided on the merits of the proposal; the majority of organized labor was flatly opposed. In the circumstances congress did its duty and did it well.

Here was another bill which would have required the government to guarantee repayment of principal and interest on several billion dollars' worth of shoestring mortgages. Five weeks was certainly not too long to spend in studying such a proposal, particularly in view of the government's wabbly financial position.

Here was still another bill to effect a revolutionary reorganization of the executive departments and the independent agencies of government. Years were spent in painstaking study and debate before a roughly comparable measure, the federal reserve act, was passed, and the country might be better off today if the subject had been even more thoroughly explored before action was taken. If congress had enacted a reorganization bill at this session its members would have deserved all the criticism that could be heaped upon them for taking a snap judgment on such a matter. Only the totalitarians—whether Fascist or communist—could give instant approval to the proposed measure. Is congress to be blamed for postponing action on so vital a matter?

Finally here is the bill to set up half a dozen more TVA's in this country. If it had passed every section of the country would be so organized. Congress was asked to enact the law without taking time to appraise the results of the Tennessee valley experiment, without examining in detail just what such a law would do in undermining local self-government, and without making any effort to discover who wants this legislation and why. Only those who regard congress as beneath contempt could advocate hasty consideration of so important a measure.

We do not suggest that congress is never dilatory or that congress is always right and the executive always wrong. We do say that representative government, by and large, works better than executive dictatorship and the contrast was never more clearly revealed than in recent years.

The pork barrel provides the proof. Much of the bad repute in which congress finds itself today is the result of its abuse of river and harbor and reclamation expenditures in years past. But nothing that congress ever did in this regard is as shameless as the expenditures dictated now, not by congress, but by the executive.

'Quoddy and the Florida canal were projects upon which congress did not pass until after they had been started by executive order and many millions had been sunk in them. It was congress which halted this foolish and quite inexcusable waste of money, and the position taken by congress at that time was directly contrary to the will of the executive. Congress did not authorize the Fort Peck folly, the Loup river grab, the Platte river waste, the megalomaniac Coulee dam which alone will cost more than the Panama canal. Each of these projects [and the list is by no means exhaustive] is an executive creation for which congress is responsible only in the sense that under the executive lash it was persuaded to sign a blank check.

Representative institutions, like all things human, are not above reproach, but they will stand comparison any day—and in our day in particular—with unbridled executive domination. The record of the special session leaves something to be desired, but it might have been a lot worse—and it would have been a lot worse—if congress had again accepted the rôle of rubber stamp.

THE AIRPORT SCANDAL.

It seems a pity that after agreements have been reached with the railways and all plans drawn for the airport extension the project must be completely changed. The old established theory that when a community requires land for any purpose somebody must make a small fortune still survives. There is apparently a Babbitt for every air field. In the present instance the variation between the city's offer, Mr. Herman's price, the appraisal of the board, and the decision of the arbiter, to say nothing of Mr. Kruggel's claim that his name was misused, are apt to envelop the whole proceeding in a bad smell.

As the mayor has suggested, however, the city is not at the mercy of Mr. Herman. After all, an airport a mile long and 5,200 feet wide will answer the purpose as well as a square mile, although the north side of the field will be blocked by the railroad tracks. The present field is little more than one-quarter mile square and is able to serve all planes except the extremely large ones now in the course of construction.

It is THE TRIBUNE's thought that the aviation committee of the city council and the Belt railway should now bend their efforts toward the perfection of the sketch furnished by Mr. Kelly, so that all may proceed with the business of assuring Chicago's air supremacy. Mr. Herman can then build a lookout on his property and watch the steady growth of the world's largest and most important airport that will be shut off from his holdings by the railway tracks that he refused to accommodate.

NAVAL AND AIR BASES IN THE PACIFIC.

Landsmen, whether in or out of congress, are likely to measure sea power in terms of naval ships. It is an error we hope will not have influence in the reconstruction of our naval defenses. There are several other weighty factors of sea power besides fighting ships, and the situation created by our experimentation with limitation since the Washington conference of 1922 sharply emphasizes the factor of naval bases. A naval force cannot operate without bases and its actual power is directly conditioned upon their number, quality, and position. A ship must have a place to refit. It cannot keep the sea indefinitly, but at intervals must go to a base, even though it has not been injured in action. Every fleet at sea is reduced below its actual numbers by the absence of ships withdrawn for refitting or repair to some base, and the nearer the base to the field of operations the shorter the absence of the ship from the fleet need be. A fleet's strength is therefore qualified by the availability of its bases. Americans and especially the American congress should realize, for example, that the British navy is the greatest in the world, not merely because it has the greatest number of ships afloat or even the greatest number of powerful ships, but also because the British empire has the greatest system of naval bases. They are situated at strategic points all around the earth, on every principal trade route and near every area of possible serious naval operations. This multiplies in fact the size and efficiency of its navy.

When we surrendered the right to fortify and increase our bases in the Pacific we made a sacrifice of our naval power which was little appreciated by our citizens. The treaty of limitation signed at the Washington conference was a part of an international bargain which has been repudiated by Japan and we are no longer bound to the status quo. Our very inadequate base situation should be remedied as soon as possible. Congress should provide without delay for the development of bases and their adequate fortification. The Aleutian base should be made impregnable and we should improve and fortify both naval and aviation bases wherever there are possible locations of strategic value in our islands.

INVENTIONS IN WAR.

Under modern conditions every major war brings novel complications for both the military man and the diplomatist. Applied science and invention see to that. The latest instance concerns the bomber. Since the great war of 1914-'18 bombing has developed the field of its employment, lawful and lawless, until it threatens the unexpected both in military operations and diplomatic relations. It has produced new problems of control for the military command and for the civil authorities, as the Panay incident sharply illustrates.

But this situation has a perspective. The introduction of steam power for ships had a somewhat similar effect upon naval conditions and the laws of sea warfare. Before its coming the privateer and commerce destroyer under sail, while they were effective agencies, were restricted in operations by the limitations of sail. With steam power their scope was immediately extended. Americans will not forget the record of the confederate commerce destroyer Alabama and how it brought the United States to the verge of war with Great Britain. In the great war the use of the submarine presented entirely novel questions in naval tactics and strategy and also in the field of public law and diplomacy...More than any other event it brought the United States into the war against the central powers.

Gas was another novelty bringing new questions of tactics and of public law, and we may be certain that invention and military initiative will continue to create new surprises, new dangers, and new problems in warfare and statesmanship.

PLAY SAFE.

[Detroit Free Press.]

A Christmas time admonition from the executive committee of the National Safety council has this word of special caution for us who live in the City of the Straits: "Nearly one-sixth of all persons who lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents in Detroit last year were killed in December."

The holiday rush is on. The streets downtown and in other shopping areas are crowded. Frequently the pavements are slushy or slippery in spite of all that street cleaning crews can do. Everybody is in a hurry, whether awheel or afoot.

A little carelessness or too much daring may easily change Christmas joy to Christmas grief.

Look to your step, take your time, keep both eyes and both ears open, and watch trafic and the signals.

Help cut down the casualty list. Make sure it does not contain your name.

THERE'S PROOF.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

THE DOLL FOUND in the ruins of old Fort Dearborn is a sophisticated young lady with pencil line eyebrows and an aristocratic nose. But her younger rival for distinction in the Chicago Historical society's Christmas exhibit, the doll who survived the Chicago fire even though she was slightly singed, is quite frankly old fashioned—homey, you'd say, and a good cook. Well, there's a reason for that, and it's knowing about periods in doll history makes doll collecting so fascinating. When Miss Fort Dearborn was young, dolls were carved from wood; their features were sharp and true to life. In the sixties and the seventies sawdust stuffed dolls with china heads and kid arms came into vogue. It was harder to put the sparkle into the china features. The dolls with the china heads almost all have the reddest cheeks. So many are blue eyed that the ones with brown eyes look quite old. There are little dolls and big ones, dolls carved from a piece of wood no larger than your finger, Indian dolls in authentic costumes, and wax dolls so rare they're kept under glass domes that make them seem doubly quaint. Mrs. James Ward Thorne and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, who helped arrange the exhibit, lent some of the dolls. Mrs. George Nichols, 86 now, brought her doll, Lily, who came to live with her 80 years ago. Mrs. Nichols wept when she left Lily and said she'd be back often to see her.

ANOTHER DAY.

A recent query about the old La Salle theater stock company players brought a flood of letters from old timers. Mort H. Singer, who was the producer, writes: "Ursula March is living in the west, the wife of a rancher. Florence Holbrook, who was the wife of the late Cecil Lean, has a beauty parlor in Oakland, Cal. I saw Cleo Mayfield, Mr. Lean's second wife, in New York a week ago. Frances Kennedy Johnson is the wife of a Chicago attorney."

FROM THE PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT of a telegraph company comes the story of the woman who wanted to learn bicycle riding before she went to Bermuda. She telephoned the company, which sent over a messenger on a bicycle to teach her. Any of those bright young men understand contract bridge bidding?

STROLLING with their dogs on upper Michigan avenue is more complicated than you might think for some of those women in luxurious fur coats you see in the late afternoon. They manage it this way: drive down for tea and send their chauffeur back home for the dog. He meets them at an appointed place, hands out the dog, and drives on to pick up mistress and dog at the end of the walk.

THE LIFE MODERNE.

Somewhere on the lower level of Michigan avenue, El Chiquito reports, are two thrifty gentlemen who have solved the housing problem without buying a trailer. They've just lived without a trailer since early autumn, in their automobile. They're rather reserved fellows, who look as if you're intruding when you ask them if automobile seats make comfortable beds. What they do for a living no one knows, but they seem to have jobs. The only difficulty is that they have to keep moving their car, lest the police think they're vagrants. They've been all up and down the avenue and along Wacker drive.

HAY FEVER HAS GONE. WHAT NEXT?

THE other day I had a long letter from a kindly lady who desires to help her fellow sufferers. She suggests that a warning be sounded against the poisonous effects of primroses, which are so attractive, especially during the cold season. She writes that she is so sensitive to the plants that after lingering in their vicinity for a short while a breaking out will occur which will itch intensely.

I know there are a few persons who are annoyed in like manner, but it would be a shame to deprive those who are not so sensitive of the pleasure which those colorful blooms afford. This discussion is directed, therefore, to victims of any sort of winter allergy.

Regardless of the time of the year, some of us will react to drugs; others, to certain proteins contained in foods; while still others will be disturbed by wool, furs, or any one of a hundred factors. The type of individual response may vary from a slight reddening of the skin to large wheals [hives] or eczema—a few even developing typical asthmatic seizures. While the degree of sensitivity may differ, it is likely to grow worse with repeated exposures.

In an effort to find the cause of an allergic manifestation, everything about the house that can be touched, breathed in, or taken into the digestive tract must be examined. Trouble may come from a fur piece worn about the neck, a toilet preparation, a simple drug such as aspirin, a chemical used in cleaning, as well as foods, and proteins of many varieties.

The best way to avoid difficulty with foods is to omit one item after another—keeping an accurate record of the menus until the offender is discovered. With those elements which are inhaled or which come into contact with the skin, the so-called patch test is of great value. Here a bit of the suspected material is placed on a normal portion of skin and the region examined some hours later. If there is pronounced redness, swelling, or irritation, we may assume that we have uncovered one culprit. Unfortunately, however, there may be others, and isolating the patient from the guilty one may not be sufficient to ease all the symptoms. The testing must be continued until the entire group of excitants has been convicted or absolved.

Then comes the problem of treatment and an attempt is made via vaccines to render the patient immune. In the meantime, every precaution must be taken to eliminate the particular articles from his proximity.

The case is reported of a housewife who had suffered markedly from eczema for several years. She had lived in the same home during this entire period. Soothing lotions, ointments, and powders relieved her slightly, although the symptoms increased or decreased depending on the weather. During the summer she was almost free from the weeping, crusty eruption. Conversely, during the winter the involved areas spread widely.

This autumn—with what she considered a bad prospect ahead—she determined, if possible, to locate the source. Fortunately, but few examinations were needed as she reacted violently to house dust. A thorough cleaning of all the rooms proved helpful. In addition, she refrained from all sweeping and dusting.

On one occasion she emptied the vacuum cleaner sack and allowed some of the powdery débris to touch her hands and arms. The following morning the backs of the hands and the forearms presented a fine rash with some watery blebs. To provide additional safety, carpets in her room were removed and straw matting substituted. Early in November she was practically free from irritation. A vaccine also was employed, but it was thought that the elimination of contacts had served its purpose. Extra cleaning is maintained constantly and so far there has been no return of symptoms.

GIFT IN CONTEMPLATION OF MARRIAGE.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am writing you for some information about the state and city in which I live. I want to know if it is compulsory by law for a woman to return an engagement ring when the engagement is broken? E. N.

The rule is often stated that a gift "in contemplation of marriage" can be recovered when the donee breaks the engagement. [28 C. J. 651]. Apparently the ambiguous quoted words have been chosen to avoid deciding the difficult question whether a condition will be implied from the mere fact of engagement.

There is much broad language in the cases but we find no actual decisions by American courts allowing recovery of personal gifts, such as engagement rings, on the simple ground of engagement. The cases enforcing return involve such additional facts as an express condition, absence of good faith in the engagement, lack of "delivery," or that the subject of the gift was such as to indicate that the donor expected to share in its use—for example, furniture for the intended home. There are Canadian cases on both sides of the question.

It is somewhat surprising that the cases do not mention the well settled rule in the analogous field of gifts between husband and wife that such gifts are not impliedly conditioned upon a continuance of the marriage relation. [14 Cyc. 791.] In the absence of controling authorities we incline to the opinion that such engagement gifts as personal jewelry, if conditional at all, are conditioned only upon the present existence of the engagement in good faith as a status rather than upon future marriage as a consummation, so that they cannot be recovered merely upon showing subsequent breach of the engagement. WHEN CORN REPLACES COTTON.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 19.—If they can stop the south from raising so much cotton and put in more time raising food, the south can raise all the meat and bread they need, but what will become of the northern farmer? If he can't sell us, how can he buy our cotton? Then the north will have to raise flax. The foreigner has quit buying from us because he can't sell us account of too high tarif.

I think it's time congress should take several years' vacation. E. D. PEPPER.

A RELIGIOUS EXPERIENCE.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—The "Nativity Play in Medieval Manner," presented by the University of Chicago, will be a delightful and inspiring remembrance to all who were fortunate enough to secure seats. Although I have taken part in and seen many Nativity pageants, never before have I felt the strange mystical reality and faith strengthening assurance that I did on seeing this one. The Adoration of Light and the Adoration of Dance and Song thrilled me with their exalted beauty. The choir and their assistants singing of "A Lullaby" and the Magnificat were very fine indeed.

At the end of the play the congregation following the choir took their gifts, large and small, and left them at the altar. Children took packages of toys and other gifts that could be distributed by the university to the underprivileged children of the settlement and to the university's other social service activities. The choir leading and singing the invitation "O Come, All Ye Faithful," were followed by the surging people eager to bring their gifts to the Christ child manger. All sang this hymn of adoration and praise in a community spirit of brotherhood I shall not willingly forget.

Many nationalities were represented, mostly the ordinary run of people—doubtless numbers of them with no church affiliations. It seemed to give assurance of the innate desire of all people to satisfy the hungering and thirsting after God that is in all of us, no matter how deeply hidden or how seldom seen.

INCONSISTENCIES COMPARED.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Some time ago you printed an editorial pointing out the inconsistency of our government in prosecuting the aluminum company under the anti-trust law, and at the same time selling it great quantities of electric power at rates far below the cost of production.

Is it not more inconsistent in prosecuting the Standard Oil company under the anti-trust law while sending American seamen to their deaths to enable the Standard Oil company to sell gasoline in the China war zone? R. M.

THE MAN WHO UNDERSTOOD WOMEN.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—In my business much of my contact is with women. Up to this year my relations hadn't been very agreeable. I could get along with most men, but somehow not well with women—try as I would.

In our neighborhood lives a man with just the opposite ability. The men all call him a swell fellow and the women are crazy about him. I asked him how he did it, and at first he'd just say "it's luck." Finally he told me the secret of his success.

He said, "I figure 50 per cent of the men and 90 per cent of women have the mentality of a 15 year old child and I treat them accordingly. You try to credit them with too much brains. The dumber they are, the more susceptible they are to flattery; so be generous with it. They've been trying to educate men for thousands of years but women for only a few generations."

I put his logic into use, and already the results have been gratifying.

FINMARK.

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 14.—The article in THE TRIBUNE of Sunday, Dec. 12, on "Finmark Part of Norway" by your Andreas Backer, could only have been written in the continental atmosphere of Oslo, over a thousand miles away, by a person without knowledge of this northern part of Norway. I lived there for more than twenty years and have revisited this locality several times since and know that that part of Norway is as modern and cultural as any other section.

Because of Finmark's geographical condition there are no "navigable rivers" in Finmark; the cities are all located on islands and the trafic is all on the sea, supplemented within recent years by a few inland highways. The Norwegian government has spent millions upon millions on the natural harbors, improving them, building quays and landing places to accommodate ships of any size.

HITLER, according to a recent dispatch, is conserving material by reducing the length of men's shirts two and one-half inches. An efficiency expert for a telegraph company, sent out from New York because of the recession in receipts, had a similar idea of helping offset the loss. The shirt of the messenger boys' uniform has seven buttons down the front. At a recent pep meeting the new man said that hereafter he would order all shirts to have only six buttons.

SURPRISE of the holiday shopping season. The man who came into a loop book department to purchase a set of Elsie Dinsmore. The chin of the salesman who sold it to him fairly quivered with indignation about it afterward. "I wouldn't let a child of mine read that truck," he said, not even looking to see if the boss was looking. The first Elsie Dinsmore edition was printed in 1868. There was one printed in 1895, which is the latest edition a big book department carries.

COINCIDENCE of the holiday season. When Christmas gifts were awarded by lot at the annual Rotarian Christmas party held Tuesday, an autographed copy of Henry Link's "Return to Religion" was received by the Rev. Edward J. Mullaly, a spiritual director of the Paulist Fathers.

EUGENIE LEONTOVICH, star of "Tovarich," was among the shoppers in a loop book department yesterday. She was muffled in mink and asked throatily for books on art. . . . The 1937 toy that fascinated us was a Charlie McCarthy doll, only its name was Dummy Dan, and his lower jaw worked when you pulled a string at the back. . . . Another little oddment of the 1937 season . . . the charm for a charm bracelet in the form of a little gold church. You look through the magnifying glass window and read the Lord's Prayer.

* *

NO, no, pigeon, you are wrong," cries Leontovich as the Grand Duchess Tatiana, to McKay Morris, as her princely husband, in the last act of "Tovarich" at the Selwyn. "We may take back that which belongs to France, or to America. But no one has ever taken back anything from England." The conversation revolves about the attempt of foreign agencies to buy Russian oil lands in the early days of the soviet government, and the prince hopefully says Russia will get them back some day if they are sold. As Leontovich spoke the lines a mental picture of Thomas square in Honolulu, with its banyan trees and its fountain, came to mind. Thomas square is perhaps the only instance that might disprove the author's statement. It is, at least, the only place in the world where the English flag has been hauled down voluntarily.

FATE OF BUDGET UP TO CONGRESS, PRESIDENT SAYS

Insists on 100 Million Road Aid Cut.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—In a letter made public today, insisting upon a 100 million dollar reduction a year in federal aid to states for highway construction, President Roosevelt placed the responsibility for balancing the budget upon the overwhelming Democratic majority in congress.

To distribute as much federal money as the states would like to get would bankrupt the federal government, the President said, and destroy the Democratic party.

Replies to Chairman.

Mr. Roosevelt addressed his letter to Representative Wilburn Cartwright [D., Okla.], chairman of the house committee on roads, in reply to a letter the congressman wrote the President to explain his failure to convene his committee to consider the message Mr. Roosevelt sent to congress several weeks ago proposing limitation of federal aid highway appropriations to 125 millions a year and the immediate cancelation of a 200 million dollar appropriation.

Congressman Cartwright informed the President that he and the overwhelming majority of his committee opposed singling out road expenditures for a cut without "corresponding reductions in other activities." Many Democratic members have accused the President of proposing the unacceptable road economy in order to blame congress for failure to balance the budget.

Two Factors Are Cited.

Mr. Roosevelt replied to Mr. Cartwright that if federal funds were inexhaustible he would gladly consent to federal aid for road building on an even greater scale than the 200 to 300 millions a year recently allotted.

"But there are two factors which I know you will consider," the President continued.

"1. The administration is making an honest effort to cut the budget down to a figure which will closely approximate the estimated tax receipts. That means that we ought to cut off appropriations which may be desirable but which are not essential.

"2. That brings me to the second problem—the problem of what Einstein would call 'relativity.' Where can we cut? That is a matter, first, for the President to make recommendations, and, secondly, for the congress to decide whether the recommendations for cuts should be carried out or changed by substituting different cuts.

Federal Aid Increasing.

"As you know, up to 1929 the average amount of federal aid to road building in the United States was less than 100 million dollars a year and now under authorizations and appropriations it will run to between 200 and 300 million a year.

"Also, as you doubtless know, money spent on federal aid highways takes very few people directly off the relief rolls. It is true that many of the contractors' regular forces are kept at work and some people are put to work making cement, steel binder and other materials. Nevertheless, the fact remains that federal aid highways give relatively little help to the several million Americans who are actually in pressing need. Local farm to market roads give a far higher percentage of relief employment than the federal aid roads.

"Therefore, speaking again of 'relativity,' if I have to get the budget down to a certain figure, obviously I must eliminate the proposed expenditures which provide the least work and favor those expenditures which give the most work.

Fixes Responsibility.

"The congress has a perfect right constitutionally to exceed the budget, but, if the budget is exceeded, obviously the congress must accept full responsibility, and obviously the Democratic members, which have such a large majority in the congress, must equally accept the full responsibility.

"If the congress decides to keep on spending between two and three hundred million dollars a year on federal aid highways, the congress can, in its wisdom, reduce other appropriations to make up the difference.

"The above facts may be unpalatable but, as you know, they are perfectly true."

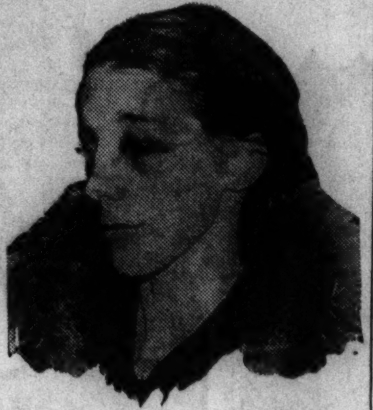
Raymond Trembacz in court.



Mrs. Eleanor Trembacz with blackened eyes.

What amounts to a record sentence in the Bridewell was imposed yesterday by Judge Joseph A. Graber in Felony court on a wife beater. His punishment adds up to almost six years.

Raymond Trembacz, 28 years old, a bartender, was sentenced to one year each on two charges of assault and battery preferred by Mrs. Eleanor Trembacz, 6700 South Union avenue. In addition he was fined $1,000 on each charge, and because he did not have the money was ordered to work out the fines.

Fines are worked out at the rate of $1.50 a day, hence it will take Trembacz 1,333 days in addition to the two years to satisfy the two fines. He was arraigned Tuesday on one charge of assault and battery. The case was continued and yesterday Mrs. Trembacz appeared with swollen eyes and bruised face, saying he had beaten her again Tuesday night. The second charge was then preferred. Trembacz complained his sentence was too long.

"It's just what you deserve," Judge Graber replied.

SKIDMORE LOSES $2,500 APPEAL BOND ON LADWIG

Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court yesterday forfeited a $2,500 bond supplied by William R. [Billy] Skidmore, bondsman and politician, for the release of Edward Ladwig pending his appeal.

Ladwig, who formerly lived at 2 West Ohio street, and two other former election judges of the 40th precinct of the 42d ward were convicted of fraud in the Nov. 6, 1934, election. Each was sentenced to a year in jail. The others, Joseph Michelloti and John Garbarino served their time. Ladwig was freed on bail pending an appeal. Since the Illinois Supreme court affirmed the conviction last April 29, Special Prosecutor John Cashen Jr. told Judge Jarecki yesterday, Ladwig has been missing.

Skidmore scheduled the bond on property at 2246 East 73d street, 1108 Madison street, and 2838 South Kedzie avenue. The state's attorney was ordered to proceed against the property and collect the bond.

BERRY'S CLAIMS DRIVE TVA BOARD SPLIT INTO OPEN

Directors Charge Chief Maligned Them.

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Efforts of Senator George L. Berry [Dem., Tenn.] and his associates to collect about two million dollars from the government for what they claim are valuable marble deposits in the Norris dam reservoir today caused dissension among directors of the Tennessee Valley authority to flare into the open.

Two directors charged that TVA Chairman A. E. Morgan cast unwaranted reflections on his associates when he testified as a surprise witness at a hearing before a three man federal commission. Morgan supported the TVA contention that the leases held by Berry and others are worthless.

Evidence in the case, which has attracted wide attention because of intimations by TVA attorneys that the senator sought to defraud the government, was completed yesterday and the matter was taken under advisement until after Jan. 1.

Study Assertions, Then Protest.

A protest statement against Chairman Morgan's testimony was issued by Directors David E. Lilienthal and H. A. Morgan. They took the action, they said, after they had analyzed assertions made Monday by Chairman Morgan at the hearing.

The TVA chairman had testified he opposed an agreement among board members to conciliate the Berry claims because he believed the leases had been purchased with intent to defraud the government. He said the agreement to conciliate was suggested by Directors Lilienthal and H. A. Morgan after TVA geologists and experts had reported the Berry marble deposits had no value.

A majority of the board agreed on July 13, 1936, to name a conciliator to act on the matter and proposed John W. Finch, director of the United States bureau of mines.

Condemnation Suit Begun.

Chairman Morgan said he fought the plan and last May the TVA ended any conciliation efforts and instituted condemnation proceedings.

The complaining directors declared their chairman falsely and maliciously inferred that a majority of the board had ignored reports of experts, and in the face of these reports agreed to recognize value in the Berry claims.

They said Chairman Morgan's declaration at the hearing that he wished to bring out certain facts pertinent to the issue gave the implication that the TVA counsel had failed to present TVA's case adequately and intimated that certain facts had been suppressed.

Review Record of Inquiry.

"The record shows," their statement said, "that prior to Dr. Morgan's appearance before the condemnation commission our counsel had presented witness after witness who asserted that the claims, in their expert opinion, were without value; had presented facts indicating bad faith, facts previously unknown to any one connected with the authority until discovered by our attorneys, and had conducted vigorous and unsparing cross-examination of opposition witnesses."

The directors asserted further that the fact is indisputable that none of the board at any time disagreed with or disregarded the opinion of TVA's experts that these leases were valueless.

COUPLE FOUND SLAIN.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Edgar L. Clites, 39 years old, and his wife, Florence, 37, died today of pistol bullets which police said the husband fired. Their bodies were found lying beside each other in their bedroom. His hand held a gun.

It had to be good to get to the top. Step up to El Producto—and you'll understand why it stays there.

TELESCOPE SEES A QUESTION MARK IN THE HEAVENS

4 Years Spent on Secrets of Star Evolution.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

At this season, when the Star of Bethlehem is in men's minds, we find something new and unexplained in the heavens.

From Dearborn observatory of Northwestern university, where on clear nights for four years a special prismatic camera has been searching out the faint red stars in the Milky Way group in which the earth moves, it is announced that 52,729 such stars have been finally classified. Peculiarities have been found that may aid astronomers in reconstructing their picture of the evolution of all stars. But the task is far from complete. When the Northwestern catalog of these stars is complete in both hemispheres it will contain about 200,000.

Studies Faint Stars.

Dr. Oliver J. Lee, professor of astronomy and director of the observatory, will take to the National Academy of Science meeting next spring a series of photographic plates which look like a rain of comets, some with flaring tails, or a special assortment of bugs plastered against a windshield. These are spectra of the faint stars which astronomers have so far overlooked because they did not have the proper instruments or were preoccupied with study of the larger stars. The spectra are dark narrow streaks on the plate, about a quarter of an inch long, which tell secrets of the elements composing these distant stars.

Our sun is yellow, classed as a G star, with surface temperature estimated at 6,000 degrees. The stars which Dr. Lee and his aids have photographed and classified are M stars, whose dark bands show that they are red with a temperature of about 2,700 degrees. They may be ten times as large as the sun. In sections of the heavens that have been photographed these stars often appear as beaded lines and in pairs or clusters. What affinity they have for each other, whether they are at the beginning or end of the evolutionary process, is the new problem set for astronomers.

Incalculable Distance Away.

The stars being studied in this investigation cannot be seen with the naked eye. They are from six to ten thousand light years away from us. A light year is six trillion miles. Nevertheless, radiation from the atoms of the elements present on them registers as heat in the observatory camera and is transferred as a picture on a panchromatic plate, which is particularly sensitive to red, orange, and yellow. Radiations recorded there may have left their source in the star before the Vikings first saw North America.

Dr. Lee conceived this study while still an assistant at Yerkes observatory. He wished to test the theory of star evolution by finding out how many of the faint red stars remain in our system, how they are arranged, and how old they really are. Because many stars are radiating away energy in huge quantities he reasoned they must be very old and must be approaching extinction. On the other hand, they might be very young. The theory that a star must run through the colors from white hot to red, just like a heated iron bar, is susceptible of reversal. The gathering together of atoms and molecules by gravitation into nebula, and the gradual heating by pressure of this mass, might produce a giant red star of the M type now being explored. The yellow and white would come later, by contraction, until the dwarf stage were reached.

Camera Sorts Stars.

The dwarf stars, such as our sun, and the giant red stars are readily differentiated by the camera. Its pictures, called spectographs, tell an intimate story of the temperature, the chemical elements present in the star's atmosphere, size, distance, and approximate comparative age.

When a plate is developed it is mounted on a frame so that a light shines through the plate. Then astronomers go over the plate with a microscope to number the red stars. The lines on the plate vary in intensity, or blackness, according to the brightness of the star making them.

After the plates are marked the number, position, and brightness of each star are entered on ruled sheets. The catalog will be used as a guide for the studies of astronomers all over the world and its new facts will help shape astronomical theories.

U. S. Liner Makes Hamburg After North Sea Collision

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Baltimore Mail Line announced today that word had been received from Hamburg, Germany, of the return there of the liner City of Hamburg, damaged in a collision in the North sea yesterday. Officials of the company expressed the opinion the ship would be in dock there for at least two weeks for repairs.

Alimony Seeker

MRS. TANYA McPARTLAND.

Judge John J. Lupe yesterday issued an attachment for the arrest of John D. McPartland, 27 years old, 7120 Yates avenue, who failed to appear and explain why he has not paid $1,200 to his ex-wife, Tanya. Mrs. McPartland, who lives at 5463 Ingleside avenue, said he has fallen behind in a property settlement arranged in 1935, when she won a divorce on a charge of cruelty.

DIVORCED WIFE, NOT U. S., GETS HALL'S $15,710

Judge Philip L. Sullivan in federal court ruled yesterday that Mrs. Cathryn Hall and not the government is entitled to the $15,710 brokerage account of her divorced husband, Charles Lewis Hall, publisher of horse race papers.

The government obtained a lien on the account, which was a part of an $80,000 settlement, because of an income tax claim against Hall. Attorney Benjamin Ehrlich, representing Mrs. Hall, argued that since the government had not filed the lien in the county recorder's office before the divorce decree the lien was improper.

Mrs. Hall, who is 45 years old and lives at 6149 North Kilpatrick avenue, obtained a divorce decree on May 19.

ALIMONY ORDER IS VACATED ON WIFE'S REQUEST

Santa Claus came to Henry Hofman, tavern owner and brewer's distributor, yesterday, four days ahead of schedule. Moved by the Christmas spirit, his wife, Martha, 6721 Cregier avenue, appeared with her attorney, Norman Becker, before Judge Philip J. Finnegan. At their request he dismissed her separate maintenance bill, vacated a temporary alimony order of $75 a month, and lifted an injunction tying up property worth $150,000.

LABOR OPENS UP BAG OF TROUBLE FOR LA GUARDIA

Turns on Befriender with Strikes and Unrest.

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, who received 482,459 American Labor party votes when he was reëlected last month, is now becoming embroiled with the forces of organized labor which supported him.

Troubles besetting the mayor include a city-wide epidemic of strikes, accompanied by ultimatums, threats and picketing clashes. La Guardia has been placed squarely in the middle of the controversy—an unexpected position for the avowed friend of the trouble maker.

Developments have come thick and fast in recent days—a threatened general taxicab strike which already has been authorized, new rumbling on the maritime front, drug store strikes, a telegraph walkout, threats of chain store strikes, and picketing of picketers.

Mayor Given Ultimatum.

The mayors troubles were exemplified when leaders representing sixteen big unions with an asserted membership of 500,000 called at his office to deliver an ultimatum. Mayor La Guardia was out, but his secretary heard their grievances.

The union leaders protested against the anticipated promotion of Police Inspector Harry F. Lobdell to the post of deputy chief inspector in command of all police in Brooklyn.

The delegation, representing unions which have been involved in labor troubles with Lobdell, threatened to throw a huge picket line around the city hall and La Guardia's midtown office, the Empire State building, if the inspector were promoted.

Labor's Protests Ignored.

The union chiefs assailed Lobdell as a strikebreaker because of his severity in enforcing picketing regulations in Brooklyn, where several policeman have been injured in recent shipyard strikers' clashes.

Ignoring these protests, tonight Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, in the presence of Mayor La Guardia, announced the promotion of Lobdell to the rank of deputy chief inspector. However, instead of being appointed to the post in Brooklyn, where picketing has reached its highest pitch, the inspector was assigned to Queens.

The announcement of Lobdell's promotion was made before a crowd of 5,000 at the graduation exercises for 143 students of the police academy. Apparently in anticipation of some attempt to stage a hostile demonstration several hundred uniformed policemen surrounded the 165th Regiment armory, where the exercises were held.

The lack of any demonstration, however, was interpreted as an indication of organized labor's satisfaction that Lobdell's assignment to the Queens district at least removes him from Brooklyn.

Another group of union leaders assembled and drafted a program to fight any curtailment of mass picketing after Magistrate Anthony F. Burke sentenced eighty pickets to jail for terms of twenty to ninety days last Friday. The pickets were arrested after a clash on Broadway in which they tore doors from a police patrol wagon, fought with police, and smashed a captain's badge. The pickets were released on $50 bail each pending further hearings Jan. 4.

CHILLY DRIZZLE FAILS TO DAMPEN LURE OF TRAILER

Historic Natchez Left Behind on Tour.

This is the ninth of a series of articles by Hal Foust, automobile editor of The Tribune, on a trailer trip in the south with his family.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The deep south has been shivering in a drizzle, with the thermometer in the 40s. So have occupants of THE TRIBUNE automobile on this trailer tour. Damp clothes won't dry hanging in this 19x7 foot cabin that serves as bedroom, kitchen, dining room, laundry, and washroom for man, wife, and child.

But the attractions of shifting scenery still compensate for minor physical discomforts. After crossing the Mississippi on the Vicksburg bridge [toll: car, $1.25; trailer, 50 cents] the drive south in Louisiana on U. S. 65 paralleled the levee for much of the mileage to the Natchez ferry.

In cotton fields on black Louisiana flats, men and women were making the third and last picking of the top bolls. In forests of pine, moss hung from the occasional large water oak. A few palmettoes were seen.

Natchez Basks in Old Glory.

The first view of Natchez was from across the river. Ante bellum mansions rested on a hilltop. The town of 13,500 population, two-thirds colored, has architectural relics of its former glory as a Spanish territorial capital and as a social and commercial center before development of the railroad destroyed the steamboat trade.

South of Natchez, U. S. 61 was followed through a deep cut, through a dense mixed woods thick with brush and with dangling moss and with ropelike vines hanging from limbs. There were cardinals and a variety of other birds that attracted Audubon to Natchez. A detour of 50 miles was over wet but hard clay and gravel.

The deep groove in the floor of the woods, at some places ten to twenty feet deep, is part of the old Natchez Trace, a trail worn by erosion and by the footsteps of animals and men for centuries. Bienville found it an established Indian route when he visited the Natchez Indians in 1700.

Trace to Become a Park.

The department of the interior has a $24,000,000 project to convert the Natchez Trace into a parkway from Natchez 525 miles to Nashville. It plans to make an elongated national park of the route followed by Kentuckians and Tennesseeans, preyed upon by cutthroat robbers, in returning home overland after floating their crops to the New Orleans market in the early decades of the 19th century. The first work on this project, grading and draining thirty-four miles at a cost of $760,000, is under way north of Natchez and near Jackson, Miss.

From this capital of Louisiana, where a spotlight from the skyscraper state house illuminates the grave of Huey Long on the parked grounds, THE TRIBUNE car is heading east toward Florida, the paradise of trailerites.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Flora of Chicagoland (Christmas Trees).

December 22, 1937.

CHRISTMAS trees are being decorated indoors and outdoors at the Tribune farms. Evergreen trees grown around the farms' dooryards are tinseled with ice and snow and the children are hoping the crystals will not be melted off before Santa Claus makes his visit.

The red cedar is the old standby Christmas tree at the Wheaton and Yorkville farms. Seven different kinds of evergreens set last spring in front of one of the homes at the Wheaton place are now furnishing a great variety of Christmas trees. They already have been trimmed for the holiday season. The gardeners are having an opportunity to make comparisons to see which tree makes the best showing. They include Norway pine and spruce, Douglas fir, Austrian pine, American arbor vitae, red cedar, and Colorado blue spruce.

The red cedar is a hardy tree that grows well, even on thin land. It is widely distributed throughout most of the United States. It is most common in regions of the near south, where it is almost universally used as a Christmas tree. The beautifully colored, aromatic wood of the red cedar often is made into chests, boxes, and other kinds of furniture and given for Christmas presents.

The red cedar.

Native to Chicagoland.

Red cedar is about the only kind of Christmas tree that is native to Chicagoland, although there are other evergreens that do well here when transplanted. Nurserymen have found the Norway spruce one of the best trees to plant for use as a living Christmas tree on home grounds. This evergreen develops into a beautiful, symmetrical tree, one that fits well into a general landscape plan.

Spruce and fir trees are the kinds most commonly sold in the Chicago region for Christmas trees. The balsam and Douglas firs generally are preferred to spruce trees because they hold their needles longer after being cut. Fir and spruce trees may be distinguished by their needles—the fir needles are flat with blunt ends and spruce needles are round and sharp pointed.

Borrowed from Europe.

Practically all Christmas customs and traditions found in America have been borrowed from European countries. Authorities say the Christmas tree came from Germany, Santa Claus from Holland, the Christmas stocking from either France or Belgium, and Merry Christmas from England.

Nobody knows when or where the Christmas tree first was used in the celebration of the Nativity or just what kind of tree originally was employed for that purpose. It likely was a fir tree native to northern Europe. There seems little doubt that the Christmas tree always has been an evergreen. Its exact significance is not clear, but there doubtless is a close association of the evergreen tree to the conception of eternal life. The fir tree was held sacred by pagan tribes in Germanic and Scandinavian countries before the story of Christ ever reached there.

The Christmas tree probably is much older than Christmas itself—a pagan institution that has been Christianized. Some authorities think it goes back to the old Roman festival of Saturnalia; others believe it can be traced to ancient Egypt, where date palm trees were used in celebrating the returning of the sun at the season of the winter solstice.

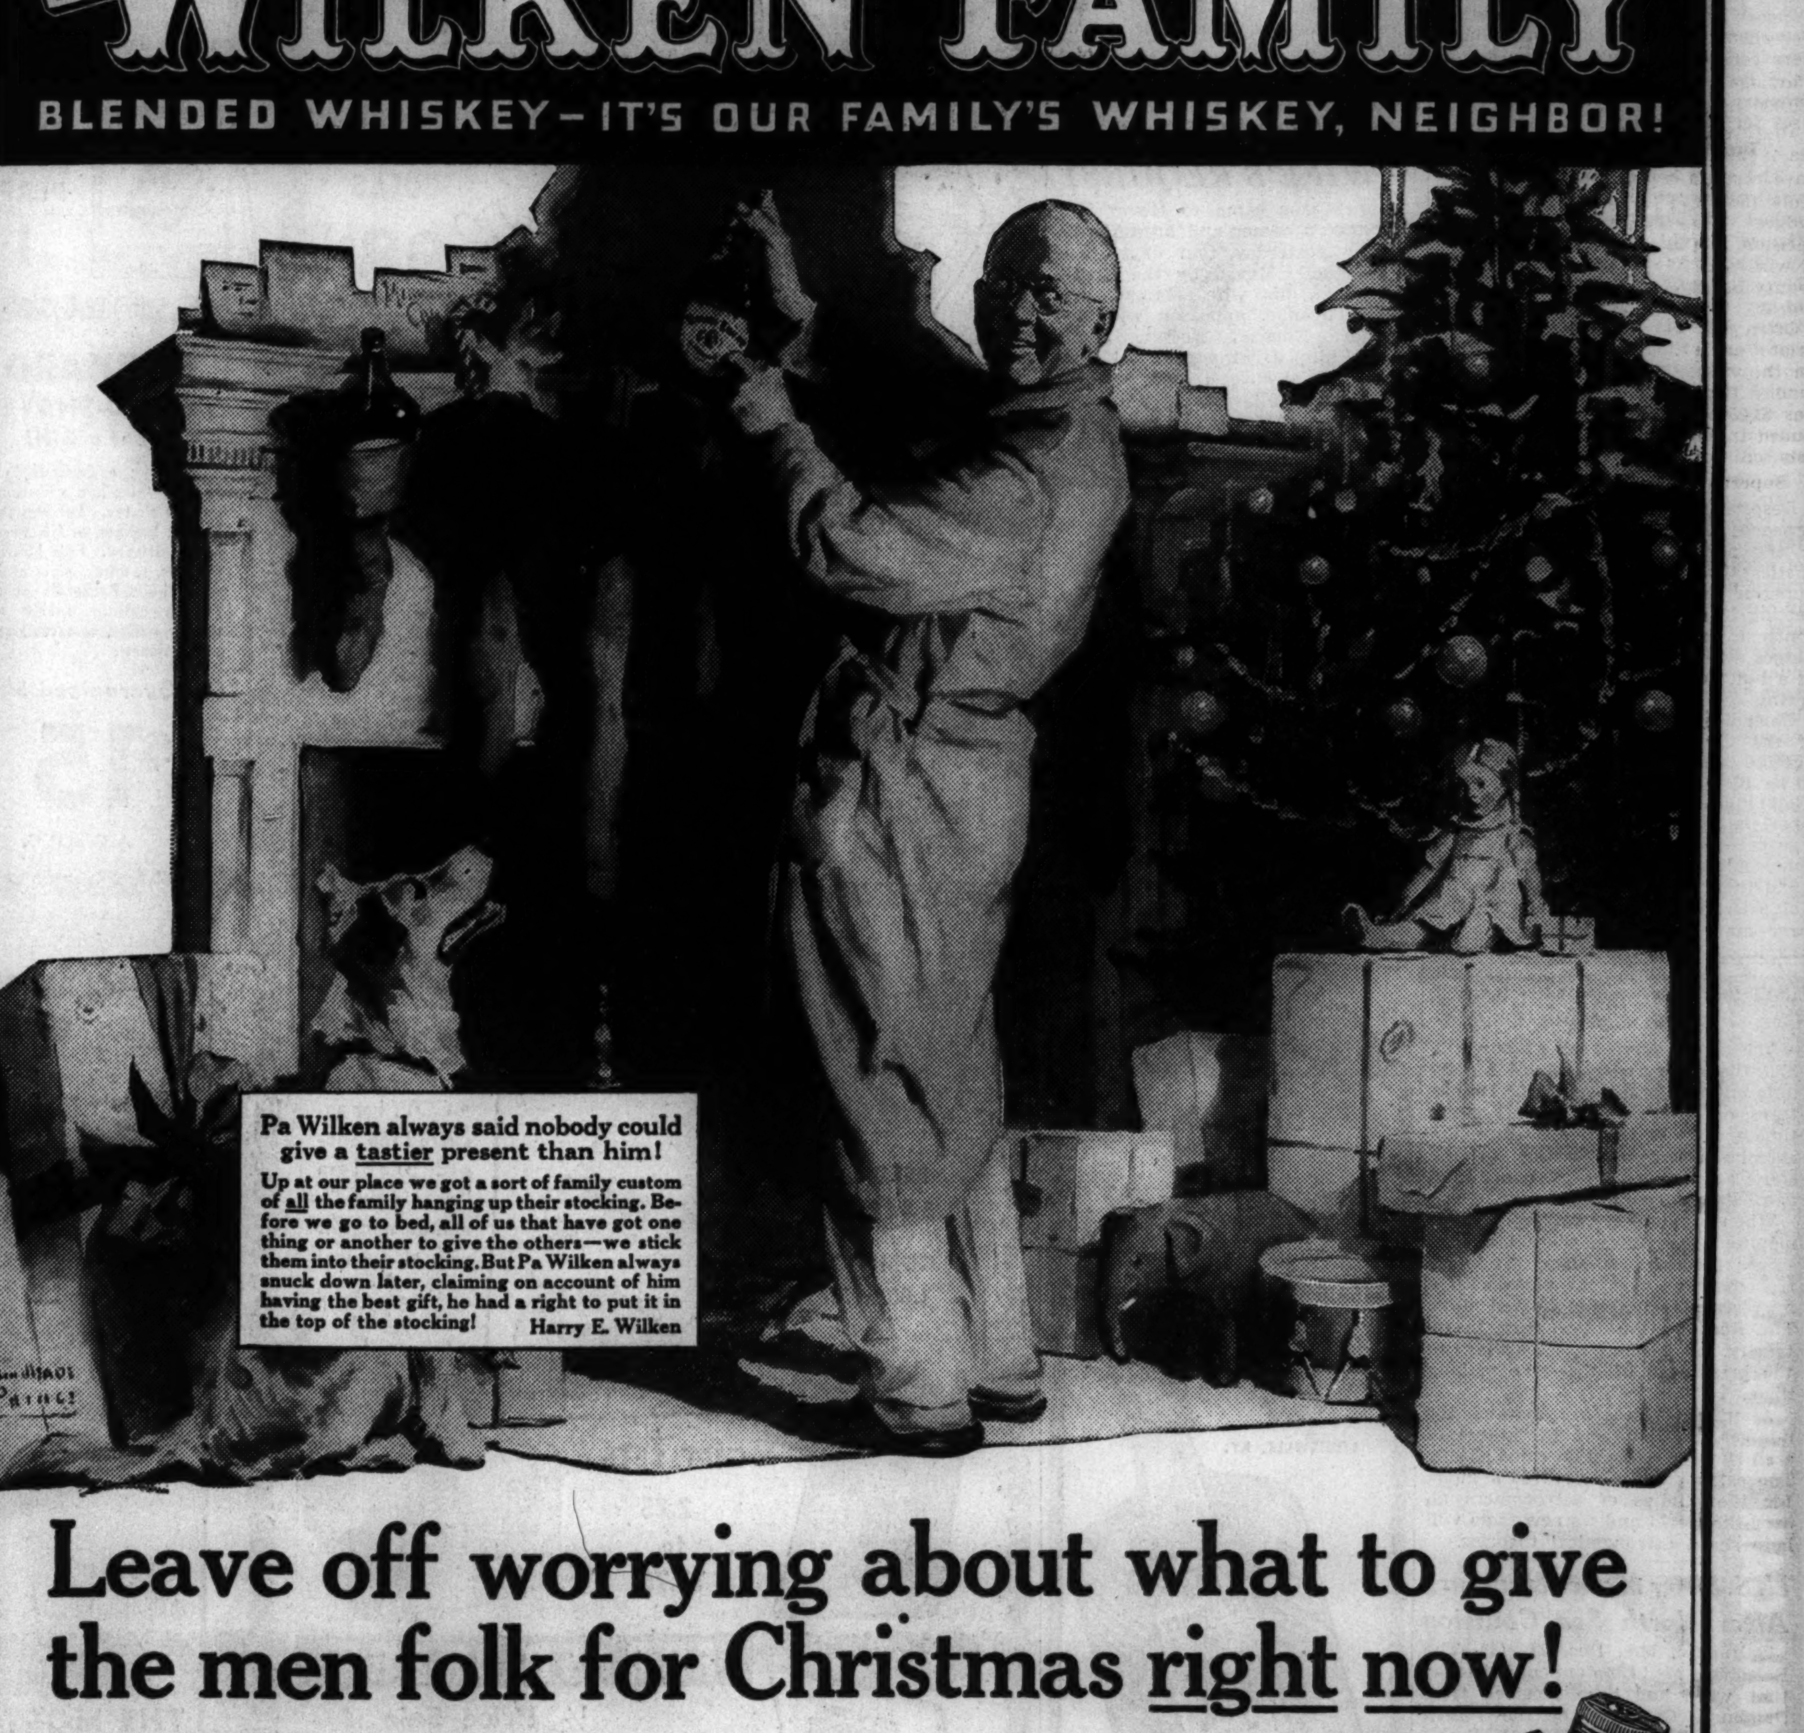
THE WILKEN FAMILY

BLENDED WHISKEY—IT'S OUR FAMILY'S WHISKEY, NEIGHBOR!



Pa Wilken always said nobody could give a tastier present than him!

Up at our place we got a sort of family custom of all the family hanging up their stocking. Before we go to bed, all of us that have got one thing or another to give the others—we stick them into their stocking. But Pa Wilken always snuck down later, claiming on account of him having the best gift, he had a right to put it in the top of the stocking!
Harry E. Wilken

Leave off worrying about what to give the men folk for Christmas right now!

Give Our Family's Whiskey—the exact same as us distillers will be enjoying on Christmas!

There's an old motto that I think fits in just perfect with this question of what should you buy the men folk for Christmas. This old motto goes on to tell you how if you want to get next to a man's heart, you better put something real good tasting into his stomach. Of course the party that got up this motto didn't know about The Wilken Family Whiskey—I figure he just meant to say a sure fire way of pleasing a man is giving him good things to eat and drink.

Well probably you wouldn't have to go more than a few stones throw from your house to get the tastiest whiskey a man ever put into his stomach—the exact same as us distillers will be celebrating with on Christmasday. Just ask for The Wilken Family Whiskey. It's got all our Family's distilling experience in it—Grandpa Wilken's, Pa Wilken's and ours. And when I tell you it's tasty, I mean tasty. Well here's hoping you folks have a real merry Christmas!

PAY FOR VISITING JUDGES UPHELD BY HIGH COURT

It's Expense Money, Says Majority Opinion.

The Illinois Supreme court ruled yesterday it is legal for downstate judges to sit in Cook county courts and to be paid by the county board. Chief Justice Paul Farthing and Justice Clyde E. Stone dissented.

The ruling was made in a test case filed by Judge John T. Cummings of Kewanee, which arose after Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes challenged the right of visiting judges to sit here last spring. Hodes charged the visitors were unfamiliar with metropolitan conditions and allowed excessive jury verdicts in personal injury suits against the city.

Get $20 a Day.

Country judges, brought here when the courts are crowded, are paid $20 a day and their railroad fare. The Supreme court held this payment should be considered expense money, and not extra compensation. The state constitution prohibits increasing the salary of an elected official during his term.

The dissenting opinion held that the county board had made no provision to pay expenses of $20 a day for visiting judges, and that the sum could not be considered necessary expenses. The majority opinion did not decide this question, stating it had not been raised in the petition.

Control of the funds used to pay visitors, however, passes from the hands of the courts here to the county board. This comes about through the Supreme court issuing a mandamus on the board and the county controler and not the sherif to reimburse Judge Cummings.

Marriage Fees Provide Funds.

Since the controversy arose in April, Sherif John Toman has held vouchers totaling $15,000 for the disputed pay. Compensation for the visitors comes from fees levied in the Marriage court, which has yielded $50,000 in the last eighteen months.

In the past the executive committee of the Circuit and Superior courts have instructed the sherif, who controls the fund, to pay the country judges. Under the Supreme court decision, it was pointed out, the sherif will turn over the fee fund to the county board, which then will apportion it.

Often the board has had to appropriate extra money when the fees for the visitors exhaust the marriage fund. This year the appropriation was $14,500, but no such item is included in the 1938 budget, and probably will not be.

Superior Court Gets No Help.

Despite the opinion yesterday, it appeared there will be little change in the present arrangement. Chief Justice Grover C. Niemeyer of the Superior court said his court is getting along without help and will continue to do so. Seven downstate judges sitting in Superior court quit in a huff during the controversy last spring.

Chief Justice Benjamin P. Epstein of the Circuit court said the four visitors now assisting would be ample to handle the calendar. Normally the County and Probate courts use only one extra judge a year.

ROCKFORD GAMBLING ORDERED HALTED AS SLAYING AFTERMATH

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Authorities today ordered gambling stopped in Rockford as a result of the slaying last night of Charles A. Kalb, 46 years old, a bookmaker here.

Charles A. Kalb.

The anti-gambling decree followed a conference of State's Attorney Robert E. Nash, Mayor Charles F. Brown, Assistant Chief of Police Charles Manson, and Chief Deputy Sherif Carl Palmgren.

Kalb was shot to death at the wheel of his automobile a half block from home as he, his wife, and Harry Dunn were returning from a downtown movie. Mrs. Kalb was cut by flying glass. Dunn, said to have been Kalb's bodyguard, was unhurt.

BOMB TWO SHOE REPAIR SHOPS; THIRD ESCAPES

Explosions of two small but intricately constructed time bombs yesterday terrorized the patrons of two south side shoe repair shops and the manager of one was injured. A third bomb of the same type, found in another shop, was taken apart by Policemen James Garvey and Roy Delaney of the bomb squad before it was set off.

The first of the machines was left in the shop of the Goldblatt Brothers store at 9100 Commercial avenue. Wrapped in a small cardboard box, it was placed in a glass showcase, which was shattered by the charge at 2 p. m. The second was in the hands of Marion Provenzano, manager of the shop in the basement of the Wieboldt store at 63d and Green streets, when it burst at 5 p. m. Provenzano suffered severe burns.

Examination of the third bomb, left in a shop connected with the Ace drug store at 6258 South Halsted street, showed that it was set to go off at 7 p. m. It had, besides clockwork, a battery and a fuse, a small quantity of black powder, and a vial of what appeared to be tear gas. Police believed the bombs were intended to frighten workers in the shops, who all are affiliated with a C. I. O. union.

FORCED TO FORGE CHECK TO PAY BOOKIE, HE SAYS

Credit System Blamed by Insurance Worker.

The story of a convicted forger that he had been frightened by gunmen into stealing to pay his debt to a bookie was being investigated yesterday by the state's attorney's office.

J. L. Kluchinskas.

The forger, Joseph L. Kluchinskas, 31 years old, 848 West 33d street, said the gunmen took him to a loop hotel room, displayed a revolver, and implied they would kill him if he didn't pay the $800 bill he had run up on a credit system.

Seeks Probation.

Kluchinskas was convicted last week of obtaining $4,400 from the insurance firm of Wiley, Magill & Johnson, 175 West Jackson boulevard, by forging checks. He was employed by the company for seventeen years.

Yesterday when he appeared before Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington in Criminal court on a motion for probation Assistant State's Attorney Vernon Thompson asked that Kluchinskas take the stand.

The man then told a story of having arranged for credit with a bookie he identified as Sam Harris, who had a place at 230 South Wells street. Although he had been wagering only small sums previously, Kluchinskas said he used the credit freely and soon was deeply in debt.

Tells of Summons.

"One day I received a call from a man who said he wanted me to meet him in the lobby of the Morrison hotel and talk about some insurance," Kluchinskas said. "I met him there and was taken to a room in the hotel, where three men were waiting. They told me they knew my route to work and all about me and could find me any time they wanted. One man kept a revolver in front of him."

Kluchinskas said he forged a check to pay the debt, and then hoping to recoup, forged more.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Cammillo Gusman, rape, sentenced to 3 years in the penitentiary; Robert Sigman, robbery, sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act; Berrell Sigman, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lewe.

Ralph Brown, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph A. Sabath.

HOPE TO REGAIN N. CHICAGO SLOT MACHINE PROFIT

Tavernkeepers in North Chicago estimated yesterday that the 80 slot machines that were ordered out of operation Tuesday by Mayor John P. Dromey had been returning a total profit of $1,200 a week.

City officials would make no comment on reports that the tavernkeepers and the syndicate owning the machines had been contributing 10 per cent of their profits to a fund with which new police cars, trucks, and tractors were purchased and presented to the city.

Ald. Peter Czajkowski of the second ward, who for months opposed operation of the slot machines, said he hoped they would be kept out permanently. The tavernkeepers, on the other hand, were hopeful that the new stern attitude of the mayor would be relaxed soon and that there would be more funds for the city's machinery.

Highwood is the only one of the north shore suburbs still permitting the operation of slot machines.

KILLS HIS WIFE, HER MOTHER, IN JEALOUS RAGE

Coldwater, Mich., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Jealousy was blamed today for the fatal shooting of a wife and her mother by a middle aged laborer, who then shot and critically wounded himself.

State police were guarding Clinton Brown, 45 years old, in a hospital at Hillsdale, Mich., where he lay near death with a self inflicted bullet wound in his chest. He was accused of killing his wife, Mrs. Rana Brown, 43 years old, mother of four sons, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Curtis, aged 77. The tragedy occurred at the Brown home in Jonesville, near here.

Kills 2 Stepsons and Self.

Hibbing, Minn., Dec. 22.—(AP)—John Moylan, a world war veteran, today shot and killed his two stepsons and himself in their three room house on the edge of Hibbing. Moylan and his wife had been having difficulties.

LYE BURNS FATAL TO BABY.

Burned by lye when she upset a container on a window sill last Sunday, Faith McKenzie, 1 year old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McKenzie, 1815 Winnebago avenue, died yesterday in the County hospital.

ORDERS WILHELM TO POST BOND OR GIVE UP $350,000

August A. Wilhelm, Augie to the elderly widows he squired as a dancing partner, may obey without a struggle the Probate court order Tuesday which instructed him to put $350,000 back in the First National bank.

Probate Judge John F. O'Connell ruled yesterday that if Wilhelm wants to appeal the order he must post a $400,000 bond. The money Wilhelm now possesses represents the estate left by his 71 year old bride, the former Mrs. Mary Scully Fagan, who died in 1933, four months after her marriage to the former flower salesman, who now is 41.

Wilhelm's attorneys, Ellis and Leslie Whipp, said they had not decided yet on an appeal. If they decide against it, they said, Wilhelm will return the money within the required four days' time.

Wilhelm came into possession of the estate on Dec. 14 after a legal slip in a hearing before the Illinois Supreme court. The court first refused to hear an appeal from Mrs. Wilhelm's blood relatives, whose suit to gain the estate under an earlier will was denied by a jury last May. The Supreme court later reconsidered and agreed to review the case.

HITLER ATTENDS MILITARY RITES FOR LUDENDORFF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 22.—Gen. Erich Ludendorff, who refused to be raised to the peerage by former Kaiser Wilhelm II. of Germany and declined a field marshal's baton offered to him by Reichsfuehrer Hitler, was buried today at the small village of Tutzing with a simple military ceremony.

It was marked by the absence of an officiating pastor, in accordance with the wish of the deceased, who was anti-Christian.

Nazi Leaders Pay Tribute.

Earlier in the day Nazi Germany paid its last homage to the man who had been world war quartermaster general and chief of staf to Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg during the world war in the most impressive ceremony witnessed in this country since the funeral of Hindenburg.

Hitler's entire cabinet and all leading personalities of the state, the party, and the fighting forces had assembled in Munich for the state ceremony.

"Gen. Ludendorf, in the name of the united German people I lay this wreath before you in deep thankfulness," said Hitler as he took leave of his dead commander before the Feldherrnhalle—the hall of war leaders—where the state ceremony took place.

Earlier General Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, had delivered a funeral ovation. He suggested that the world war would have had a different outcome if only Ludendorff had occupied a position for which he was qualified when the war broke out.

Ludendorff always had raised a warning voice that all able bodied men should be conscripted, "but responsible leaders were content with half measures," Von Blomberg said.

Recalls Action at Siege.

"The first success of the war—at Liege—was due to his personal action. With Von Ludendorff has passed away one of the greatest figures of Prussian-Germany military life."

Masses of wreaths included those from the former opposing armies of England and Italy as well as Austria and Hungary, former allies.

Tens of thousands of persons filed past the coffin at the Siegestor—the victory portal—where the body lay in state in the early morning hours.

On arrival at Tutzing there was a family ceremony in Ludendorff's home on Starnbergersee. As the coffin was lowered into the grave three volleys were fired and a military band played "I Had a Comrade."

SUPREME COURT O. K.'S PAYMENTS TO FOUR WIDOWS

The Illinois Supreme court at Springfield yesterday upheld the action of the state legislature in making apropriations for the widow of a Chicago legislator and the widows of three downstate circuit judges who had sat in Cook county courts. The high court ruled that the legislature is empowered to pay salaries to widows of members and widows of Circuit judges until their successors qualify for office.

The awards confirmed were: Mrs. Sadie Douglas, 4051 South Michigan avenue, widow of former Representative Warren B. Douglas [R., Chicago], colored, $3,500; Mrs. Mary Graham, widow of Judge Willis F. Graham of the 9th district, $8,000; Mrs. Kathryn Niehaus, widow of Judge John M. Niehaus of the 10th district, $3,784, and Mrs. Bessie L. McDavid, widow of Judge Horace W. McDavid of the 6th district, $2,740.

The court held it was permissible for the widows of downstate judges who sat in the Cook county courts to collect the expense money due their husbands, which has been withheld pending a decision on the legality of the payments.

HOLD FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR MRS. NIGGEMEYER

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at Holy Name cathedral for Mrs. Elizabeth Niggemeyer, who died yesterday at her home in the St. Clair hotel. She was born in Chicago 81 years ago.

Her three brothers, now dead, were Martin Best, one-time alderman of the First ward; Henry Best, assessor of the former Southtown district, and John Best, clerk of the Criminal court. Her father, Martin Best, was proprietor of the old Best brewery and of an early beer garden at 16th street and Indiana avenue.

She is survived by two sons, Barney, a former policeman, and Charles, stage director of the State-Lake theater, and a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Porter. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

OBITUARIES

Rev. Reuben B. Porter.

Funeral services for the Rev. Reuben Boring Porter, pastor of the Oak Lawn Congregational church, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the New First Congregational church, Ashland avenue and Washington boulevard. Mr. Porter, who died Tuesday, formerly was pastor of the English Methodist Episcopal church at Lucknow, India, and of the Crete Congregational church at Crete, Neb. He is survived by his widow, Lenore Emme Porter, and five children.

Norman R. Flitcraft.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. today at St. Edmund church in Oak Park for Norman Roberts Flitcraft, who died Tuesday at his home, 108 South East avenue, in the suburb. He was 53 years old. Until his retirement ten years ago, Mr. Flitcraft was treasurer of the Flitcraft Life Insurance works, publishers of comparative insurance information. In addition to his widow, Gertrude Dungan Flitcraft, he is survived by four brothers.

JOHN GRIFFITHS LEAVES ESTATE ABOVE $500,000

John Griffiths, contractor and builder of many Chicago skyscrapers, left an estate in excess of $500,000, it was revealed yesterday in an inventory filed with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. Mr. Griffiths died on Oct. 7 at the age of 91.

Except for minor bequests, the estate is left in trust with the First National bank for a son, George. The will explained that Mr. Griffiths had previously provided living trusts for three other children—John Jr., Mrs. Margaret Betancourt, and Mrs. James Culver Shields.

Charles Ware, retired chemical manufacturer, who died July 7, left a $450,000 estate, according to an inventory filed yesterday. His personal property, worth $280,000, was left in trust for his widow, Mrs. Fannie Manierre Ware, 325 Abbotsford road, Kenilworth. The rest, consisting of real estate, was left to a son-in-law, Edward Field Harrison.

FRANK KELLOGG RITES SATURDAY AT WASHINGTON

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—Funeral services for Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state, will be held here at 2 p. m. tomorrow. The body will be taken to Washington, D. C., Saturday and funeral services held there in the National cathedral at 2 p. m. Monday.

Flags were at half staf today on all federal buildings, the state capitol, and city and county buildings here. Numerous world leaders telegraphed their condolences to Mrs. Kellogg.

Kellogg, who served as world court judge, ambassador to Great Britain, United States senator, as well as secretary of state, died at his home here last night. He would have been 81 years old today. He had been in failing health for more than a year. Pneumonia developed last Saturday.

REV. SCHUETTE DIES; EX-PASTOR AT NAPERVILLE

The Rev. Bernard S. Schuette, pastor emeritus of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church at Naperville, died yesterday in St. Charles hospital, Aurora. Father Schuette was born in Germany in 1863 and came to America at the age of 19. He studied for the priesthood at St. Francis seminary in Milwaukee and at the American college in Louvain, Belgium, and was ordained 50 years ago. Before taking the pastorate at Naperville in 1911 he had charges at Elmhurst, Sublette, Maytown, and West Brooklyn.

Surviving are two brothers, the Rev. Joseph M. Schuette of Westchester, retired pastor of St. Raphael's in Chicago, and Franz Schuette of Germany. Father Joseph will officiate at the funeral at 10:30 a. m. Monday at the church in Naperville.

Scribbled Five Word Will Is Admitted to Probate

A five word will, disposing of the $2,500 estate of Joseph Horvath of Aurora, was admitted to probate at Geneva yesterday. The document, said to be the shortest in the records of the Kane county courts, was scribbled on the back of a sales slip. It read: "Give my wife my money."

GUNMAN TAKES $500 IN HOTEL; GUESTS WATCH

A young man wearing horn rimmed spectacles walked diffidently to the desk of the Southmoor hotel, 6646 Stony Island avenue, last night and pointed a pistol at the clerk, Frank Hughes, 24 years old, 1502 East 73d street. Hughes handed over $500 in currency and the young bandit walked away. Two women saw the holdup, but other guests seated near the desk knew nothing of it until police arrived.

Earlier in the night two bandits held up a market at 5926 South Ashland avenue and after locking the owner, C. V. Fowler, and his father, Mandel, into their ice box escaped with $550. A short time later the robbers entered the Personal Finance company offices at 757 West 79th street and, after threatening the manager, C. D. Mell, walked out with $400.

19 KILLED, 2 HURT AS FOUNDATION OF CASTLE FALLS

FORLI, Italy, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Nineteen were killed and two injured early today when a stone precipice, foundation for the medieval castle of Fusercoli, collapsed on three modest homes in the village of Civittella di Romagna.

The greater part of the castle [on a cliff above the homes] remained standing, but its fall was feared imminent because of the lost foundations. One squad of workmen threw supports against the structure while others extricated bodies from the ruins below.

The castle was the unoccupied property of Marquis Giuseppe di Bagno-Guidi, a senator who lives in Rome.

Philip Pecks Wed 20 Years; Given Dinner

BY JUDITH CASS.

HOLIDAY time is not reserved strictly for the entertainment of the debutantes and their beaux as one might suppose from hearing of all the wonderful parties planned for them.

Last night at their home in Lake Forest Mr. and Mrs. Woolsey M. Pollock gave a dinner party that their 25 guests will remember as one of the gayest of the winter.

The party was to celebrate the 20th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Pollock's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Philip F. W. Peck, and to the party Mr. and Mrs. Peck wore the clothes in which they were married at 4 o'clock the afternoon of Dec. 23, 1917, at the apartment of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oren E. Taft. Mrs. Peck, the former Florence Stewart Taft, last night was as slim and charming as at her wartime wedding, and Mr. Peck looked well in his lieutenant's uniform, although he admitted that it was a bit of a squeeze getting into it.

Mrs. Pollock was her sister's only attendant at the wedding, and Capt. Charles S. DeLong was Lieut. Peck's best man. The wedding was one of the most interesting of that winter, for it united in marriage the grandson of one of Chicago's pioneer merchants, the late Philip F. W. Peck, and the granddaughter of another distinguished early Chicagoan, the late Oren B. Taft.

The Pecks' younger son, Stewart T. Peck, who is at home from Hotchkiss for the holidays, was among the guests at the dinner last night. Philip Peck Jr., however, who is a student at Yale, was in town dancing at the Casino at the party Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams were giving for their daughter, Miss Mary Seymour Adams.

Carol Wilson Alton to Wed Eastern Girl.

From the east comes an engagement announcement of interest, that of Miss Karin Stetson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Stetson of South Dartmouth, Mass., to Carol Wilson Alton, the son of Mrs. Henry W. Slaughter of Dartmouth, Mass., and W. Carol Wilson Alton of Evanston.

Miss Stetson attended the Winsor school in Boston and was graduated from the Ethel Walker school in Simsbury, Conn. She then spent two years in Paris at L'Ecole Lafayette and studied dancing under Alexandre de Volinin.

Mr. Alton attended the Hill school and was graduated from the Culver Military academy in Indiana. No date for the wedding has been set.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles True Adams are giving a small tea-dance for their young daughter, Judy, this afternoon at the Indian Hill club. The guests will be for the most part Judy's friends at the North Shore Country Day school.

The thirty-three boys and girls in the senior class at the school are giving their annual Christmas dance tonight at the Evanston Country club. Mrs. Martin Lindsay is giving a dinner at home in Winnetka preceding the dance for her daughter, Marjorie, who is attending the Baldwin school this year.

Two Colony Club Groups Dance Tonight.

The preparatory school age group of the University Colony club will dine and dance tonight at the Del Prado hotel, with Mrs. John Agar in charge of the party. While the youngsters are enjoying themselves at the Del Prado their older brothers and sisters, who are at home from college for the holidays, will dance as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Ogburn and Dr. and Mrs. Dallas Phemister at the Windermere East.

Miss Mary Phemister is at home from Connecticut college. Her brother, Dean, attends Harvard, and William Fielding Ogburn Jr. is at home from the University of Virginia.

Colin Stamp Will Arrive Today.

When Colin Stamp arrives today from England to spend the holidays with Mrs. Charles H. Bosworth in Evanston he will find a stack of invitations awaiting him. The 20 year old Cambridge student, who is, we hear, a delightful person, will be a welcome addition to the merry debutante season.

Mrs. Bosworth will be especially glad to see him for he will bring news of her two daughters, Mrs. Trevor C. Stamp and Mrs. Gordon L. Padley, who are remaining in London for Christmas. Mrs. Padley may visit her mother in the spring but Mrs. Stamp is not expected until next fall. Mrs. Bosworth and Mr. Stamp will Miss Laura Dayton Moyer, daughter of Paul S. Moyer and niece of Col. and Mrs. Robert G. Peck, made her debut yesterday at a tea at the Fortnightly club.

Massine Tells How He Charts a New Ballet

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

Those members of the Chicago Junior league who went to hear a lecture on the ballet by Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed yesterday morning at the league's headquarters were surprised to find that Leonid Massine, one of the most brilliant figures in the ballet world today, was there, too.

After Mrs. Goodspeed ended a brief talk on the ballet she asked Massine a series of questions that led to a discussion of ballet which held his listeners enthralled for nearly an hour.

"A dancer's preparation is a very long and 'uneasy' thing," said Mr. Massine, who went on to explain its difficulties by adding, "You can't jump into the craft of dancing in a few months or even a few years." He spent seven or eight years learning the groundwork of dancing in Moscow, and then for ten more years studied under the best masters he could find. The results of his hard training have been witnessed with admiration by half the civilized world.

Massine is as well known for his choreography as for his dancing, and in his informal conversation with Mrs. Goodspeed he revealed that he plans to do a ballet with Henri Matisse. Matisse has done a big al fresco painting, which he has called "Farondole," because he was singing that when it was completed. Music inspired by the painting will be written by one of the modern Russian composers. In turn, Massine will fit his choreography to the painting and the music, and thus a new ballet will be born.

Producing that ballet will not be nearly so simple as might appear. Yesterday Massine illustrated on a blackboard some of the movements of a mass ensemble and a silhouette ensemble, and the relation of solo dancers to these groups.

Of even greater interest to his audience, the members of which had not much technical knowledge of the ballet, were Massine's illustrations of classical ballet pantomime. He showed "I love you," "I hate you," and a dramatic "I kill you," with certain combinations of gestures and steps that for centuries have expressed these feelings. In the modern ballet, however, there is more individualistic expression of feeling.

"What are the sources of the ballet?" was one of the questions Mrs. Goodspeed asked, and Massine replied that most of the sources were in folk lore. Many steps came out of old Italian or French provinces in the seventeenth century. In the fifteenth century, however, a man jumped in the air in a new way, and from that jump has descended the capriole step of today.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Barnes, Film Cameraman, Announces Birth of Son

Bright Scarfs Add Color to Holiday Scene

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some stunning and colorful wool scarfs are among the things that will decorate the holiday scene. Some of the bright imports are teamed with handbags and the duets are rather spellbinding in their almost gaudy glory of big patterns. The bags are swankily large, the materials soft wool.

Striped taffetas provide crisp contrast for all dark clothes. The newest arrivals come in varying widths and are blazing mixups of color. Scarfs are shorter and wider than last year. Therefore they're twice as easy to muffle, and go well with the high, snug necklines of suits and coats. Chiffon wools feature hand woven textures and unusual color contrasts. These are good for tweeds or wool daytime outfits.

And for a Christmas gift why not consider the huge square printed with next year's calendar. It's of silk in dark colors with the twelve months printed in contrasting light color. The dark red with light blue is especially interesting. You can keep your dates straight all year round, for this square can be worn with dark clothes for the cold and in-between weather and as a contrast scarf for sports clothes of white when the temperature gets into higher readings.

Another winner is the "peace" scarf. A long oblong of silk printed in contrasting color. On the length of silk is the word peace in every language of the universe including Scandinavian.

The Service Council for Girls, Protestant Big Sister organization, will give its annual Christmas party for one hundred Little Sisters and their Big Sisters today at the council rooms, 203 North Wabash avenue.

Buds to Enjoy Busy Whirl of Parties Today

The tea given yesterday at the Fortnightly club in Bellevue place by Col. and Mrs. Robert G. Peck and Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Moyer to introduce to society Miss Laura Moyer was a delightful party, a debut in the traditional sense. The pretty young debutante wore a period gown of eggshell brocade and carried deep red roses, the same kind that her mother, the late Dorothy Dayton Fessenden Moyer, carried at her debut 22 years ago in the old Fortnightly club in the Fine Arts building.

Mr. and Mrs. Moyer will give a dinner for Miss Moyer next Monday at the Palmer house, preceding the ball that Mrs. Freeman Hinckley is giving for her daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, at the Blackstone hotel. Mrs. Arthur L. Farwell has given Miss Moyer her box for the symphony concert tomorrow afternoon, and this afternoon Miss Virginia Anne Hodges, who was among Miss Moyer's assistants yesterday, is giving a cocktail party for the bud at the Hodges apartment in Lake Shore drive.

Today will be remembered by the debutantes as one of the gayest of the 1937-'38 holiday season. On their program are a large luncheon, a tea-dance, a dinner-dance, a ball and a performance of the Cornell Musical club. The first debut ball of the winter is being given by the Lester Armours and the Robert A. Gardners for their daughters, Betty Armour and Mary Gardner, two of the most popular and most fêted of the season's buds.

The ball will be given at the Congress hotel with dancing in the gold ballroom and supper in the Casino. One of the belles of the ball will be Miss Julia Henry of Philadelphia, who is visiting Miss Gardner, and one of the men in the stag line will be William Platt, Miss Armour's cousin and captain-elect of the Yale football team.

Young Mr. Platt is arriving from his home in New York this morning. He is making the trip for the annual Yale fathers' and sons' luncheon today at the Palmer house, but he will remain long enough to attend the first part of his lovely cousin's debut ball.

Before going to the ball he and his Chicago hosts, Clinton Frank, this year's captain, and his brother, Arthur Frank Jr., who was graduated from Yale last June, will attend a dinner-dance at the Casino at which Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling will introduce their younger daughter, Mary Paul.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Welling and the debutante will be Miss Harriet Welling. Only young people have been invited to the dinner-dance. The same is true of a tea-dance that will be given at the Fortnightly this afternoon from 4 until 7 o'clock by Mr. and Mrs. Warner G. Baird to present their daughter, Katherine Dole.

After the tea-dance Mr. and Mrs. Baird will take their daughter, her assistants and their escorts to the Drake hotel for dinner and dancing. It is in the ballroom of the Drake that Cornell alumni and their families and guests will gather to hear the Musical club's program, "Oh, What a Night," which will be followed by dancing.

Among Miss Baird's assistants will be Mlle. Pego Giraud of Paris, France, who is spending the Christmas holidays with the Bairds. Also assisting will be Miss Sally Jane Crowder, Miss Janet Musselman, Miss Cynthia Cleveland, Miss Margery Shuman, Miss Janet Kayser of Milwaukee, Miss Marjorie Currier of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Miss Patricia Wilson, Miss Gertrude Smith, Miss Eleanor McClurg, Miss Nancy Otis, Miss Barbara Austin, Miss Marian Hall, Miss Jane Miller, Miss Sylvia Bassoe, Miss Barbara Remy, Miss Nancy Leigh Bowes, Miss Eleanor Wilson, and Miss Evelyn Gordon.

All the seats to the Cornell performance have been sold, insuring a success for the club on its first visit to Chicago in six years. Frank J. Durham and his committee in charge of the show have arranged a tea at the University club this afternoon for the 66 undergraduates taking part in the program, at which Cornell alumni will meet the boys.

Three in the show are Chicagoans, W. Y. Hutchinson, son of Alfred H. Hutchinson, who also was a member of the Musical club's organization; Robert Boholdt and Theodore Hoffman. The senior Mr. Hutchinson, Newton C. Farr, Albert H. Barber, Charles B. Goodspeed, Warren Lamson, Hamilton Allport, Clark J. Lawrence, Huntley Gilbert, and Leon C. Welch are boxholders for tonight's performance.

Mr. and Mrs. Osborn M. Norcott are giving a debutante luncheon today at the Lake Shore Athletic club for their daughter, Miss Joeine Norcott. Miss Norcott attended the Girls' Latin school and Leland Stanford university, and is studying at Northwestern university this winter.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Merry Christmas.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 22.—To all of you, wherever you are, this column extends a sincere wish for a Merry Christmas. To those of you who are at home, a merry holiday is a certainty. To those of you who are away from home, and perhaps down on your luck, may the day bring some comfort to you. To those of you who are sick, in hospitals or on sick beds, may the day bring a lessening of your pain and a speedier convalescence. To those of you who have recently lost somebody near and dear to you, the holiday will be depressing, and no words written in this space will alter your feelings.

Hollywood, at the moment, is deeply sympathetic to Mrs. Ted Healy. The baby was born last Saturday; Ted was on the flood tide of success. I saw him only a few days ago and he voiced the grateful thought that this would be one of the merriest Christmases he'd ever enjoyed. "Things at last are breaking for me," he said. Four days before the holiday Healy dropped dead. He was only 40 years old. So no matter how tough things appear at the moment for you, think of Ted Healy and I'm quite sure that by contrast you're on top of the world.

The quality all of us need most, I think, is gratitude. Or you might call it appreciation. Few of us are sufficiently appreciative of all the blessings showered on us. That goes for me, too, so don't think I'm being pontifical.

It takes something like the death of Ted Healy to jolt us to a realization of just how lucky we all are, if we only knew it. All of us are impatient. That goes for you and you—and me, too. Say, we're all that way. But if we'd stop to take stock, each one of us would find something for which to be thankful.

To all of the people of New York, seven millions of them, this reporter directs a special Christmas message. This will be the first time I've been outside the boundaries of New York state at Christmas for the last thirty-five years, and it sort of feels funny.

It doesn't seem so long ago that I was in the choir-loft of St. Mary's at Port Chester, pumping the organ for Christmas mass, at midnight. My labors weren't entirely unselfish, mind you. My sister, Helen, who played the organ, gave me 25 cents on this occasion. During the other fifty-one weeks, I was on a 10 cent basis.

So to all of you in New York a very Merry Christmas from a New Yorker 3,000 miles away.

Despite the summery weather, the season is easily recognizable out here. Every home on this block has decorated a tree or a bush with the seasonal colors, and up on the side of the mountains lighted Christmas trees are plainly discernible.

The holiday has not been without domestic incident. Our 7 year old daughter, tears streaming down her face, told us last night that an 11 year old chum had told her there was no Santa Claus. She was all broken up by it. The 11 year old, with rare sagacity, had pointed out that every store in town, as well as every street corner, boasted a Santa Claus and that it stood to reason, childish or adult, that this wholesale evidence indicated that the whole issue was phoney.

I glossed it over as best I could, but that's the trouble with life. Somebody is always coming along to bring skepticism into the scheme of things. We'd all be better off if the skeptics didn't hoot and yowl at things that are nice to believe. Realists may be efficient, but they're annoying.

To all of the kids in Hollywood, the youngsters who have come here with high hopes and magnificent dreams, may Christmas bring you their realization. Just as they brought realization to Alan Curtis in "Mannequin." This young Chicagoan, after being turned down by every studio in town, drew the leading rôle opposite Joan Crawford in her latest picture and clicked. That's swell.

Jon Hall's experience in "Hurricane," in which he vaulted to national attention, is another instance of a youngster who will enjoy this holiday thoroughly. May Christmas bring equal opportunity and success to other youngsters here.

It was in famous room 1 at Metro that Alan Curtis, Chicago unknown, got the chance of a lifetime. Here, in this room, twice a month, Talent Scout Bill Grady assembles the producers and directors of the huge organization and shows them the screen tests which he believes are entitled to attention.

Perhaps eight tests are shown in the course of the evening. Grady's task is to get only one producer or director on the bandwagon, because once one of them voices a favorable opinion the others fall in line. That was the case with young Curtis. The minute a producer spoke up favorably Curtis was in.

Every studio in town has a projection room corresponding to Metro's No. 1, where all the hopes and fears of young hopefuls are reduced to the final denominator. So may Christmas bring a softer and more lenient judgment to these jury rooms of Hollywood, where careers are initiated or cut short.

So to all of you, in every section of the country, my best wishes for a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Last-gasp-before-Christmas-notes:

If you're frantically shopping for something to please a man look at the stunning toilet accessories which were designed by men for men. Shaving soap is in bowls of waterproof lacquered walnut; after shave lotion and non-greasy tonic which keeps unruly locks in place are in handsome ceramic pottery bottles with off-center closings on top. This last gives them a smart air, but its real purpose is to do away with drips, which it does. There is a fine talcum, too. All these are very lightly scented. You'll find these selling individually and in sets.

If you've still got women to shop for look at the manicure preparations. The manicure kits are smart and sensible and you can just about suit yourself as to price. For a little something to drop in the toe of the stocking look at the sequin polishes. You can get gold or silver. The idea is to film the red polish with a sequin coating. It gives an effect that the glamor girls think is very tosh.

This year of grace is this year of glitter, you know. And the glitter fever extends even unto the fingernails. There is also a gold lipstick out now. It's applied over the usual red shade and its purpose is to give glittery highlights!

Then there are the powder puffs with the recipient's name stamped in script on the ribbon on each puff. These are inexpensive as can be and are charmingly individual. You can now have the name stamped on the puff while you wait. It's all done before you can say "Merry Christmas."

Third of New Ballets Wins Long Applause

BY CECIL SMITH.

"Francesca da Rimini," the third of the new ballets produced by the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, was the focal point of interest in last night's bill at the Auditorium theater. It is the brain child of David Lichine, one of the company's chief male dancers, and it is the most ambitious choreographic experiment he has yet undertaken.

In sheer emotional power and physical drive, "Francesca da Rimini" ranks well toward the top of the Ballet Russe répertoire. Its impact seemed to take the audience somewhat by surprise, for neither "Pavillon" nor "The Gods Go A-Begging," Lichine's two earlier creations, had dealt with material of such innate theatrical value. The prolonged applause after the final curtain left no doubt of the success of the ballet, or of the wisdom of adding it to an already rich and varied répertoire.

The new ballet enjoys the advantage of one of the most deeply touching stories in all literature. In the fifth canto of the "Inferno," as he is being guided through the various circles of hell by the poet Vergil, Dante encounters a stricken couple whose grief surpasses any he has yet seen. They are Paolo and Francesca. In response to Dante's entreaties, Francesca tells the story of the love that brought eternal punishment on their heads.

Married against her will to the ugly Gianciotto Malatesta, Francesca continued to love and to see privately his brother Paolo. One day the clandestine lovers fell to reading the Arthurian legend of Lancelot and Guinevere. As they read their own love overcame them. While they embraced Gianciotto discovered them and slew them both in jealous rage.

The second scene of the ballet presents Dante's account, embellished by the introduction of Lancelot, Guinevere and a chorus to give a pictorial representation of the tale the lovers read. An introductory scene, devised by the scenarist, Henry Clifford, prepares the dramatic situation by showing the ill-omened marriage of Francesco and Gianciotto, despite Paolo's unavailing efforts to stop it.

These two scenes together furnish as concise and interesting a book as can be found in the entire répertoire of the Ballet Russe. They are presented against settings designed after the early Renaissance paintings of the fifteenth century. The entire décor by Oliver Messel is lovely to the eye, although purists may object to some of the modern colors employed or to the larger anachronism of moving the period of the action from the thirteenth century to the fifteenth, when the art of the thirteenth century offers an equally usable model.

The choreography of the first scene corresponds admirably to the kinetic frenzy of the Tschaikowsky tone poem to which the ballet is danced. Groups are played against groups and individuals in a manner reminiscent of Massine's "Symphonie Fantastique," yet more urgent and more jagged in movement. Many technicolor devices of the modern dance are appropriated and subordinated to the whole composition.

The love scene at the opening of the second part, though more conventional, is deftly and poetically conceived. The ballet ends with a tremendous wallop as Paolo and Gianciotto battle each other with spectacular sword play.

Lubov Tchernicheva mimed the rôle of Francesca with exquisite warmth, and Paul Petroff was an admirably graceful Paolo. Marc made a strong and hideous character of Gianciotto.

When you think of Coffee, STEWARTS and "the world's finest" mean the same thing . . .

RUN!

By Patricia Wentworth

[Copyright: 1937: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.]

SYNOPSIS.

Delivering a new car to a customer James Elliot, lost in the fog, finds himself on some one's estate. Groping his way to the dark house he stumbles over a bicycle. The front door is ajar. Entering, his flashlight reveals a girl, who commands him to "run!" A shot whistles after them as they flee to hide in the hayloft. The girl tells James she was searching for a necklace her dying Aunt Clementa had told her was hidden in the house, called Rere place. The girl vanishes before James can learn more. At his cousin Daphne's party James meets the girl. She is Sally West, the sister of his college chum, Jocko West. She hints of danger to him—because of what he saw—her brother, and herself. Jackson, a rival salesman, takes credit for driving the car the night of the fog and is run over on the road and killed. Sally sees James. She is in fear of Ambrose Sylvester, the novelist, who is her guardian and was her aunt's trustee, also his wife, Hildegarde, and the latter's cousin, Henri Niemeyer, who wants to marry Sally. Jocko, after receiving a letter from his dying aunt, was pushed off a cliff. After the accident the letter is missing and Jocko cannot remember its contents. Sally and James fall in love, but she tells him it is too dangerous for them to meet. James follows Sally to a party given by Daphne. Later the guests assemble around her fireplace to tell ghost stories.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

THE QUEEN'S NECKLACE.

Daphne giggled.

"My story is a real, authentic, first-hand story about a house I know. And it really is true, because—well, I won't tell you why till you've heard it."

"Daphne—I don't know—" This was Bonzo, just a little uneasy.

"Nonsense, darling!" said Daphne. "You're burning your sausage. I'm sure you oughtn't to take your eye off it for a moment. You look after your sausage, and I'll look after my story."

She was sitting on a low stool with her hands clasped about her knees. Her pale dress gleamed in the firelight. A diamond clip on either side made little rainbows.

"Well, it's about a place I know quite well, and it happened in the seventeenth century. And perhaps Jocko knows it, and if he does, he'd better tell it himself, because it's about the house old Lady Clementa Tolhache left him the other day—Rere Place."

"How thrilling," said Jocko. He did not sound thrilled at all, but lazy and content, with Elspeth's hand in his.

"Do you want to tell it?" said Daphne.

"Darling, I hadn't even a ghost of an idea that there was a ghost at Rere Place."

"Well, there is—isn't there, Sally?"

In her dark corner beyond Bonzo Sally was afraid, she didn't know why. She said in a jesting voice.

"But I don't believe in ghosts, so it's no use asking me."

"Perhaps Sally would like to tell the story," suggested Henri Niemeyer. "She does not say that she does not know it—she only says that she does not believe in it, which is quite another thing."

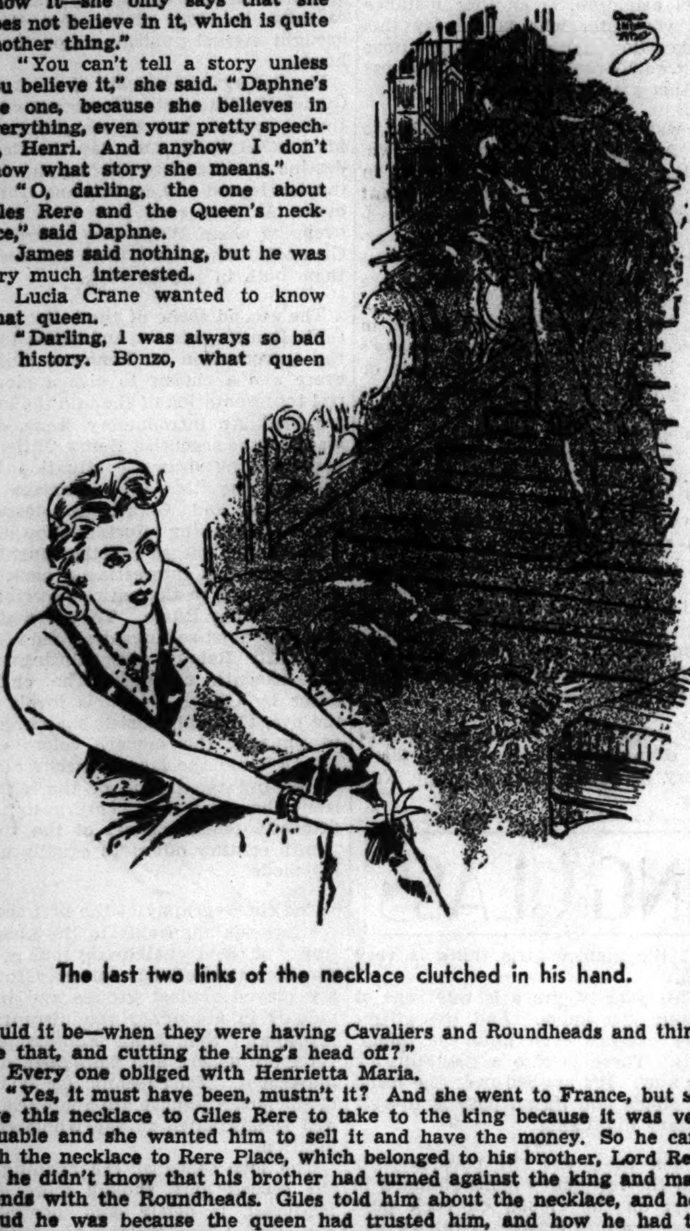
"You can't tell a story unless you believe it," she said. "Daphne's the one, because she believes in everything, even your pretty speeches, Henri. And anyhow I don't know what story she means."

"O, darling, the one about Giles Rere and the Queen's necklace," said Daphne.

James said nothing, but he was very much interested.

Lucia Crane wanted to know what queen.

"Darling, I was always so bad at history. Bonzo, what queen would it be—when they were having Cavaliers and Roundheads and things like that, and cutting the king's head off?"



The last two links of the necklace clutched in his hand.

Every one obliged with Henrietta Maria.

"Yes, it must have been, mustn't it? And she went to France, but she gave this necklace to Giles Rere to take to the king because it was very valuable and she wanted him to sell it and have the money. So he came with the necklace to Rere Place, which belonged to his brother, Lord Rere, but he didn't know that his brother had turned against the king and made friends with the Roundheads. Giles told him about the necklace, and how proud he was because the queen had trusted him, and how he had the necklace pinned inside his coat to keep it safe. He told him when they were quite alone. And that night he wouldn't drink much, because he had the necklace to guard, but he had been a long time on the road and he slept heavily."

Daphne moved, and the diamonds flashed against her breast. She leaned forward, and the firelight caught her hair.

"Well, in the night he waked suddenly and heard the door close. He thought of the necklace and jumped out of bed, but it was gone. The lining of his coat was ripped across, and it was gone. He ran out of the room in his shirt and down the stairs, and it was dark, and there was some one in front of him all the way. He had a pistol in his hand which he had caught up, and he fired twice into the darkness at the thief, and he heard him cry out, and he heard him fall. Then he called for lights, and when they brought them, there was Lord Rere lying dead with the last two links of the necklace clutched in his hand.

"The last two links?" said Lucia. "Do you mean only the last two links?"

Daphne nodded.

"That was all. And that was all any one ever saw of the necklace again—just two links of it clutched in Lord Rere's hand. And he was dead, so he couldn't say what had happened. Giles Rere had the whole house searched and every one in it, but they never found the necklace, and no one knows what happened to it. Some people say that Lord Rere was the thief, and some people say that he tried to get the necklace away from the real thief and it broke between them and the thief got away. And some say that Giles Rere pulled it out of his brother's hand in the dark before he roused the house, and kept it for himself, and cheated the king. Nobody knows the truth of it, but there's a day every year when it's better to keep away from Rere Place, because they say you can hear someone running down the stairs in the dark, and the sound of shots, and the sound of a fall. And now I'll tell you the really thrilling part of it, and how I know it's true."

Daphne sat up straight and her voice thrilled. "When Bonzo and I were coming back from Goldacre a day or two ago I got him to drive up to Rere Place because I wanted to look at the house. It's standing empty, you know. I got out of the car and walked about a bit, and it looked too ghostly and uninhabited for words, and I was just wishing I hadn't come, when right at my feet on the far side of the terrace I saw a bullet. Just lying there. Well, of course I picked it up, and something very odd happened, because I put it in my bag, and when I got up to town I had to hurry and dress because we had people to dinner. And of course I told the story, and every one was thrilled and wanted to see the bullet, so after we'd had our coffee I sent up for my bag—and the bullet wasn't there. So it just shows—"

"And what does it show?" asked Henri with a laugh in his voice.

"Well, if it had been a real bullet, it wouldn't have disappeared—would it?"

"Unless some one had pinched it," said Gerald Crane. "Who did you have dining with you?"

Daphne tilted her chin at him.

"People who dine with me don't pinch things, and anyhow it was Ambrose and Hildegarde Sylvester, and Henri, and an uncle and aunt of Bonzo's."

Sally began to feel more and more frightened.

"And what does Mr. Elliot think?" said Henri Niemeyer. His voice suggested a courteous desire to include a rather neglected guest.

It was, however, Jocko who answered him.

"He doesn't think about anything except cars—do you, James? That's what Atwells pay him a nice fat screw for. At least I hope it's a nice fat screw, because I rather fancy he's thinking of getting married on it—aren't you, James?"

It had come. Sally felt quite sick. And then all at once a hand closed down over hers, warm, steady, and strong.

Henri Niemeyer was asking, "What is Atwells?" And then Jocko was off in full cry, explaining Atwells, explaining James.

Here's Story of Successful Married Pair

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

One of the most successful marriages which it has been our good fortune to observe is that of a pair who have been married 23 years. They married young and have three well raised young citizens to their credit. They have accumulated a pleasant home and a reasonable sense of financial security. So far, they sum up as, perhaps, thousands of other successful married folks in this divorce-ridden country of ours.

But what has impressed us throughout our years of observing this particular pair is their successful isolation from what other people have and do. At no point in their careers have they been influenced for a moment by the mythical Jones family. The children, from their earliest years, were taught to plan their lives after a pattern consistent with the family means, not with the means of a prosperous neighbor. They have been fortified with unusual character strength for an era in which the young of the family so often are permitted to dictate the scale on which living must be conducted. They have been taken into the parents' confidence about the budget on which the home is and must be operated.

There has been nothing stodgy about it. The children simply have been accepted as and made to understand they were and are a part of this home organization and, as such, were and are expected to conform to the general good of all concerned.

However, it is not so much from the child-raising angle that we view the success of this marriage. It is the fine relationship between the parents that gives it distinction. Said the wife and mother, in explanation: "I think too many women struggle to maintain those first raptures with which the journey starts out, instead of working for a fine, enduring friendship. It is not grownup to think that one can extend, year after year, that first romance. It burns itself out and, if there is no substitute, there naturally is trouble. But if you have the seeds of a good friendship well established you have something upon which to build, grow and prosper."

BLAKE ANSWERS

Won't Declare Publicly

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a boy who says—in private—that he loves me. Before a crowd he says he just likes me. What do you think?

"LONESOME."

Maybe he isn't sure yet and doesn't want to be pressed into a public declaration.

A Christmas without candy would be almost as forlorn as a Christmas without Santa Claus, Christmas trees and holly. Candy is almost an adjective describing the Christmas season.

Fudge and divinity are the standard Christmas candies. Caramels and marshmallow confections are less common, but equally good. To tuck into Christmas stockings or Christmas boxes, I'd suggest rum cream caramels, honey caramels, or coated marshmallows.

Rum Cream Caramels.

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- ¾ cup corn sirup
- ⅓ cup butter
- 1½ cups coffee cream or evaporated milk
- 2 teaspoons rum flavoring
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Combine sugar, vinegar, sirup, butter, and ¾ cup cream. Heat, stirring constantly until the mixture boils. When boiling briskly, add remaining ¾ cup cream and continue cooking and stirring until the mixture reaches the very firm ball stage [246 degrees]. Remove from heat, let stand for several minutes, then add flavoring and nuts. Pour into a buttered pan and let cool. When thoroughly cooled, turn out of the pan onto a table and cut into strips, then into squares. Wrap each piece in wax paper.

Honey Caramels.

- 1 can sweetened condensed milk
- ½ cup butter
- 1 cup honey
- 1 cup corn sirup
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Cover the unopened can of milk with water and boil for 2 hours. This caramelizes the contents of the can. Open can and blend caramelized condensed milk with butter, honey, corn sirup, and sugar. Boil slowly in a heavy pan, stirring constantly, until mixture forms a very firm ball [250 degrees by candy thermometer]. Remove from heat, add nuts, and pour into a buttered pan. Chill and cut into squares. Wrap each caramel in heavy wax paper.

Nut Chocolate Marshmallows.

- 2 cups brown sugar
- 1 cup milk
- ¼ cup butter
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- Marshmallows
- Chopped nuts or coconut

Cook sugar, milk, butter, and chocolate together until the mixture forms a hard ball [255 degrees]. Remove from heat. Dip one marshmallow at a time into the hot sirup, using a long-handled fork. Roll in chopped nuts or coconut and place on greased paper to harden.

The same type of confection may be made by dipping the marshmallows into milk chocolate or dipping chocolate and then rolling them in the nuts or coconut. If desired, the coconut used may be toasted first.

Crisp Marshmallow Rummies.

- ¾ cup butter
- 3 cups sugar
- ¾ cup boiling water
- ¼ cup rum
- Marshmallows

Combine butter, sugar, water, and rum, and boil without stirring to the brittle stage [300 degrees]. Place the mixture over hot water to prevent it from hardening during dipping. Dip the marshmallows quickly into the rum sirup and place on buttered plate or clean oilcloth to become firm.

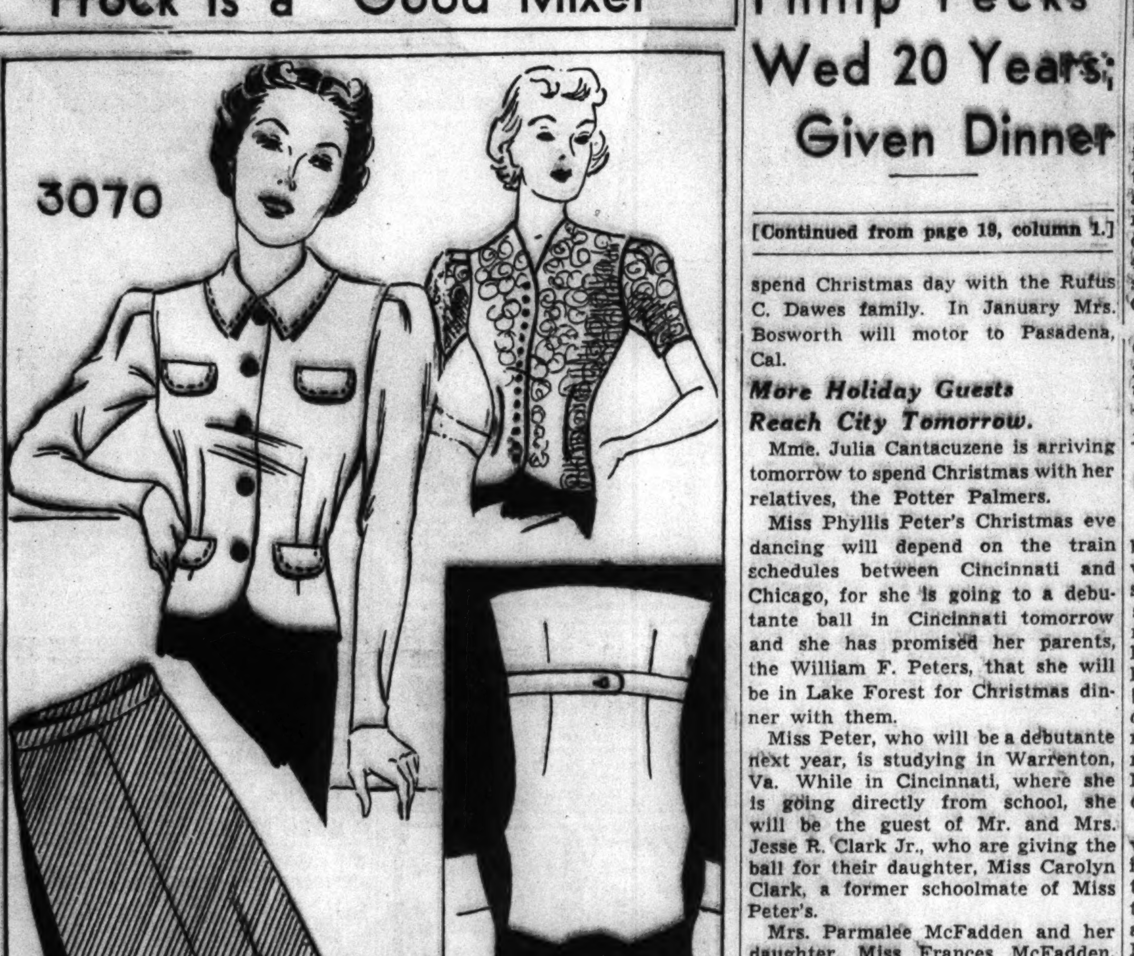
Frock Is a "Good Mixer"



WOMAN'S AND MISS' TWO-PIECE FROCK.

This two-piece frock is a good mixer. In the first place, it is perfectly at home in any informal company. Secondly, it is divisible, the jacket teaming up with other skirts in your wardrobe, and the skirt setting out on its own with your numerous sweaters.

The blouse has a shirtwaist collar, four pockets, a nipped-in waistline and sleeves which are slightly puffed at the shoulders. Buttons adorn the front. This topper may be made of silk or woolen, and may match or contrast with the skirt, which is a paneled and well fitted garment without plaits.

If you wish, use the blouse pattern a second time for a dressier model, as shown in the sketch at the upper right. It has a high V and collarless neckline, short puffed sleeves, no pockets and a multiplicity of buttons down the front. This version makes up beautifully in metal cloth, with brilliant buttons in the sparkling tradition of the current season. Styled thus, the blouse keeps excellent company with a velvet skirt for cocktails, tea, dining out and the theater.

Style No. 3070 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 1⅝ yards of 39 inch material for the blouse, with 1⅞ yards of 39 inch fabric for the skirt.

More Holiday Guests Reach City Tomorrow.

Mme. Julia Cantacuzene is arriving tomorrow to spend Christmas with her relatives, the Potter Palmers.

Miss Phyllis Peter's Christmas eve dancing will depend on the train schedules between Cincinnati and Chicago, for she is going to a debutante ball in Cincinnati tomorrow and she has promised her parents, the William F. Peters, that she will be in Lake Forest for Christmas dinner with them.

Miss Peter, who will be a debutante next year, is studying in Warrenton, Va. While in Cincinnati, where she is going directly from school, she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Clark Jr., who are giving the ball for their daughter, Miss Carolyn Clark, a former schoolmate of Miss Peter's.

Mrs. Parmalee McFadden and her daughter, Miss Frances McFadden, are coming from New York to spend Christmas in Chicago with their relatives. They will arrive at the Ambassador hotel tomorrow in time to help Mrs. McFadden's daughter, Mrs. James Hume, and Mr. Hume give their traditional Christmas eve party. Miss Frances McFadden will return east the day after Christmas, but Mrs. McFadden will stay until after New Year's.

According to CULBERTSON

IN WHICH I PITY MYSELF.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is one thing to write a text book and quite another to contrive to have it read properly. At least 50 contestants in the recent national examination wrote letters, ranging from reproachful to denunciatory, pointing out that my answer to question No. 40 did not agree with the specific instructions given on page 227 of my Gold Book. Question No. 40 was:

You are South, and vulnerable. Opponents are not vulnerable. West, your lefthand opponent, deals and the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Pass	Pass	?

You hold:

♠AKJ985 ♥2 ♦A1083 ♣64

What call do you make?

The answer was that you should bid two spades. One indignant woman wrote: "Your Gold Book, page 227, says 'A jump overcall of two in a suit [as two spades over an opponent's bid of one heart] shows a hand containing three and one-half honor tricks, or slightly more with [a] two five card suits, or [b] with one strong suit and, in all, eight winners.' I couldn't find these requirements in the hand given in question No. 40 and so had to take a two point demerit. A fine business!"

The other letters were in the same vein. I must say that I was astonished by these objections. Obviously, the disgruntled parties had confused two situations that do not bear even a faint resemblance to each other. Moreover, they had gotten hold of the wrong page, in fact, the wrong chapter in the Gold Book!

In Question No. 40, South's problem is not one of overcalling in the accepted bridge sense of the word, but a problem of reopening the bidding. They should have referred to page 216, on which I wrote that the fourth hand defender should reopen the bidding with a jump overcall when holding a strong suit and about two and one-half honor tricks! I feel somewhat aggrieved that the readers of my books do so much "skipping."

Leading Against Slams.

A keen ear and a discerning imagination are the prerequisites for successful opening leads against slam contracts. Today's hand is taken from the recent Vanderbilt tournament.

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	6 diamonds	Pass
Pass	Pass

The same contract was reached at the two tables of the team-of-four match. In one room, West opened the spade six, and the contract became a laydown. In the other room West went into a long huddle while he considered all the implications of the bidding. One thing appeared fairly certain, and that was that North and South had a combined spade length of not over five cards. This marked East with at least six spades. But East had not thought enough of his spade suit to make a nonvulnerable overcall! Hence, it was very unlikely that he held a high spade honor. On this sound reasoning, West decided against a spade opening in favor of trying for a club ruff, by leading the ace and another club. The six card suit in the dummy was somewhat disappointing to West but, when his partner's king dropped, the defense still was worked out satisfactorily.

On the one hope that East had the jack of diamonds and could force declarer's ace, West continued clubs. East coöperated nobly by putting up his diamond jack and, after that, West was in the comfortable possession of a trump as the setting trick.

Children Love to Help Buy and Trim Tree

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

When the Christmas tree no longer appears by magic [which is to say, smuggled into the house in the dead of night and trimmed secretly when the children are all sound asleep], then let the children share in everything that has to do with it. They will love it and it's one more thing you can enjoy with them—one more thing to do together.

Begin at the beginning. Let them go with you when you buy the tree. Surrounded by masses of holly and wreaths and fragrant evergreens, they can help you choose the tree. And you'll be surprised how quickly their discrimination grows in looking for a fine specimen, one with full branches and of good shape.

Next, get your tree firmly set up. Then go ahead with the trimming of it. Sometimes the children want to try doing it all alone. If there's only one child in your family doing it together is jollier. But whichever it is, take a lead from me, let them hang the ornaments where they please. I remember how I didn't that first year we did it together. I wanted the tree to look lovely from my standpoint, with the big balls well spaced and the other ornaments just so. I found myself giving directions, saying: "No, put the red one here; no, put the silver one there," until I realized that I was taking the edge off the young trimmer's first experience. What difference did it make, after all? Besides, they learn this way, and in succeeding years will show increasing taste and judgment in this pleasant performance.

Children can make lots of their own ornaments, especially if you're having an old-fashioned tree. Strings of popcorn, tarletan bags and stockings filled with it or with various goodies, chains of gold or silver paper links, little worsted dolls in bright colors mingle well with candy canes, old-fashioned stiff tinsel, and so on.

Tree buying and tree trimming is one of the "compensations" that comes to a child when he or she no longer believes in the practical magic of Santa; sharing in all the buying and planning of presents is another.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in the Sunday Tribune.

London Phone Operators Make Yule Dolls for Children

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Thousands of children in four hospitals, a deaf and dumb institution, and an infants' home will receive dolls as Christmas presents as a result of the work of 1,200 telephone operators at the Faraday house, home of the international exchange. They work on the dolls the year around and now, with Christmas near, spend most of their lunch hour completing the task.

Dry Skin Tends to Wrinkle.

B. G.: Wrinkles some time form on the skin that is inclined to be dry. If such is the case with you, massage a skin food or nourishing cream into the skin, preferably at night, allowing some cream to remain on overnight to correct this condition.

Skin Type Determines Cream.

P. V.: Whether you use a lotion or a cream depends on the type of skin you have. A person with an oily skin generally prefers a lotion. A dry skin is best suited to the use of cream.

The Housewife

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

In cold weather it's not much fun to wash windows [or, is it ever?]. Hot water soon turns cold and it's difficult to remove the dirt and soot. But there's a clever little invention to lighten this task. It's a liquid that comes in a six ounce bottle [or you can get as much as a gallon, if you wish] and for a trifle extra you get a little spray that fits inside. You simply spray this liquid on a window, then wipe it off and polish with a dry cloth, and presto, a clean, sparkling pane of glass!

Head Sloucher Pays Penalty of Double Chin

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Some women go along all year, unconscious of a chin doubling or tripling on them, until the cold breezes force fur chokers up tightly around the neck. Then they see what they see, and it isn't the kind of chin and throatline that looks smart with a richly collared coat.

Naturally, one must keep buttoned up around the throat when the thermometer rings the bell. One can't throw the coat away. But one can throw the heavy chin curves into the discard. It's a curious thing how women whose chins get that heavy, widespread look also present a thickening around the back of the neck, too, and across the shoulder blades, so that their winter coats become rather a menace to their reputations as attractive women.

It isn't so curious, either, since the same posture slumping that thrusts the chin down into the fur folds is responsible for that upper back thickening. It really is tragic how women will go on, year after year, with neck muscles slackening and slackening until the chin line has lost all contour and the dowager's hump rears its ugly head in the back.

Repeatedly attention has been called to the fact that it isn't age, it often isn't excess weight that gives that ugly chin spread in front. It simply is letting the head lop forward until it loses all muscle power to keep itself up.

It's interesting, in a street car or bus, to study a row of women for this very thing of holding head up. You can predict who, in that row, is going to have a good throat and chin line three, five, ten years hence, just from the manner in which the head is held. Besides, in front of you there, you have a lesson in what the forward drooping head does to a woman's looks. You can spend a million dollars on clothes, but never look a nickel's worth of smartness, as long as the head falls forward and the creases show under the chin.

CHICAGO, PURDUE AND NOTRE DAME FIVES WIN

Order Totalizators at All Tracks.

The Hawthorne track was awarded dates for a 30 day fall meeting and its schedule of purses approved by the Illinois racing commission at a meeting yesterday. The meeting will run from Sept. 5 to Oct. 8, both inclusive. This action set at rest rumors that the track, because of alleged unauthorized reductions in its scheduled daily purses during the 1937 season, might have difficulty gaining the commission's approval of its 1938 plans.

Further action in a busy session included the appointment for the 1938 season of Christopher J. Fitzgerald as steward, Oscar Bachman as director of mutuels, and Dr. George B. McKallip as veterinarian for the commission.

Walter C. Peacock and William Schlake, members of the commission, and George Foster, secretary, attended the meeting.

Pass Totalizator Rule.

A rule, to be known as No. 277-G, was adopted, making it imperative that every track operating in Illinois have an electrical totalizator to tabulate the mutuel wagers. No license will be issued for 1938 until the rule is complied with. The rule further requires that the totalizator must be installed and in perfect working condition at least 30 days before a meeting is scheduled to open.

The new rule means that totalizators must be installed at five of the seven tracks in Illinois. Only Arlington park and Washington park in the Chicago area have such equipment now. Other plants in the state are Hawthorne, Sportsman's, and Lincoln Fields of Chicago, and the Aurora and Fairmount tracks. The latter is located near East St. Louis.

Hawthorne's amended application was presented to the commission by President Charles Krutckoff and Albert Sabath, attorney for the track. The schedule of purses provides for a total prize list of $261,900 and that no purse shall be less than $1,000.

May Run Gold Cup.

A stake or handicap race will be run each day of the meeting for purses ranging from $1,100 to $3,500, with an Inaugural handicap set for Labor day, Sept. 5. The purse for this race will be $3,500.

Hawthorne's petition requested permission to continue the Hawthorne Gold Cup, its leading annual stake, with the provision that if enough suitable horses cannot be assembled the race will not be held. Track officials, however, expressed the belief that their policy of daily stakes will attract such horses and that the Gold Cup will be run. The Gold Cup purse in 1937 was $15,000 added.

SEABISCUIT OUT OF SANTA ANITA CHRISTMAS RACE

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit was declared out of the Christmas day handicap at Santa Anita today, leaving a field of 22 candidates eligible to race for the $5,000 purse. Howard withdrew his handicap champion after the California horse racing board declined to rescind a suspension tacked on Jocky "Red" Pollard, Seabiscuit's pilot, at the recent Tanforan meeting.

With Seabiscuit out, weights announced by Racing Secretary Webb Everett found Horace A. Luro's foreign entry, Amor Brujo, with top impost of 120 pounds. Next in line were Maj. Austin C. Taylor's Indian Broom, Mrs. Howard's Fair Knightess and Arnold Hanger's He Did with 118 pounds.

BASEBALL SAYS HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO CONNIE MACK

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Cornelius McGillicudy is 75 years old today. But as tons of congratulatory missives pour into his Philadelphia home they won't be addressed to McGillicudy. They'll be addressed to Connie Mack whose real name has almost been obliterated by his 54 years in baseball—years which have carried him from the sandlots to the leadership of a world series winner and to all the stopping points in the league percentage column, not excepting eighth place.

Connie's name shrunk simply because the sports writers back in the dark ages soon found it too cumbersome for their purposes. So the only man who ever has held the title of manager of the Philadelphia club of the American league is known to the world at large as Connie Mack. And he has given it a sort of semi-official touch by using it whenever the autograph fanatics get on his trail, which they do frequently.

His Players Like Him.

Mack has given to baseball more than a lifetime of work. He has been the game's gentleman. Kindly and tolerant he always has held himself aloof from baseball strife whether on the field or in the meeting rooms. He never has posed as a baseball master mind, although his work speaks for itself. To him his players always have been boys—if a bit wayward today they might be all right tomorrow.

It is said of Connie, and justly, that a player who ever worked under his direction never spoke lightly of the old boss after his term of service had ended. They go away, spreading tales in their travels, of Connie's considerate way of dealing with cases deserving reprimand, his soft words of advice to a youth guilty of a bonehead play, and his touch of humor. These items, and others, have endeared the old timer not only to those with whom he has been associated but those who know him only by the tales they've heard.

Builds Pennant Winners.

And, of course, behind his fatherly ways, is an inexhaustible supply of baseball knowledge. He has seen three pennant winning machines of his own making come and go. The first of these which lost a world series to the Giants in 1905 simply wore out. The second which began to function in 1910 and continued through 1914 when the Boston Braves whipped it in four games was deliberately wrecked. Connie took it apart and scattered the important cogs because he detected signs of wear.

Lean years followed. Connie combed the villages, the farms, the sandlots, and the colleges, but the results were pitiful. All that he could put together was a laugh, but he continued to shout from his eighth place berth that he would keep on trying; that event-

Misses Goal by Two Years

Jake Kilrain, one of the first of the great American heavyweights, as he appeared when he lost to John L. Sullivan in 75 rounds in the last bare knuckle fight in America. Kilrain died yesterday at the age of 78. He had hoped to reach 80.

Capt. Monsky of Alabama Is Hurt in Drill

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The University of Alabama football squad, which left Tuscaloosa in excellent condition yesterday for its New Year's day Rose Bowl game against California's Bears, today suffered its first casualty in a brief workout here. The victim was Capt. Le Roy Monsky, star guard, who incurred a deep wound over his eye in a headon collision with a teammate, Lou Bostick. The latter was stunned and Monsky required five stitches over his eye in a local hospital. The accident occurred on a field which a cold rain made slippery.

BEARS WORK HARD.

Berkeley, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The University of California Bears, preparing for their Rose Bowl football date with Alabama New Year's day, went through a long scrimmage again today.

Willard Dolman and Henry Sparks, first and second string ends, suffered leg injuries as the varsity met the reserves and freshmen in a spirited workout yesterday.

EAST, WEST STARS DRILL.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Eastern and western football stars, who will meet in the annual charity game here New Year's day, settled down to hard practice today on widely separated fields.

The east, under Coaches Andy Kerr of Colgate and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, went through a hard session at Berkeley.

SMITH HURT AS RANGERS DEFEAT MEXICO POLOISTS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Despite an injury to Cecil Smith, ten-goal player, the Texas Rangers Polo team from the United States defeated a Mexican army team today, 10 to 7.

Smith suffered a broken left collar bone in the third chukker. After he had been taken to his hotel the teams resumed play with three players to a side.

Referee Harry East disagreed with the United States players as to the manner in which Smith was injured. George Oliver, No. 3 for the Rangers, who collided with Smith, said he thought Smith had hit the sideline boards when he fell. East said he believed it was the head of Oliver's horse that did the damage.

JAKE KILRAIN, BARE KNUCKLE VETERAN, DIES

Quincy, Mass., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—John Joseph Killion died in a local hospital today at the age of 78.

To millions of Americans this simple obituary carries no especial import, but to thousands of old time fight fans, it indicated the passing of Jake Kilrain, the courageous loser in the battle which earned John L. Sullivan his heavyweight championship. John Joseph Killion was Jake Kilrain. He succumbed to old age and diabetes just two years shy of the goal of 80 which he had hoped to reach.

Although Kilrain retired from the ring in 1896, his fight with Sullivan in 1889 still marks one of the milestones of American pugilism. It also stood out as the climax of Kilrain's career of 150 fights over a span of sixteen years.

Police Chase Fighters.

The championship battle was fought at the little village of Richburg, Miss., and under far different auspices than title fights conducted in modern stadia and baseball parks. Richburg was chosen as the scene, after New Orleans police, acting under orders of city officials, had threatened to halt the bout, and had virtually ousted the two fighters and the few hundred fans from the city.

Kilrain himself had told the story of the conclusion of the fight countless times. It occurred in the 75th round, and, according to his version, came when a second in his corner tossed in a sponge, which disqualified him and gave Sullivan the championship.

Sportsmanship Is Costly.

Old timers who recalled the fight today pointed out that Kilrain might have won it easily had he stepped in and taken advantage of a fit of nausea suffered by Sullivan in the middle of the bout. Kilrain himself said that while the rules would have permitted him to strike the Boston strong boy, even in this condition, he would not hit a man who was unable to raise his hands.

The fight, conducted with bare knuckles under the London prize ring code, lasted 2 hours 16 minutes and 23 seconds, a knockdown constituting a round. The fight was the last official championship staged under the bare knuckle rule.

Gets Jail Sentence.

Kilrain not only lost the fight with Sullivan, but was arrested soon after and received a two months' sentence for his part on a charge of assault and battery. He was turned over to the "custody" of a friend, however, and even fought another bout before the sentence expired.

Kilrain was 37 years old when he quit fighting. A native of Greenpoint, N. Y., Jake bought an inn in Baltimore, Md., and ran it until it burned ten years later, when he took a post as rowing coach of a Baltimore club. Several years ago he came to Somerville, Mass., and was employed by the park board there until 1920, when he took a post in the Fore River shipyards here as a watchman. He retired two years ago.

MAROONS WHIP WHEATON, 46-23; IOWA IS BEATEN

Boilermakers, Irish Rout Denver, Xavier

Dick Lounsbury, Chicago's sophomore basketball star, led the Maroons to their third straight victory last night. Playing center and forward, Lounsbury scored seventeen points as the Maroons defeated Wheaton college, 46 to 23, at the Midway fieldhouse.

Except for five minutes in the second half the performance lacked finish. During those five minutes Chicago scored twenty-two points, including nine by Lounsbury and eight by Jack Mullins.

The Maroons had an advantage in height, but Wheaton embarrassed them frequently by stealing the ball and intercepting passes. Chicago's height advantage kept the collegians from scoring during the first 13 minutes. In the meantime the Maroons ran up nine points and missed many opportunities. McShane, Wheaton forward, broke the drouth with a long basket, then added three more points before half time.

Lead 17 to 8 At Half.

The Maroons led, 17 to 8, at the intermission, Lounsbury scoring eight of Chicago's first half points on rebound and short shots. Wheaton pulled up to a deficit of 17 to 11 at the start of the second period before the Maroons began their sprint. Remy Meyer opened it with a short basket, Lounsbury added a pair of free throws, then Mullins broke loose for three set-up shots within a minute.

Lounsbury, Meyer, and Mullins kept up the barrage with successive baskets, then Lounsbury added two more baskets and a free throw before he was withdrawn, with the score 40 to 18 for Chicago.

Lounsbury, Mullins, and Meyer scored 33 of Chicago's 46 points. McShane led Wheaton with eight points. Lineups:

IOWA LOSES, 52 TO 37

East Lansing, Mich., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The Michigan State basketball team tonight upset Iowa, 52 to 37. State gained the lead after the first few minutes of play and did not yield it during the remainder of the game. A crowd of 2,500 watched the contest.

Hutt and Falkowski gave State its opening lead, and a smoothly coördinated offense soon increased this to twelve points.

Capt. Sam Johnson, forward, and Nile Kinnick, sophomore guard, led the Hawkeye attack, but poor ball handling and inability to make long shots prevented any sustained scoring drive. Kinnick scored ten points to lead Iowa's offense.

Leo Callahan, State guard, made twelve points to lead the Spartans' scoring. He was closely followed by Marty Hutt, sophomore forward from New York, who accounted for eleven of State's points. The lineups:

N. U. MEETS BUTLER

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Butler university's basketball team will make its second consecutive start against a Big Ten opponent when it meets Northwestern here tomorrow night. The Bulldogs dropped a 36 to 31 encounter to Iowa here last week.

The Butler five, however, upset Pittsburgh here two weeks ago shortly after the Panthers had defeated Northwestern. The Bulldogs have one of their best teams in recent years.

Northwestern has had a difficult time getting its offense into high gear, having been held to twenty-one points by Pitt and twenty-seven points by Notre Dame in its last two games. Inability of its forwards to connect on setup shots has proved costly to the Wildcats.

The Wildcats will be in a crippled condition for the Butler game. Jim Currie, regular running guard, sustained an ankle injury in practice which probably will keep him on the sidelines and it is doubtful whether Jake Nagode, center, will be able to play. Nagode was unable to play against Notre Dame Monday night.

With Currie out of action, the Wildcats will start Bob Voigts, a letter man, and Ad Vance, a sophomore, at the guard positions. Jean Smith, veteran center, is another sure starter while the forward assignments will be handled by Capt. Fred Trenkle and Bernard Davis.

Sugar Water Will Preserve Christmas Tree

BY BOB BECKER.

Fragrant balsam and spruce trees cut in the north woods will be set up in homes as Christmas trees this week. Many already have been brought indoors and decorated attractively, thus perpetuating an ancient custom.

Both the balsam and the spruce make excellent Christmas trees. The outdoorsman who has made a bough bed in a north woods camp will recognize the balsam and doubtless will prefer it to a spruce. He is quite apt to make this choice because the balsam is so fragrant.

Water Peps 'Em Up.

But irrespective of the kind of Christmas tree you set up in the home it is a good idea to provide the tree with a pan of water. If the base of the tree is placed in water it will stay green and fresh longer. This moisture, reaching practically every branch, keeps the tree from losing so many of its tiny leaves.

Before you place the tree in water it's a good idea to saw off a thin piece of the main stem. The cells at the end of the stem naturally are dry when the tree is brought into the home, since all Christmas trees must be cut days in advance to reach the market in time for Christmas.

Sugar Helps Tree.

By sawing off about half an inch fresh cells are exposed. Tree authorities also recommend a small amount of sugar in the water. They say the tree is able to pick up some of the soluble sweet and utilize it as nourishment.

BRUNS DEFEATS OLSON; NOW HE'LL WRESTLE LONDOS

Bobby Bruns, west side heavyweight wrestler, pinned Olaf Olson of Milwaukee in 22 minutes 8 seconds last night at the Rainbo Fronton. Olson substituted for Friedrich Von Schacht after the latter developed an arm infection yesterday afternoon. Bruns' victory won him the right to wrestle Jim Londos next Thursday at the Coliseum. Bruns won with a reverse body press after an airplane spin.

Al Williams won from Jack Claybourn, slam, in 27 minutes 6 seconds. Rudy Kay was declared winner over Gorilla Grubmyer when the latter was counted out after claiming he was confused on the count. Jack Conley won over Jack Brown in 19:05, and Al Perry lost to Paul Miller in 20:09.

WHITING TEAM AND CELTICS TO PLAY ON SUNDAY

Ed Ciesar's Whiting basketball team will play the New York Celtics at Whiting Sunday. The Celtic squad includes Dutch Dehnert, Paul Birch, Pat Herlihy, Davey Banks, Rusty Saunders, Bob McDermott, and Nat Hickey.

Polish Catholic League Teams Play Four Games

Four basketball games will be played tonight by Polish Roman Catholic Union league teams at St. Barbara gymnasium, 28th and Throop streets. St. Adalbert meets St. Camillus; Sacred Heart plays the Kosciuszko Sharpshooters, and the Knights clash with the Boscos. St. Louis faces Circuit 69 in a battle for second place.

LOUIS PROBABLY WON'T RISK TITLE AGAINST MANN

Clause in Contract Can Assure That.

Contrary to general belief, Joe Louis' heavyweight championship will not be at stake in his proposed bout with Nathan Mann of New Haven, Conn., at Madison Square Garden Feb. 23 if contracts specify that the match is a nontitle affair, Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois boxing commission, explained yesterday.

"If Louis is defeated, his opponent, no doubt, will claim the championship and the fans probably would acclaim Mann as titleholder," Triner said. "Officially, and legally, however, Louis would retain his crown."

Triner recalled that the original Louis-Jim Braddock contracts did not stipulate that Braddock's championship would be jeopardized. Not until after June 3, the date Braddock was supposed to defend the title against Schmeling at Madison Square Garden bowl in Long Island City, were new agreements signed specifying the contest was for the championship.

Exhibition Match.

"In the event the contracts mention that Louis' championship is not at stake," Triner said, "then the match is nothing more than an exhibition."

The commissioner said he was misquoted in New York recently when he was reported to have announced that he desired Schmeling's appearance in Chicago, in advance of his schedule contest with Louis next June, to test a threatened boycott against the German.

"We don't care to have Schmeling fight in Chicago unless he meets Louis," Triner asserted.

Triner understands that Louis will engage in two fights before the rematch with Schmeling, one in New York and the other in Detroit. He also said Schmeling is to make one more start in this country before meeting the former Chicago Golden Gloves champion, and that appearance, he believes, will be in New York.

Demands Proof of Support.

The chairman plans to obtain a resolution from business leaders within the next few days expressing their desire to have the Louis-Schmeling encounter presented in this city. In addition, he intends to get expressions from Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and the city council.

Then he will send these items to Mike Jacobs in answer to the New York promoter's demand for proof that the match is wanted in Chicago. While in the east Jacobs told Triner Detroit and Philadelphia have offered their stadia free of charge as a means of showing willingness to coöperate to the limit in order to get the big bout.

Promoter Rip Valenti of the Goodwin Athletic club in Boston yesterday offered Barney Ross a $25,000 guarantee to defend his welterweight championship against Ralph Zanelli, New England challenger, at Boston late in March.

Milt Aron, welterweight challenger, who sparred two rounds Monday and three Tuesday, yesterday lengthened his drill with Remo Fernandez to four rounds in preparation for a ten round feature bout against Lou Raymond of Baltimore, Md., at Marigold Gardens Monday.

BASEBALL SAYS HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO CONNIE MACK

Manager of Athletics Is 75 Years Old.

Connie was able to keep his promise. Fifteen years after the 1914 collapse he turned up another winner which that fall [1929] walloped the Cubs in a five game world series. The same team was a world series contender in 1930 and 1931. Then through no fault of his own Mack had to part with his stars. Philadelphia fans, apparently tired of a winner, failed to support the team. Pressed for money, Mack began to sell in the winter of 1932 and completed the cleanout in the fall of 1933. Connie's scouts have since been back in the villages, etc. Connie wants another winner before he quits.

Breaks Up Team.

No great sum of money was involved in Connie's 1914-'15 breakup. The White Sox gave him $50,000 for Second Baseman Eddie Collins. Frank Baker, the third baseman of the so-called $100,000 infield, went to the Yankees for $25,000. Jack Barry, the shortstop, was sent to the Red Sox for $7,500. Eventually First Baseman Stuffy McInnis, Pitchers Chief Bender, Jack Coombs, and Eddie Plank, Catcher Wally Schang, and other important men all drifted elsewhere.

Connie's last breakup began in the fall of 1932. The White Sox gave him $100,000 for Al Simmons, Jim Dykes, and Mule Haas. After the season of 1933 Connie sold on an unprecedented scale to meet the quarter million dollars demand of the bankers. He shipped George Earnshaw to the White Sox for $25,000. Detroit took Mickey Cochrane for $100,000. The Boston Red Sox gave $125,000 and a couple of ball players for Bob Grove, Rube Walberg and Max Bishop. Two years later Boston paid him $150,000 for Jimmy Foxx and Johnny Marcum. Since then other Mack players have gone over the same route.

Two of the highspots in Mack's career were crowded against each other. In the 1929 series with the Cubs Connie made a surprising move when, at the last minute, he revealed that Howard Ehmke was his choice to pitch the opening game. It was a daring move but successful. Ehmke, unknown to anybody except his boss, had been trailing the Cubs for weeks. Day by day he studied their batting styles. He must have seen a lot. On the big afternoon he struck out 13 Cubs and won, 3 to 1.

Remember This One?

The next record breaking happening came a few days later in Philadelphia. Going into the Athletics' half of the seventh the Cubs were leading by 8 to 0. To all appearances they were about to even the series at two victories apiece. Suddenly the Cubs collapsed. Hack Wilson lost a couple of fly balls in the sun. A grounder shot past McMillan, the third baseman. A fly ball close to the wall eluded Stephenson. Along with legitimate hits this series of happenings sent ten Philadelphia runners across the plate before the inning ended. The Macks won the game, 10 to 8. Fifteen Macks batted during the record breaking session.

Mack first played baseball in East Brookfield, Mass., where he was born. From 1883 through 1886 he caught for professional teams in that section and then was purchased by the Washington National league team. From Washington he went to Buffalo and then to the Brotherhood league, which eventually succumbed. Followed six years with the Pittsburgh club, the last two as a playing manager.

Goes to Milwaukee.

In 1897 he was installed as manager and catcher of the Milwaukee Western league club, and this was the job that brought him to the attention of the man who mapped his career. The man was Ban Johnson, president of the newly organized major league. The infant league placed a club in Milwaukee and installed Mack as manager. Then in 1901, when the American league invaded Philadelphia, which was National league territory, Mack was sent there as leader. He's still there.

Athletic teams piloted by Mack have won 9 pennants, one of them in 1902 when world series weren't played. His series record is 5 titles [1910, '11, '13, '29, and '30], and three defeats [1905, '14, and '31].

LEADERS, LAST PLACE SEXTET TO MEET SUNDAY

The Chicago Hornets, holders of last place in the Arena Hocky league standings, will meet the undefeated C. Y. O. Shamrocks Sunday.

In losing two games so far, the Hornets have had only four goals scored against them, and in neither game have they been more than a point behind at any time.

Waukegan and Whiting, tied for second place in the league standings, will play the first game. Standings:

SABAN POUNDS DEL GENIO FOR 10 ROUNDS; WINS

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Salvy Saban, Greenwich Village welterweight, hammered out a decision over Leonard Del Genio of Harlem in a ten-round battle at the Hippodrome tonight. The victory stamped Saban as worthy of consideration as a prospective opponent for Champion Barney Ross of Chicago.

Saban won the first three rounds, held Del Genio even in the fourth, and after dropping the next three came back to capture the eighth, ninth, and tenth rounds.

Hocky League Makes Three Rule Changes

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The board of governors of the National Hocky league, at their bi-monthly meeting today, agreed on three rules changes.

In the future, when a player scores a goal on the rebound of a teammate's shot, that teammate will be credited with an assist. No assists, however, will be awarded players who inaugurate a scoring play from behind an imaginary line drawn through the center of the rink.

The rule on icing the puck also was amended. If the contending teams are of even strength, and a player shoots at the goal from his defensive zone and the puck goes into the net, it shall be scored as a goal. If he does not score, it shall be considered icing [deliberately firing the puck out of his own territory] and there shall be a face-off in the defending zone.

There can be no icing, under the present rule, if the team shooting the puck out of its own ice is short-handed.

In order to eliminate all jockying of starting lines by rival managers, it was ruled that the manager of the visting team should give his starting line to the referee before the start of each period. The home team manager then can pick his line accordingly, and the two combinations must, barring a penalty, remain on the ice for at least two minutes of play.

Four schedule changes were announced. The Montreal Maroons and Montreal Canadiens received permission to change their game scheduled for Christmas night, Dec. 25, to Dec. 28; the Canadiens will play at Detroit on Feb. 6 instead of Jan. 9; Detroit at New York Rangers on Jan. 9 instead of Feb. 6, and Toronto at New York Rangers on Feb. 6 instead of Jan. 9.

Bruins, Wings, In Trade.

Detroit, defending Stanley Cup holder, which has been in a slump since the start of the season, acquired Center Alex Motter from Boston in exchange for Clarence Drouillard and cash. Motter has spent most of the season with the Providence Reds, Boston farm club, while Drouillard has alternated between the Red Wings and Pittsburgh.

HAWKS TEST ATTACK

Boston, Mass., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The Blackhawks, who are not scheduled to play until next Sunday when they meet the Rangers in New York, worked out on the ice of the Boston arena today for over an hour. Manager Bill Stewart utilized most of the time in drilling his club in shooting practice.

The Blackhawks have been able to score but once in the last two games and the Hawks' boss is aware that the scoring department of the game must be improved upon for Sunday's clash as the Rangers who battle the Maroons in Montreal tonight, have not been defeated since the Blackhawks vanquished them in Chicago Dec. 2.

Since then, however, the Rangers have played six games and averaged nearly four goals per contest, hence Stewart's concentration on target practice, a procedure he stated today he intends to follow daily until the departure for New York next Friday night.

The Rangers' success in recent games is due to the amazing offensive play of Cecil Dillon, veteran right wing who has climbed to the top of the United States section's point makers and is only three points behind Gordon Drillon, the Toronto club's rookie who is leading the league with 19 points.

NAVY RELEASES BERGNER, FRANKS FROM HOSPITAL

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Al Bergner, powerful navy tackle from Kankakee, Ill., and Arthur Franks, 200 pound blocking back from Harrisburg in the same state, have been discharged from the naval hospital, and the casualty list of the last football season has been wiped out.

Bergner, 215 pound strong man of the naval academy, fractured a bone in his lower leg in the Princeton game Nov. 20 and, after being discharged today, started his Christmas leave. Upon his return he will report for boxing.

Schmeling Home; Going to Tell Folks About Victory

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, Dec. 22.—Max Schmeling, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, will be given an official reception in Berlin tomorrow, when he will tell of his technical knockout conquest of Harry Thomas in New York recently and his plans for regaining the title from Joe Louis, present champion. Schmeling arrived here today on the Europa and was greeted by his wife and a band of reporters and photographers.

Workmen Change Stadium Into Hollywood Stage

The Chicago Stadium has taken on the aspect of a movie studio as a shouting director, pretty girls and young men in various costumes, who will appear in Sonja Henie's Hollywood Revue, prepare for Saturday's opening.

Between rehersal numbers, carpenters and electricians are busily engaged in constructing a gigantic ice stage to Hollywood specifications.

The cast supporting Miss Henie will be the same which appeared in her recent picture, "Thin Ice" and "One in a Million." All are Hollywood trained. Miss Henie personally has selected the cast for her Chicago opening. It includes several champions from Canada and Europe.

Harry Losee, 20th Century-Fox director who arrived with Miss Henie and her company, now is preparing the presentations, "Prince Igor" and "Babes in Toyland," which will be part of the revue.

Miss Henie, who made her professional debut at the stadium, will be making her fourth appearance in Chicago.

Turner Most Effective N. L. Pitcher of '37

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Jim Turner, the 30 year old dairy farmer who, after fifteen seasons in the minors, at last achieved the leap from Indianapolis to the Boston Bees, today stood revealed as the major league pitching phenomenon of 1937. In his first campaign in the big show, Turner led the National league in earned run efficiency with 2.38, and in complete games pitched, with twenty-four. In victories Jim finished only two behind Carl Hubbell, who led both majors with twenty-two.

Lefty Gomez topped the American league with an earned run mark of 2.33, won twenty-one and struck out 193 men. But Gomez was in full flight in a strong comeback. Turner flashed on the 1937 baseball scene out of nowhere. For a good part of the season he was content to run behind Lou Fette, a teammate; Cliff Melton of the Giants, and Lee Grissom of the Reds, in the freshman ranking.

Jim Had Quite a Season.

But once Turner got going he piled up enough successes against his eleven defeats to record a percentage of .645. He struck out sixty-nine, gave fifty-two passes, worked in thirty-three games, and tied for the shutout lead at five with Fette and Grissom. At every turn in these National league records you find amazing feats by first year pitchers. Not since Grover Alexander came up to the Phillies from Syracuse in 1911, to win twenty-eight and lose thirteen, with an earned run mark of 2.14, have recruit hurlers appeared to such brilliant advantage.

In the earned run ranking five of the first ten pitchers are yearlings. Melton comes second, with 2.61; Russ Bauers of the Pirates, fourth, at 2.87; Fette, fifth, with 2.88, and Grissom tenth, with 3.25. The last named, like Melton, a left hander, gave Hubbell a fight for the strikeout championship of the circuit, with 149 against Carl's 159.

Melton Second in Victories.

On the basis of games won and lost, four freshmen are among the top ten. Melton is second, with twenty won and nine lost, for .690; Bauers rates third with thirteen and six, for .684; Fette fourth on his .667 on the basis of twenty and ten, and Turner seventh, with .645.

In the allotment of strikeout honors behind Hubbell and Grissom are three impressive freshmen—Melton with 142, Wayne La Master of the Phillies, with 135, and Bauers, at 118.

Hubbell, who will be 35 next season, did not let the rookies take all the honors. He led the league in percentage, with twenty-two and eight, for .733; won the greatest number of games, led in strikeouts, worked 262 innings in thirty-nine contests, gave only fifty-five passes, and hit only three batsmen.

Frank Kalteux Named Skate Board Head

Frank M. Kalteux, for a quarter of a century a leading official of speed skating, was appointed racing board chairman at a meeting of the board of control of the Illinois Skating association last night at Garfield park.

Kalteux and his board will have complete charge of events as to the distance and number of races held on a skating program.

The first of the three Christmas week Derbies is the C. Y. O. meet Sunday afternoon at Garfield park. Kalteux has approved the eighteen event inaugural card. He has advised the Sleipner Skating club, however, to include a midget event on its New Year's day program, which is set for Humboldt park. The forty-third annual Northwest list of races met with Kalteux's approval. The Northwest renews its Derby at Humboldt park, the day after the Sleipner meet.

It was also decided at the final pre-season meeting last night to allow playgrounds to enter girl skaters in all Illinois Skating association meets without entry fee. This was done to encourage women skaters to seek positions on the 1940 Olympic teams.

INDIANA LINES UP THREE YEARS OF TOUGH FOOTBALL

Schedule Also Demands Extensive Traveling.

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—A three year schedule that includes no breathers and that demands much traveling, was announced today by Bo McMillin, Indiana university football coach.

The schedule is by far the most impressive in Indiana history and, considering the importance of gate receipts and the fact that Bloomington is never a hot spot for the cash registers, it is expected to be one of the most profitable.

Indiana opens next season with Ohio State, opposes Illinois, and then crosses the Mississippi for battles with Nebraska and Kansas State. The first of three games with Wisconsin will be played at Madison Oct. 29.

MANERO CARDS 68 IN TRIAL FOR MIAMI OPEN GOLF

Miami, Fla., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Tony Manero, with a pair of 34s, was the only golfer to break the tricky par 70 of the Miami Springs Municipal course today as the pros tuned up for the $2,500 Miami open which starts tomorrow.

Other scores over the wind-swept layout ranged as high as the 76s of Craig Woods and Wiffy Cox and the 77 of Paul Runyan as the golfers readjusted themselves after the easy layout they played in the Nassau, Bahamas, open last week-end.

The field of 166 was almost as large as those of the days when Gene Sarazen ruled in Florida winter golf.

Sam Snead, winner of the Nassau open, Johnny Revolta, who took down the richest plum in the Miami Biltmore open, and Ralph Guldahl, the national open champion, were the pre-tourney favorites but young Eddie Oliver of Wilmington, Del., shaped up as the best bet on the strength of the practice sessions.

GRAINS LOWER ON DECLINES IN FOREIGN TRADE

Sales Reported Largely Professional.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

Closing prices on the May delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .91¼	$ .92⅝	$1.31¼
Corn	.59⅝	.60¼	1.04⅞
Oats	.30¼	.30⅝	.50½
Rye	.69	.70¼	1.10⅝
Soy beans	.94½	.94⅝	1.51½

Selling of futures attributed largely to professional operators was responsible for a decline of about 1 cent a bushel in wheat and rye yesterday. Corn closed at net losses of ⅞ to 1⅝ cents.

Weakness in wheat and corn in the Buenos Aires market had some effect on the Chicago trade, and a sharp decline in the December delivery of wheat in Winnipeg also was a factor. The price at Winnipeg at one time dropped about 1 cent a bushel within less than a minute and rallied as sharply later, only to weaken again and close 1¾ cents net lower.

Crop Report Ignored.

The trade paid little attention to the department of agriculture report of Tuesday indicating a prospective crop of about 630,000,000 bushels of wheat, or 55,000,000 bushels less than was produced in 1937.

Only moderate amounts of American hard winter wheat were reported as having been sold for export yesterday. Foreign demand for cash corn was slow, and sales in all positions were estimated at 100,000 bushels. Argentine grain was quoted 8½ cents a bushel above American No. 2 yellow delivered at Liverpool.

Letup Is No Surprise.

The letup in European buying was not a surprise to the trade, as a large business has been done recently, and a resumption of the demand is generally expected after the holidays.

More southern markets were reported as outbidding Chicago for cash corn in central Illinois yesterday, but the receipts of 162 cars here met only moderate demand. Purchases of 18,000 bushels were made for deferred shipment from the country.

Oldetyme Distillers Corporation.

Investors' Guide: Kindly send me information on Oldetyme Distillers corporation.—H. K.

Answer: The Oldetyme Distillers corporation is a distiller, rectifier, bottler, and distributor of whisky and gin. Principal brands are Green River, Three Feathers, Gold Feathers, and Silver Feathers. It also distributes imported Scotch. It was organized in 1932.

Plants in Cedarhurst, Md.; Newark, N. J., and Limestone Springs, Ky., are owned. Other plants at Bardstown, Ky., and Jersey City, N. J., are leased.

Capitalization was increased to 800,000 shares of $1 par common stock by purchase of Kentucky Valley Distilling company early this year for 51,400 shares of stock and $50,000 in cash. Capitalization was boosted in 1936 by purchase of the business of Distillers and Brewers Corporation of America for 190,000 shares and $550,000 in 3 per cent notes, due Dec. 1, 1938.

Sales amounted to $5,103,000 and net income was $105,000, or 13 cents a share, in the first four months of 1937. Sales were $13,236,000 in all of 1936, and net income was $293,000, or 39 cents a share on 748,600 shares outstanding. Losses of $513,000 and $163,000 were reported in 1935 and 1934, when sales were $6,964,000 and $1,424,000, respectively.

Current assets of $6,224,000 at the end of 1936 included $4,200,000 in inventories. Cash was $228,000. Of $3,468,000 in current liabilities, $2,239,000 was in secured notes payable.

The only dividend ever declared was a distribution of Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, Ltd., stock received in payment for certain assets sold late in 1933.

Dividends.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me the most recent dividend declarations on the following: Auburn Automobile common, Crosley Radio common, Postal Telegraph preferred, and United States Freight common.—O. S.

Answer: Last dividend on Auburn Automobile company common stock was 50 cents a share, paid April 2, 1934. Crosley Radio corporation's most recent payment was 75 cents a common share on Dec. 15, 1936. No dividends have been paid on Postal Telegraph 7 per cent noncumulative preferred since Jan. 1, 1931. United States Freight company has not paid any dividends in 1937. An extra of 75 cents a share was paid Dec. 21, 1936, and a 25 cent quarterly dividend on Dec. 1, 1936.

COTTON

Weakness in the Liverpool cotton market, where Bombay was said to have been a liberal seller, led to increased commission house pressure on futures in American markets yesterday. Trade buying developed on the way down, but, closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of .05 to .09 cent. Other markets were .03 to .09 cent a pound lower.

Spot cotton closed .10 cent higher to .05 cent lower with New Orleans, 8.60 cents; New York, 8.50 cents; Houston, 8.35 cents, and Galveston at 8.30 cents a pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

CELOTEX TO BUY LARGE INTEREST IN CERTAIN-TEED

Will Boost Building Material Business.

Bror G. Dahlberg.

In an effort to acquire a larger share of business from the building industry, the Celotex corporation, Chicago, will ask its stockholders to approve the purchase of a substantial interest in the Certain-teed Products corporation, building material manufacturer, Bror C. Dahlberg, president of Celotex, announced yesterday. Celotex manufactures insulation, sound correction material, and other products used in the building industry.

Celotex stockholders will be asked at their annual meeting in Chicago Jan. 18 to approve the purchase of 109,360 common shares and 9,496 preference shares of Certain-teed which are held by the Phoenix Securities corporation, New York investment company. Phoenix owns, directly or indirectly, 57,544 shares of Celotex common shares. Purchase of the stock would give Celotex control of about 20 per cent of the Certain-teed common.

Building a Plant in London.

Celotex has four plants in America and is building one in London, England, to be completed in March.

Certain-teed, which has its headquarters in New York, has more than forty plants used to manufacture asphalt roofing, fiber board, gypsum products and numerous other materials used by the building industry. It also has leases and concessions of timber lands and gypsum mines and it owns a substantial stock interest in the Sloane-Blabon corporation, floor covering manufacturer.

Dahlberg said there is no thought at this time of merging Celotex and Certain-teed.

The purchase proposal provides that payment for the Certain-teed stock be made by the issuance and delivery of 43,744 shares of Celotex common and the payment of $569,760 in cash, payable $119,760 upon delivery and $90,000 each in one, two, three, four and five months thereafter.

Predicts Mutual Benefits.

Dahlberg said he felt the Celotex corporation would gain through the working out of an arrangement whereby the plants of Certain-teed which are now being utilized at part capacity could manufacture building materials which Celotex contemplates putting on the market. He said Celotex desires to place in the hands of its large dealer and sales organization other building products than those it now manufactures.

Under the arrangement the Celotex organization would not handle the branded products of Certain-teed in districts where the two organizations might compete with each other. However, the nature of the products of the two companies is such that there is little direct competition.

Such business as Celotex would give to the manufacturing operations of Certain-teed would be reflected in the earnings of that company, in which Celotex would share, he said.

Reports a Profitable Year.

Celotex made a substantial profit last year despite the stagnant condition of the building industry, Dahlberg asserted, and any rise in this industry should be reflected in the earnings of the company, which in the last few years has staged a strong comeback from its depression troubles. Its reorganization was approved by the court in 1935. Dahlberg said that even its sugar company will show a profit this year.

Discussing its London plant, Dahlberg said its products will supply the needs of Great Britain and the British empire. He disclosed that a substantial amount of its products is being sold to the British in connection with huge underground cities which the British are building against the threat of air bombing in the event of war.

Suggests Way to Aid Industry.

Commenting on the present outlook, Dahlberg said that he has sent a letter to United States Senator Lewis of Illinois saying that if the administration wants to help the building industry—which is looked upon as the greatest single force that may restore the country to prosperity—it should relieve business of paying many of the taxes imposed on it so that it can go ahead with programs of construction and improvement.

If business and industry build, he said, then benefits to workers will follow because such a situation would provide steady work and enable workers to build their own homes. Dahlberg said that offers of the government to lend money for home construction will be no good to workers not in a position to borrow.

The pamphlet report of the Celotex corporation, released yesterday, confirmed the estimate of earnings for the year made in the preliminary report previously published.

Curb Exchange Seat Sells for $17,500, Low of Year

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Arrangements were made today for sale of a seat on the New York Curb exchange for $17,500, a decline of $4,000 from the last transaction and a new low for the year, it was announced today.

More Holiday Bonuses Paid to Employes

Additional companies yesterday announced holiday bonus payments to their employés.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company directors in New York authorized a Christmas payment to employés of one dollar a year for each year of service, plus $5. In all, about $750,000 will be distributed to 52,000 employés.

Albert J. Pixley, president of Pixley and Ehlers, today will distribute bonuses totaling $23,000 to more than 500 employés of the restaurant system. Each employé also will be given a $500 group life insurance policy, the premiums on which will be paid by the company.

Kohler to Pay Out $80,000.

The Kohler company maker of plumbing fixtures, announced a bonus of $25 an employé. The same distribution will be made to those on pension and illness lists and to families of employés who died during the year. The company estimated that about $80,000 will be paid.

G. R. Leonard & Co., Chicago publisher of shipping guides, will pay 10 per cent of the annual salary to employés with five years' service or more. Distributions will total more than $5,000.

A bonus of a week's salary to each of its 80 employés will be given by the National Steel and Copper Plate company of Chicago.

The National Boulevard bank of Chicago voted to pay a bonus equal to one week's salary to all employés.

Five Weeks' Salary.

General Commercial Acceptance company is paying a bonus equal to five weeks' salary to all employés who have been with the company more than one year.

All employés of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company, New York, whose annual salary is $3,000 or less will receive a bonus of one week's salary, James H. McGraw, president, said yesterday.

The S. S. White Dental Manufacturing company, Philadelphia, Pa., will pay a bonus of two weeks' salary to salaried employés.

Loew's, Inc., motion picture producer, distributor, and exhibitor, announced Christmas payments ranging up to two weeks salary for its 11,500 employés who have been with the company more than six months.

Scott Paper Bonus to 1,000.

More than 1,000 employés of Scott Paper company, who have been with the company one year or more, will receive bonuses of $25 plus $1 for each year of service. Those with less than one year of service will receive smaller payments.

Royal Metal Manufacturing company of Chicago reported that a profit sharing bonus equal to 70 per cent of the company's distributed profits will be paid to employés. The amount to each is determined by the years of service.

About 5,300 employés of the Singer Manufacturing company plant at Elizabeth, N. J., will receive a $20 "holiday gift" this week.

At Kenosha, Wis., J. S. Whyte, president of the MacWhyte company, wire and rope manufacturers, will distribute $25,000 in bonuses to 300 employés today, and an additional $25,000 will be paid to the same employés Feb. 20, Whyte announced.

HILL'S GRANDSON TESTS HAMMOCK TYPE RAIL CARS

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Cortlandt T. Hill, young grandson of the late James J. Hill, the "empire builder," today put his revolutionary new "pendulum" railroad coaches through their paces over a ten mile stretch of the Santa Fe's harbor line near El Segundo.

The racy appearing coaches moved smoothly over the spur line tracks, their light bodies swinging from special "backyard hammock" supports. Two cars have been swung—or articulated—on three rail trucks to form one essential unit, Hill said. Over all the two coaches measure 149 feet and weigh less than 60,000 pounds, exclusive of the heavy steel trucks.

The coaches are suspended from upright posts on each of the trucks. The cars hang from these posts and swing from side to side as the train rounds curves, "banking" much like an airplane.

Billion Dollar Quarrel Over Rail Loan Told

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The story of how a disagreement involving a loan caused a loss of more than $1,300,000,000 in business to the Philadelphia banking firm of Drexel & Co., and turned that amount of financing to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., was disclosed today by the senate interstate commerce committee. The committee is investigating the Pennsylvania railroad and its completely owned or controled lines.

B. J. Buttenweiser, partner of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

The story, largely gleaned from the files of the Pennsylvania, goes back to 1880, when the Pennsylvania went to Drexel & Co., its bankers, to negotiate a loan. The railroad and the bankers got into some sort of controversy and the fact that they were in disagreement "leaked" into the financial circles of New York.

Schiff Scents a Chance.

It came to the attention of the late Jacob H. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Realizing the magnitude of the Pennsylvania's business, he approached the executive heads of the Pennsylvania and indicated that Kuhn, Loeb & Co., would be "delighted" to make the loan.

"The loan," said the committee record from which Chairman Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] read, "was placed with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the banking relations of that firm with the Pennsylvania developed from that transaction. Since 1885 almost all underwriting transactions for the Pennsylvania have been handled by Kuhn, Loeb & Co."

Trace 46 Years' Dealings.

Senator Wheeler put into the record a table showing that the major financial transactions between Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the Pennsylvania in the next forty-six years after the railroad's break with the Drexels totaled $1,322,960,388. It is understood the total would be in excess of 2 billion dollars if transactions since 1926 were added to the table.

Benjamin J. Buttenweiser was the principal witness today. Buttenweiser was called to testify regarding the part Kuhn, Loeb & Co. played in the acquisition of the stock of the Wabash and Lehigh roads by the Pennsylvania. He is a partner in Kuhn, Loeb.

Earn Million in Two Years.

From Feb. 23, 1926, to May 9, 1928, commission and interest payments to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., all involving the Wabash and Lehigh transactions, amounted to $1,047,782, the committee asserted. It contends these transactions were not completely reported to the interstate commerce commission.

Buttenweiser said the matter was not one for which Kuhn, Loeb & Co. was responsible. He denied Wheeler's charge that the balance supplied the I. C. C. were "false" because they did not disclose the Pennsylvania's purchase of about 7 million dollars of Lehigh Valley stock or amounts owed Kuhn, Loeb & Co. for making the purchase. Buttenweiser replied that the "net result" was shown in the balance sheets. "From the standpoint of dollars and cents they were accurate," he said, "but from the standpoint of details they were incomplete."

The hearings were adjourned until Jan. 4.

WEEK'S OUTPUT OF POWER IN U. S. GAINS SLIGHTLY

Electric power production in the United States during the week ended Dec. 18 totaled 2,202,200,000 kilowatt hours, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. This was an increase of 0.3 per cent over the preceding week's output of 2,196,105,000, but was 3.3 per cent under the 2,278,303,000 kilowatt hours generated in the corresponding week of 1936.

Electric output of the four companies serving the Chicago district during the week aggregated 136,674,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of 1.1 per cent over the preceding week, and an increase of 1.4 per cent over the corresponding week of 1936.

EXCHANGE ACTS TO AID LISTED COMPANIES IN OBTAINING PROXIES

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Objecting to the progressively lower percentages of stock now being required for quorums and admitting that its own rules have been largely responsible for the tendency, the New York Stock exchange today altered its rules to aid company managements to obtain proxies in uncontested elections. It also served warning that, in the coming year, it will consider making a quorum rule of 50 per cent a requirement for listing.

The amendment to the rules stipulated that firms holding stock for the benefit of customers may give proxies ten days before the company meeting in question, provided they had not been otherwise instructed by customers. The present rule requires instructions from customers before acting. This change is expected to facilitate the labors of company managements seeking proxies.

In recent years, due to the wide distribution of popular securities, many companies have been hard pressed to provide quorums, even in uncontested elections. Where there is a contest, the customers' instructions still are required.

CIGARET OUTPUT SHOWS INCREASE FOR 18TH MONTH

Cigaret production in the United States in November, totaling 12,786,000,000, reached a new high for the month for the eighteenth consecutive month, the bureau of internal revenue reported yesterday. Not since May, 1936, has cigaret output fallen below the corresponding month of any preceding years. In November, 1936, production totaled 11,557,000,000 cigarets.

Total production for the first 11 months was 150,015,000,000 cigarets, larger than for any like period except 1936, when it amounted to 153,166,000,000. In the first 11 months of 1935, output was 134,608,000,000.

Federal revenue from taxes on cigarets amounted to $38,362,000 in November, compared with $34,673,000 in November, 1936.

Production of large cigars increased to 492,686,000 in November, compared with 489,180,000 in the same 1936 month. Domestic output of smoking and chewing tobacco for November was 23,779,000 in 1937 and 23,576,000 pounds in 1936.

JEWEL TEA'S 4 WEEK SALES RISE 14.1 PCT.

The Jewel Tea company yesterday reported its sales for the four weeks ended Dec. 4 totaled $1,939,317, compared with $1,698,682 in the same weeks of 1936, an increase of 14.1 per cent. Sales for the first 48 weeks of this year aggregated $21,377,478, against $18,581,989 in 1936, an increase of 15 per cent.

American Stores company reported sales of $8,845,856 during the four weeks ended Nov. 27, compared with sales of $8,728,841 in the same weeks of 1936, an increase of 1.3 per cent. Sales for the first eleven months of 1937 increased 0.5 per cent over last year, totaling $103,070,163 against $102,528,509.

Telegraph Companies Ask 15 Per Cent Rate Increase

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The major telegraph companies asked the communications commission today for authority to increase their rates 15 per cent. Postal Telegraph-Cable company, Mackay Radio and Telegraph company [California], Mackay Radio and Telegraph company [Delaware], and the Western Union Telgraph company joined in the petition.

Extra $1.25 Is Voted by Cuneo Press

An extra dividend of $1.25, to be paid either in cash or in stock at the option of stockholders, was declared yesterday by directors of Cuneo Press, Inc. It will be paid on Dec. 31 to holders of record Dec. 21.

Payments in stock will be at the rate of 1/20th share of common for each share now held. This makes total dividends for this year $3.25 a share, compared with $1.90 during 1936.

Pan-American Airways corporation directors voted a dividend of 25 cents, payable Feb. 1 to holders of record Jan. 20. The company paid 25 cents on Nov. 1 last.

Steel Company Pays Added $2.

Directors of the Steel company of Canada declared an "equalizing" dividend of $2 on the common stock, in addition to the usual quarterly payment of 43¾ cents. Ross H. McMaster, president, said that results for the year would show considerable improvement over 1936.

Directors of Newport Industries, Inc., took no action on a dividend to be paid in January, although total earnings for this year will exceed the $2 already paid in dividends, the company said. The decision was reached after consideration of the uncertainties of the business outlook and the sharp reduction in demand and price of rosin, one of the company's principal products, it was said.

Lawyers Trust company, New York, declared a dividend of 35 cents, payable Jan. 3. The company paid 60 cents quarterly previously.

SILVER FOR ART AND INDUSTRY IS CUT TO 42⅝C

The domestic price for silver for art and industrial uses was cut to 42⅝ cents an ounce yesterday by Handy & Harman, New York dealers. The reduction was made to correct the disparity that has existed between the domestic price and the world price since the recent slump in the London market.

The New York price for imported silver based on the treasury peg remains at 44¾ cents an ounce. Still another price is quoted for the metal, the 77½ cents which the treasury pays for all newly mined domestic silver.

The present silver purchase program of the treasury expires Dec. 31, but officials have indicated that it will be renewed by proclamation of the President. The purchase policy is a part of the four year international agreement on production control which also expires Dec. 31 and which is not expected to be renewed.

Lockheed to Expand Plant, Bookings Set New Record

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The Lockheed Aircraft corporation will spend $41,500 to increase its present factory floor space 25,000 square feet to 240,000 square feet, Robert E. Gross, president, announced today. He said that the company's backlog of unfilled orders is $6,125,000, largest on record, and that 300 men will be added, increasing the staf to 1850.

Illinois Intrastate Coal Held Subject to U. S. Rule

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The bituminous coal commission ruled today all intrastate shipments of coal in Maryland and Illinois were subject to regulation under the coal control act. The commission based its ruling on a decision that intrastate shipments had a direct effect on interstate coal sales.

PUBLIC 'FED UP'; BUTTER PRICES TAKE A TUMBLE

Dip 3½ Cents in Day; Supplies Grow.

Resistance of consumers to high butter prices yesterday caused a further break in the Chicago wholesale market with losses ranging up to 3½ cents a pound.

Dealers reported that consumer demand was exceedingly light, the direct result of the sharp advance in butter prices which reached its peak early in December when retail prices in some stores were as high as 50 cents a pound.

Butter grading "extra" was quoted in the wholesale market yesterday at 34 cents a pound, or 5½ cents under the 7 year high price at which it sold this month.

Biggest Pre-Christmas Break.

Yesterday's market break, brokers said, was the sharpest pre-Christmas price reduction that has ever occurred.

The economy that consumers have been practicing has caused an increase in surplus stocks, and butter currently is not moving out of storage at a normal rate. Dealers expressed the hope that the price cut will result in moving the accumulated stocks.

Butter futures fell to new low quotations for the season on the Mercantile exchange, but recovered after the collapse of the cash market and closed unchanged.

Acts as Brake on Market.

The present situation in the butter market, dealers said, is somewhat like that existing four months ago in meat. When meat prices reached their peak in late August and early September the consumer buying abated decidedly and worked as an immediate brake on the market.

Egg futures advanced on reports of increased cash business and predictions of lower temperatures in middle west producing areas. December contracts closed ½ cent higher at 20⅜ cents a dozen, and January finished ⅝ cent higher at 19⅜ cents a dozen. Cash fresh eggs were unchanged to 1 cent lower.

ANNOUNCE SALE OF DUESENBERG PLANT BY AUBURN

The Auburn Automobile company announced yesterday that it has sold the principal portion of its Duesenberg plant at Indianapolis, Ind. The Auburn company discontinued production of automobiles several months and recently filed for reorganization under section 77B of the bankruptcy act.

Auburn also has been negotiating for the sale of its Auburn, Ind., plant, but no definite information could be obtained yesterday on reports that a deal had been completed.

The company is now manufacturing sheet metal products such as washing machine cabinets, kitchen cabinet equipment, pressed steel sinks and allied products. The manufacturing operations are at the Connersville, Ind., plant.

570,000 WORKERS LOSE THEIR JOBS IN NOVEMBER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins reported today that 570,000 workers lost their jobs last month and that weekly pay rolls dropped $25,900,000. The number of employed, however, was only 4,000 less than in November, 1936. Weekly pay rolls in November were larger than a year ago by $11,000,000.

Miss Perkins told a press conference she was unable to see any connection between the current business recession, which she described as an "economic situation which has occurred before," and labor trouble. She said that she did not wish to predict a speedy recovery from the current decline, but expressed an opinion that recovery might proceed soon—"when manufacturers' inventories are eaten off."

Business Bits

Directors of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois yesterday elected Charles Y. Freeman general counsel, a newly created office. Last week he was elected to the same office in the Commonwealth Edison company. Freeman will continue his association with the law firm of Wilson & McIlvaine, which will remain counsel for the company. In his new capacity Freeman will act as chief executive officer in the absence or disability of the chairman.

◆

Sewell L. Avery, chairman and president of Montgomery Ward & Co., yesterday was elected a director of the Pure Oil company.

◆

Don G. Mitchell, sales manager of Marshall Field & Co., manufacturing division, yesterday announced his resignation to become an associate of Joseph B. Platt in his newly formed organization, which was the former Marshall Field Bureau of Style and Design.

◆

Frank R. Newman of Minneapolis, vice president in charge of trafic of the Soo Line, will join the Great Northern railway as trafic vice president on Jan. 1, succeeding H. H. Brown, retired because of ill health.

◆

William C. Connelly, director of Ohio Seamless Tube company, yesterday was elected president of the company. He succeeds Edwin Mansfield, who becomes chairman of the board.

John Morrell, Packer, Loses $670,542 in '37

John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Ia., and Sioux Falls, S. D., meat packers, yesterday reported a net loss of $670,542 for the fiscal year ended Oct. 30, 1937. For the 1936 year the company had a net profit of $619,490, equal to $1.61 a share on the common stock.

Sales of the company for the 1937 year were in excess of $89,000,000, against sales of $82,118,373 in the 1936 year. T. Henry Foster, president, said the loss largely was the result of drouths in recent years, which depleted live stock on the farms. He said the loss this year was the first since 1911.

United Stockyards Nets $439,190.

The United Stockyards corporation, in its first annual report covering the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1937, reported consolidated net income of $439,190, equal after taxes, bond interest and preferred requirements to 55 cents a share on the common stock. The company derives its earnings from the earnings of the underlying stockyards companies, which are located in various parts of America.

The company on Nov. 2, 1936, acquired for $8,873,340 from Swift & Co. and other private interests, major blocks of stocks in stockyards in various sections of the United States and Canada. On May 14, 1937, the company acquired the portfolio of the General Stockyards company for $3,383,483. General Stockyards was organized in 1928 to acquire the stockyards interests of Armour & Co.

Drouth's Results Reflected.

W. K. Wright, president of United Stockyards, said that live stock receipts have been materially affected during the last year by the cumulative results of three years of drouth in the corn belt and the government's program in 1934 to reduce the number of cattle and hogs on the farms.

The Storkline Furniture corporation, Chicago, for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1937, had a net profit of $100,576, equal after charges, to $1 a share, against $89,847, or 89 cents a share, in the preceding fiscal year. Net sales for the fiscal year totaled $1,704,735, an increase of 10.9 per cent over the $1,537,009 in the preceding fiscal year.

STEEL BUYING GAIN INDICATED, SAYS IRON AGE

Improvement in orders and inquiries has become more apparent this week in the steel industry, possibly indicating more widespread buying interest in January, the magazine Iron Age said yesterday. The Chicago district in particular has shown improvement.

Operations this week are estimated by the trade journal at 23.5 per cent of ingot capacity, compared with 27½ per cent a week ago. Next week's rate is likely to be even further reduced, Iron Age said, because of the shutting down of a few plants until after Jan. 1.

"Much of this week's more hopeful news comes out of Chicago," the magazine said, "where one important producer has had the largest sales since the week of Sept. 24. Operations in that area also are helped by an increase by one company, which almost offset losses by others, resulting in a net reduction of only a half point in the district average to 23½ per cent.

Scrap prices were unchanged at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, but a rise of 50 cents at Chicago lifted Iron Age's scrap composite price to $13.58 a ton.

PUBLIC AWARDS OF ENGINEERING PROJECTS SOAR

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Public engineering construction awards for the last week were 85 per cent higher then a year ago and the highest since July 23, 1936, engineering News-Record said today.

TVA Legality Hearing Adjourned Until Jan. 3

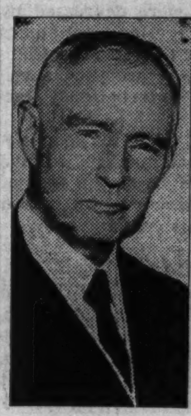
Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Hearing on the legality of Tennessee Valley authority was adjourned today until Jan. 3 because of the illness of Raymond T. Jackson, Cleveland, O., attorney acting as chief counsel for the 18 utility companies attacking the federal agency.

SUBURB BANKS CONTROLED BY FEW PERSONS

Holdings in Oak Pk. Trust Shifted.

BY HERBERT VEDDER.

Concentration of control—usually in the hands of a dozen or fewer persons—continues characteristic of Cook county suburban banks.



Henry W. Austin.

Study of the stockholder lists of the forty-two banks made public yesterday by Assessor John S. Clark showed that a few officials added to their holdings and that a few substantial stockholders disposed of shares during the year ended last April 1, the date of the assessment list. On the whole, changes were of little significance.

Several substantial stock shifts were indicated for directors of the Oak Park Trust and Savings bank. The trust formed under agreement with Henry W. Austin, chairman, increased its holdings from 1,990 to 2,192 shares—presumably from transfer of holdings of 125 shares by Mrs. Edna H. Austin and of 77 shares by Wallis Austin. The latter two accounts disappeared from the list.

Doering Holding Increased.

Otto C. Doering, a director, again increased his holding. He had 876 shares last April 1, compared with 682 and 607 a year and two years earlier. In addition, Mrs. Mabel I. Doering holds 199 shares. President Ellis H. Denny increased his investment from 111 to 172 shares. Although the bank's 10,000 shares are distributed in 334 holdings, more than half of them is concentrated in 18 of 100 or more shares apiece. Holders of more than 200 shares are: Dorothy Blohm, 241; Hanover Securities Co., 239; trustee for Oak Park Securities company, 518; Clarence S. Pellett, director, 210; Dr. T. E. Roberts [deceased], 243; Charles W. Seabury, 202. Records indicate that Mrs. Grace B. Caldwell disposed of 599 shares during the year.

John J. Laughlin, chairman, owns 1,341 of the 2,000 shares of the Prairie State bank, Oak Park. Only one of the other 36 stockholders has as many as 50 shares.

Alexander is Main Holder.

Although the 2,000 shares of the Suburban Trust and Savings bank, Oak Park, are scattered among 95 persons, almost a majority is held by Gilbert Alexander, chairman, with 329 shares. Frank W. Allen, director, has 25; Mrs. Winifrede Allen, 242, and L. R. Schermerhorn, 300.

Of eighty-two stockholders, fourteen own half of the 5,000 shares of the Avenue State bank, Oak Park. Largest holders included President William Einfeldt, 157⅞; G. W. Hales, director, 175; Mrs. Myrtle M. Herrick, 265½; Frank E. Hoover, 250; John J. Rutherford, director, 250; Fannie May Scoville, 183; trustees under will of Charles B. Scoville, 366; Chairman C. W. Stiger, 200, and Jewell H. Tomlinson, 225.

In Evanston the State Bank and Trust company has its 8,333⅓ shares scattered among 168 holders, but 20 of the holdings amount to 100 shares or more and two-fifths of the stock is in the hands of eight individuals and the Scheidenhelms, who have 672 shares. Largest holding in this family is that of Edward L. Scheidenhelm, a director. Principal changes indicated for the year were reduction from 175 to 50 shares of Sewell L. Avery's holding and Arthur Andersen's disposal of 348 shares.

Poppenhusen Has 990 Shares.

C. H. Poppenhusen, largest stockholder, continued to hold 990 shares. Other large holdings, unchanged during the year, are: Nelson L. Buck, director, 321⅝; Robert W. Campbell, Los Angeles, 216⅝; William A. Dyche [deceased], 388; Donald C. Miller, 288; James F. Oates, director, 270; Mrs. Amanda L. Patten [deceased], 446.

Although distributed among 179 persons, the 2,000 shares of the Evanston Trust and Savings bank are closely controled. Nine directors hold 765 and three others have 367 shares. Largest holdings are: Isak Anderson, director, 150; I. A. Archambault, 159.4; T. J. Foley, director, 205; Katherine M. Westreicher, 103; J. D. Wigginton, director, 152.5; John F. Wil-

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 22.—Stock prices declined today, losses running mostly from fractions to about 2 points in the more active issues. Some of the higher priced inactive shares showed larger downturns, however. Sales totaled 1,153,600 shares.

After a lower start the list was suddenly boosted by a buying movement in the steel stocks. That was short lived, however, and prices sagged again. Swings were narrow during the remainder of the session. Profit taking and tax selling were reported.

After their brief flurry before noon steel shares retreated despite constructive production news to close below Tuesday's finals. United States Steel common broke 1¾ points, but Bethlehem held relatively firm. Youngstown rose 1 point and Crucible gained ½ point.

Motors and coppers moved in good supply. General Motors gave up almost 1 point in the most active trading of the day, but Chrysler was heavier, dropping 1⅝. Losses in copper shares ran up to 2⅛ points, dropped by American Smelting.

Railroad shares were depressed by trafic reports. Heavy industry stocks showed the largest losses. Allis Chalmers gave up 2⅝, Westinghouse 3⅝, Case 4 points, and International Harvester 2⅜.

Aviation issues were in good demand for a time and managed to give a showing of strength in the face of profit taking. However, they also closed in the minus column.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—United States treasury issues yielded substantial fractions on moderate volume in the bond market today. Losses ranged from 1-32 to 8-32 point with only three issues holding steady or gaining silghtly.

Government guaranteed issues followed the same course except two farm mortgage series, which made gains of 3-32 and 4-32, evening up of portfolios for the year-end, was one explanation offered for the general easing off of the federal list.

Better grade railroad, industrial, and utility obligations remained in fair demand, but the lower priced groups eased off. Foreign dollar bonds also were lower, with Japanese issues again leading the decline.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved fractionally lower yesterday in trading that totaled 50,000 shares. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S averages closed at 9.91, against 10.09 on Tuesday.

The most active issues on the list were Chicago corporation common, unchanged at 1⅞; La Salle Extension, up ⅝ at 3½; Prima Brewing, down ¼ at 1¼; Armour common, off ¼ at 5¼ and Katz Drug, off ⅛ at 4. Midland United preferred advanced 1⅜ to close at 5½.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were firmer yesterday. Continental Illinois gained $4 and First National $2. Lake Shore Trust and Savings was quoted unchanged to $2 higher, and Terminal National unchanged to $1 lower by various dealers.

Commodities

Hides extended their price advance in the New York futures market yesterday following the big sales of cash hides reported by Tuesday by Chicago packers. Hides futures closed 0.01 to 0.12 of a cent a pound higher.

Hides for delivery next March sold at a high price of 11.40 cents a pound, about a fifth of a cent above Tuesday prices and 3.38 cents above the year's low quotation a month ago.

Following Tuesday's purchase of 100,000 hides by the Endicott Johnson Shoe corporation at a price of ¼ to ½ cent a pound above the previously prevailing prices, eastern buyers yesterday were reported to be unable to obtain more supplies from the packing companies on the basis of 11 cents for light native cow hides.

The trend in other commodity markets was irregular. The Dow-Jones index of commodity future prices closed at 53.70, off 0.25 from the preceding day. The Associated Press index dropped to a new low figure for the year of 74.54 compared with 74.93 on the preceding day.

Sugar futures in New York closed 0.04 of a cent lower to 0.10 of a cent higher.

Prices of crude rubber for future delivery declined 0.09 to 0.16 of a cent a pound, the March contract closing at 15.29 cents.

Trading in metals was quiet. Tin advanced ½ cent to 42.75 cents. The copper and lead markets were steady.

But Many Persons Have Small Holdings.

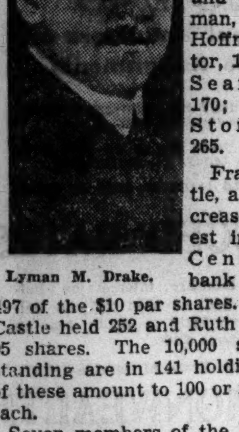
son, 105. C. J. Golee, chairman, continued to hold 62.9 shares.

The First National Bank and Trust company, Evanston, has its 1,600 common shares widely scattered in 309 separate holdings. Some concentrated working control is indicated, however, with 404 shares in five parcels. The largest are 100 shares of W. W. Buchanan, a director, and 100 shares in a trust held by Buchanan and John S. Burchmore, another director.

Four directors and their families have almost half of the Wilmette State bank's 2,000 shares, and four others have almost 300. Largest holdings: Lyman M. Drake, director, 254; John and Anna Hoffman, 136; Phillip Hoffman, director, 138; J. Alden Sears, director, 170; Judson F. Stone, director, 265.



Lyman M. Drake.

Frank W. Castle, a director, increased his interest in the Niles Center State bank from 200 to 497 of the $10 par shares. Charles S. Castle held 252 and Ruth Castle held 95 shares. The 10,000 shares outstanding are in 141 holdings, but 39 of these amount to 100 or more shares each.

Seven members of the Klehm family have 942 shares, largest individual holding being 352 by Edwin T. Klehm. Other large holdings: John E. Brown, director, 288; William Galitz, president, 350; Christ W. Gunther, director, 252; Robert F. Hoffman, director, 270; Ella Shepard, Momence, Ill., 252. Herman Meyer disposed of 297 shares during the year.

Winnetka Bank Owners.

First National bank of Winnetka control is highly concentrated, six holdings accounting for 820 of its 1,000 shares. Laird Bell, director, has 240; Eleanor G. Durham, 109; Raymond E. Durham, director, 131; Sanborn Hale, director, 100; Arch W. Shaw, 99, and Shaw & Co., 161.

Of the Winnetka Trust and Savings bank's 750 shares, 353 are owned by Max K. Meyer, president, and 138 by Alfred D. Herrmann, vice president and trust officer.

Officials of the First National bank in Barrington added to their holdings. Frederick M. Kasch obtained 100 shares and Frederick C. Fleming added fifty. The two, both directors, top the list with 300 shares apiece. Other major holdings: Joseph M. Friedlander, president, 150; Lucia V. Hilton, 140; Clarence W. Kaylor, director, 100; Robert W. Muir, director, 100; Arthur G. Roberds, 100; Carl B. Thompson, 125. These persons, several of them Jewel Tea company officials, provide concentration of control, although the 3,000 shares of $25 par are in 115 holdings. Fifteen own more than half of the shares.

Nine Control This Bank.

Nine persons, with more than 400 shares apiece, have majority control of the Citizens National bank of Chicago Heights, although the 8,800 shares are split into 197 blocks. Bernard J. Schwoeffermann, president, increased his investment from 517 to 568.7 shares in the year.

Other large holders, all directors except the Seifers: C. B. Berolzheimer, 561; William H. Donovan, 440; John P. Ephgrave, 473 [up 43]; C. B. Eskilson, 442.2; Charles Fahlstron, 445.5; Joseph Orr, chairman, 719.4; Bernard Seifer, 440; Daniel Seifer, 132, and Nathan Seifer, 768.9. The estate of David E. Shanahan also has 275 shares.

The 5,000 shares of the Chicago Heights National bank were widely scattered among 272 holdings. Control appears to rest with officers and directors, who have 885 shares. Largest holdings: N. C. Eberly, president, 200; F. W. Logan, vice president, 255; Leo W. or Julia Raczykowski, 215; A. R. Waters, 200.

National Bank of Harvey.

More than half of the 3,000 National Bank of Harvey shares are in 11 of the 117 holdings. The Thies family has 448 shares in four blocks. Other major holders: Grant H. and Hanna Summerville, 334; Henry C. and Ella Waldschmidt, 157; George H. and Naomi Gibson, 157; William R. and Clara Brandt, 156; Dr. William L. Doepp, 150 2-3; Fannie M. Cowing, 142 2-3.

Control of the State Bank of Blue Island rests in the following holdings: A. C. Floreen, 313 1-3; Charles Habich, 343 1-3; Fred Habich, 313 1-3; Hutchins Lumber and Storage company, 313 1-3. There are 2,000 shares.

Ownership of First National of Blue Island's 3,000 shares is similarly concentrated. The Zacharias family has 455 shares, as has Andrew L. McCord. James Hackett has 355 and Henry Klein, 270.

The Kaspar family has 768 of the 3,000 First National Bank of Cicero shares, President Eugene Kaspar increasing personal holdings from 568 to 584. Three other stockholders have 450 shares. William T. Bruckner, chairman, has 351 and Howard Hughes owns 360 of the Cicero State's 1,500. Central Republic Trust company owns 1,914 of the 2,000 shares of the Western State of Cicero.

State Bank of Clearing.

The Clearing Industrial District owns 806 of the 1,200 shares of the State Bank of Clearing. The Investment company, New York City, holds 920 of the 1,000 Argo State bank shares. Paul Ludmann, a director, owns 335 of the 500 shares of the Citizens State of Park Ridge.

The 4,000 shares of stock of the La Grange State Trust and Savings bank are scattered in 205 holdings. The nine largest holdings aggregate 1,030 shares.

The 2,500 shares of La Grange National bank stock is in 412 parcels, President John C. Tully has 168 and Gordon D. Beckley and Walter H. Eckert, directors, each own 167 shares. Another 787 shares were concentrated in 8 other holdings.

Report Is Corrected.

A transposition of several lines of type yesterday garbled facts concerning holdings of stock in the National Boulevard bank, Upper Avenue National bank and Personal Loan and Savings bank. The correct information follows:

The William Wrigley Jr. company owns most of the 5,000 shares of National Boulevard bank stock.

The Upper Avenue National bank's 3,000 shares are scattered among 95 persons, but Chairman Roy Osgood has 834 shares, President Henry C. Murphy has 194, and Charlotte Sims has 197.

The University of Chicago is among large holders of Personal Loan stock, with 1,000 shares. Marvin B. Pool, a director, has 500 shares, and Bereanice Pool has 300. The Pick family has 579 shares. T. E. Donnelly, another director, increased his interest from 289 to 500 shares.

Open Price Associations.

Open price associations are formed by groups of manufacturers and dealers engaged in marketing and producing the same line of goods. The members, by disclosing to each other prices they have received for goods, bids made on prospective contracts, production cost data, and other information relative to the trade keep each other posted on current marketing and manufacturing conditions.

Members of the association thus make available to themselves information comparable to that which the department of agriculture prepares for traders in farm products.

Open price associations are legal when the members go no further than to distribute information on what has already happened. They are illegal when the members, after comparing prices, agree to maintain minimum price levels resulting in restraint of competition.

BABY, AGE 13 MONTHS, ROLLER SKATES BETTER THAN HE WALKS—Philip Holzworth in action on his skates yesterday in front of home at 6133 Kenmore avenue. He is hardly able to walk; in fact his father says he learned to walk only six weeks ago by putting on the skates and moving about on them. The child is robust, weighing 32 pounds, and has eight teeth. His feats are the talk of the neighborhood. (Story on page 10.)

GIANT BOMBERS PROTECT BRITISH INTERESTS "WAY DOWN UNDER"—A closeup of large Australian bombing plane during recent maneuvers at Richmond airdrome in Sydney. The revolving gun turret of the plane can be seen. The cabins are constructed to permit the fullest vision. A large fleet of this type of plane took part in the war games.
